FRIDAY, APRIL 26, 1915.

"JOE BAILEY, THE BLACKSMITH."—Small, but appreciative audiences greeted this play at Shively's opera house Friday and Saturday evenings. Frank E. Ray displays rare histrionic talent in his part in the play. "Joe Bailey, the Blacksmith," and appears as much at home on the stage as in his blacksmith shop on Main street. The play as written by Mr. Ray, is one of unusual merit, and was ably supported by Theo. Kremer and his talented company. The story is so romantic, and filled with such moral, comic, pathetic and sentimental scenes, and the acting and scenery so realistic, that the auditors became carried away with sympathy for Joe, his helper, Tom Colby, and his daughter, Alice, and at the same time a feeling of contempt for the villain, Clifford Merrill. Theo. Kremer, as Clifford Merrill, assists his part exceedingly well, as does Edwin Bailey as the "Hayseed," and Fred Fairbanks as "a Scheming Jew." The death scene of Alice is very affecting, followed by the blacksmith's oath. With proper management the play is certain to prove a grand success, and one of Oregon City's blacksmiths may yet become famous as an actor. The company plays next at Astoria.

THE MAZAMAS.—The Oregon City contingent of the "Mazamas" will have an opportunity to distinguish themselves this year. The main body of the Mazamas will assemble at Mt. Adams in the state of Washington, and the great event will occur on July 10th. The intention is to send a message from British Columbia to Mexico and transmit an answer from Mexico to British Columbia and as each message passes a signal peak, each signal peak is 40 reports the fact to all sub-stations and groups in valleys and towns in their vicinity as are prepared to receive it. Citizens residing in the vicinity of these various mountains available for the purposes above suggested, are sought to take a hand and aid in the attempt. The heliograph is to be used in transmitting a submarine message between the points named. Heliograph instruments can be made or secured at small expense. I. Brook White, the secretary, at 14 Worcester block, Portland, will furnish all necessary information.

OREGON CITY SHOE FACTORY.—One of the prospering enterprises of the city is the Oregon City Shoe Factory. E. Capen, of Portland, is president, H. C. Riley foreman and E. W. Good secretary. The works are situated on the west side of the river and they are manufacturing a high grade of boots and shoes for which they find a ready sale to the trade. Their machinery is operated by electric power, and they have superior facilities for carrying on their work. These gentlemen are no novices in the business, having had experience in special lines in the great shoe factories of Brookton, Massachusetts.

Received Daily.

Strawberries, hot-house lettuce, radishes, Oregon asparagus, green peas, cauliflower, celery, new potatoes, new cabbage, rhubarb, etc.

E. E. Williams, the grocer.

OUR READING ROOM.—Several new periodicals are now being received regularly at the reading room, and early in the month Mrs. P. F. Morey sent down several late copies of standard magazines. Mr. Henry Wall, the librarian, states that everything is progressing very favorably, and there is now wood enough on hand to last several months, donated by people connected with the reading room and the electric company. The truckmen kindly delivered the wood free of charge. W. P. Johnson, manager of the Willamette Pulp & Paper Company, recently donated $10 to the library, which contribution was thankfully received. The patrons of the reading room are increasing, who appreciate the efforts of the public to supply them with a free reading room furnished with standard books and periodicals. Mr. Wall recently sent twenty-five old books to Portland to be bound, and trusts he will have no difficulty in raising the money to pay for the work. The W. C. T. U. hold their regular business meetings at the rooms twice a month, and may arrange to make their permanent headquarters there. Mr. Wall thinks it would be a grand idea to have concerts or entertainments at the rooms occasionally as it would be a means of stimulating interest in the work.

OREGON CITY BICYCLISTS.—Last Sunday H. E. Straigt, R. Staub and T. F. Cowing Jr. rode on their bicycles to Salem and return. They report the roads in good condition above Aurora and made Salem in 4½ hours and returning, reached Oregon City in 5 hours. Bicycle riders claim that serious injuries occur to their pneumatic tires by the careless throwing of pieces of glass on the pavement, which readily cut the rubber structure of the tire. The bicyclists of Oregon City should form a club for mutual encouragement of the sport, and it might be the means of securing a cycling tournament at this place. Other towns of less pretensions size have their clubs, and why not Oregon City.

OREGON CITY SALMON.—Mr. Thompson of the firm of Wallace Bros., of Kalama, fish exporters, is purchasing salmon from Oregon City fishermen at the regulation union rate of five cents per pound. These fish are cleaned and placed in barrels at the O. C. T. Co.'s dock, packed in ice and a preserving compound poured over them and are destined for Eastern markets, where they will be shipped from Kalama in refrigerated cars. Thus eastern epicures will have an opportunity of tasting Oregon City fresh salmon. Messrs Wallace have for some time been engaged in shipping sturgeon to the Atlantic sea board, and are now successfully shipping fresh salmon to the cities of the East.

BAPTIST YOUNG PEOPLE'S SOCIETY.—Instead of the usual sermon at the Baptist church last Sunday evening, the meeting was placed in the hands of the endeavor society, who had a complete program arranged for the occasion. The plan of the B. P. Y. U. reading course on the sacred scriptures and history connected therewith was commented upon, and this four year course will be adopted next fall by the society. The history and growth of the endeavor movement was discussed, and the plan of good citizenship education explained. Among the speakers were L. C. Driggs, J. K. Groom, Erastus Smith, H. E. Cross, A. S. Dresser, George Swaps and F. E. Donaldson.

FROM MARQUAM.—A. T. Jack and F. E. Albright, of Marquam, were callers at the Enterprise office this week, and state that Scott's Mills are actually booming. The comparatively new town is abundantly lit by electricity; they have a four room school building and a fine church edifice, and a general air of prosperity and push prevails the town and surroundings. These gentlemen also state that Robert Skivin, of Marquam, was seriously hurt by being thrown from a horse and striking his head. One of his elbows was dislocated and he received several bruises about the head. Dr. Terry, of Marquam, was called in and repaired the damages and the patient is on a fair way to recovery.

MAIN STREET ABSEMENTS.—Recorder Fouts has issued forty-nine warrants to the chief of police for the sale of property for assessments due for the paving of Main street with vitrified brick. These warrants are against over twenty individuals and for amounts ranging from $2.84 to $94.55. It is almost certain that but very little of the property will be sold as the majority of the delinquents will pay up on the presentation of the warrants. The reason that some of the interested parties have not paid their assessments is that they made an excuse waiting until all litigation was ended in order to get the use of their money until the last moment. The amounts for which warrants have been issued is $7,414.16.

MRS. C. H. DYE'S LECTURE.

A Large and Select Audience Assembled.

A special car containing about fifty Chautauquans went from Oregon City Monday evening to hear Mrs. Dye's historical lecture at the First Congregational church in Portland. This is one of a series of lectures that have been delivered before the Historical Society by able speakers and lecturers of the Northwest. The various literary and Chautauqua societies interested in the great Chautauqua assembly to be held at Gladstone Park in July were invited to be present. The following complimentary notice of the narrative lecture is taken from Tuesday's Oregonian:

Much of the unwritten history of early pioneer life in Oregon was disclosed to the Historical Society in narrative form by Mrs. C. H. Dye, of Oregon City, at the first Congregational church last evening. The lecture room of the church was completely filled with members and patrons of the society, when Judge Hurley, as presiding officer, formally opened the meeting and introduced Mrs. Dye as the historian of the evening. The subject under discussion was "The Hudson's Bay Company"—a subject of great importance and full of interest from a historical point of view, and one of great magnitude, too, when it is remembered that a territory on this coast comprising 400,000 square miles, or 250,000,000 acres once ruled by this powerful company has for fifty years been a part of the United States.

Mrs. Dye's treatment of the subject was at once delightfully interesting and instructive. Long residence on some of the historical ground in Oregon and Washington, intimate acquaintance with a very large number of the oldest pioneers, painstaking research into the most minute data to be secured, and much careful study of the subject in general, have fully equipped this accomplished lady to become a teacher. She has in her possession a wonderful store of facts and illustrative anecdotes, supported by corroborative evidence that cannot be impeached, the whole forming the groundwork for a historical work that almost surpasses in interest the most thrilling romance of the day. And she has woven the whole into a historical narrative which, from a literary point of view, is full of merit.

It was from the pages of this half-history, half-story, that Mrs. Dye read last evening—here and there a word-picture that lifted the curtain of the past and gave an intensely interesting insight into life at Fort Vancouver as it was under the rule of the Hudson Bay Company, or an anecdote that illustrated forcibly the character of early pioneer spirits. Dr. McLaughlin, the earliest governor of the Hudson Bay Company's territory, in Oregon and Washington, is the hero about whom clusters the facts and fancies that Mrs. Dye has gleaned from her exhaustive researches. As she pictured him "six feet three in his moccasins with long silvery hair flowing about his noble head, and a long blue cloak, with a double row of big buttons, enveloping his massive figure," he is, indeed, a personage worthy of study. Mrs. Dye finds him, "one of nature's noblemen"—student, philanthropist, patriot and ruler of men—and she has the ability to describe him so minutely as to make all who hear her believe.

As a lecturer Mrs. Dye displayed in a marked degree the talent of fixing the attention of her audience, and making it feel the intensity of her own feeling. So full of her subject was she that often, in explaining points of interest in her narrative, she wandered far from the original theme. Once, in telling of the river songs of the Canadian voyagers, she burst into song, giving a few verses of one of the well-known melodies, much to her own confusion, for she explained that she had never attempted to sing in public. On the whole, the lecture was perhaps the most interesting thus far, and at its close Mrs. Dye added interest by answering innumerable questions which she invited her auditors to ask.

Two Lives Saved.

Mrs. Phoebe Thomas of Junction City, Ill. was told by her doctors she had consumption and that there was no hope for her, but two bottles of Dr. King's New Discovery completely cured her and she says it saved her life. Mr. Thos. Eggers, 139 Florida St. San Francisco, suffered from a dreadful cold, approaching consumption, tried without result everything else, then bought one bottle of Dr. King's New Discovery and in two weeks was cured. He is naturally thankful. It is such results, of which these are samples, that prove the wonderful efficacy of the medicine in Coughs and Colic. Free trial bottles at Charman & Co's. Drug Store, Charman Bros. Block. Regular size 50 cents and $1.00.

To Good Tempers.

Do you know that Moore's Revealed Remedy is the only patent medicine in the world that does not contain a drop of alcohol; that the mode of preparing it is known only to its discoverer; that it is an advance in the science of medicine without a parallel in the nineteenth century; that its proprietors offer to forfeit $1,000 for any case of dyspepsia it will not cure?
