Meat from cheap second grade beef cannot be otherwise than tough and tasteless. Albricht buys only the best of stock—three and five-year-old stalled steers furnish his stakes and roasts—juicy and tender enough for a king.

It does seem hard for a woman to have to cook on a burned out stove, besides the entire family have to suffer from improperly cooked food. For $18.50 Schwan & Putrow will furnish a first-class cook stove with all the fixtures, ready to set up.

The American Automatic Lighting Company, of Meriden, Conn., has bought of J. M. A. Lane 320 acres of timber land in the Eagle Creek country for $5000. Mr. F. A. Cody represents the company, and it will soon begin business in this county, furnishing light from kerosene, so as to compete with gas and electricity.

The following delegates have been elected from the A. O. U. W. lodges in this city to attend the grand lodge which convenes at Portland on the 17th day of July: Fall City No. 59—T. E. Gault, George R. Callif; alternates, J. A. Stewart and W. M. Moore. Electric No. 65—Rudolph Koerner; alternate, Thos. F. Ryan.

The old Methodist church parsonage now undergoing repairs and re-modeling, is one of the old historic buildings in Oregon City. In fact, it was built so long ago, that no one remembers exactly when it was built. The old M. E. church, now occupied as a furniture and second hand store, was erected in 1843, and it is believed that the parsonage was erected soon afterwards.

The famous Cressy case has been decided by Judge Hurler in favor of the Cressy side of litigation. The case was up for hearing in Portland Wednesday, and L. L. Porter appeared for the Cressy interests. The court decided at the time that Mr. Cressy, of Milwaukee, disposed of the note, he was incapable of doing business for himself, and the third parties who attempted to collect a note that had been satisfied, were left out in the cold.

Referee W. D. Fenton has filed his report in the suit of Amos L. Lovejoy, William R. Lovejoy, Nellie Lovejoy, Elizabeth Gowdey and Albert L. Hodson against the Willamette Falls Electric Company, The Willamette Falls Transportation & Locks Company, and the Portland General Electric Company, which is practically another decision against the Lovejoys, in their claim for Governor's island at the Oregon City falls.

MEMORIAL AND DECORATION DAYS

Memorial Services and Decoration Ceremonies.

A number of the Evangelical churches of Oregon City did not have services last Sunday morning, but the congregations attended the union memorial services at the Baptist church. Decoration day, of course, did not occur until Thursday, but it was the desire of the G. A. R. to have the religious memorial services at this time. Meade Post, G. A. R., under the direction of Commander Apperson, Women's Relief Corps, and Company F, O. N. G., under the direction of Captain F. S. Kelly and Lieut. Pickens, led by the Park Place band, formed a procession at the Armory hall, at 10 a. m., and marched through Main street to the Baptist church, where the services began promptly at 10:30.

The seating capacity of the large auditorium was soon entirely occupied and the services began with music by the band followed with the invocation. A choir composed of representatives from the different church choirs in the city, furnished excellent and appropriate musical selections. In the pulpit with Rev. M. L. Rugg, Dr. Cowan, Rev. Montgomery and Rev. Sykes occupied seats, and assisted in the services.

Rev. Rugg delivered an eloquent and able sermon appropriate to the time and place, and while he paid beautiful tributes to the memories of the heroic soldiers who had laid down their lives to save the country, he urged upon the audience the importance of patriotism and good citizenship. He asserted that there were dangers lurking abroad in the land that it would be well to guard against; that at no time had there been more urgent need for genuine patriotism than now; that we should rigidly guard against unworthy pauper foreign immigration, and there were other things that threatened the stability of our republican institutions. While he believed in giving the public schools every possible encouragement and to do everything possible to increase their efficiency, he did not think colleges should be supported by state funds and appropriations.

The church was most artistically and profusely decorated, by Mrs. J. K. Groom, who planned and supervised the arrangement of the tasty display. On the wall to the left of the pulpit hung portraits of the father of our country, George Washington and Gene. of Grant; while on the right were pictures of the two martyred presidents, Lincoln and Garfield. Bouquets of roses and other flowers, beautiful in design, were arranged along the edge of the pulpit platform, and the front of the organ from the floor up was a veritable bower of roses, grape vines, ferns and other flowers. From the center of the ceiling over the platform were suspended the letters "G. A. R." formed of snow ball, and suspended directly under the portrait of Washington was fastened to the wall a floral flag made by the Ladies Relief Corps. The stripes were made of red and white roses, and the blue back ground was formed of pansies and the stars were represented by white pansies. Flags, banners, etc., were tastily arranged, and near the entrance the new Park Place flag occupied a prominent position.

DECORATION DAY CEREMONIES.

At 9 o'clock the pupils of St. John's school under direction of Father Hillebrand marched in double file to Pope's hall bearing flags, where they were dismissed, after appropriate exercises.

At 10 o'clock a. m. the procession was made up with the Park Place band in their new uniforms, in the lead, Co. F, O. N. G., Meade Post, G. A. R. Ladies Relief Corps, and A. O. U. W. They marched on Main street to Tenth and along the road up the bluff to Seventh street, where the members of the state grange fell into line.

They proceeded up the street to the Eastham school building, where the pupils of the Barclay school had also gathered. A heavy storm came up at this time and the school children were instructed that they had better not go out in the procession, although forty or fifty of them followed up with flowers, with which they decorated graves in the cemetery. The procession moved on through the rain to the cemetery, where the usual decoration ceremonies occurred. On account of the continued heavy rains, the procession re-formed, marched back to Pope's hall, where the band played appropriate music, and President J. M. Bloss, of the State Agricultural college, delivered an eloquent and appropriate address. Additional exercises were held at the Eastham school building, and several addresses were made. On the previous afternoon, committees from Meade Post and Women's Relief Corps, held appropriate memorial services in the public schools. The exercises occurred at two o'clock at the Barclay school and at three o'clock at the Eastham school.

The heavy showers of rain was a serious drawback to the decoration ceremonies and parade.

The display of flowers was grand and the ceremonies were interesting as far as they could be carried out, in spite of the stormy weather.

G. A. Harding, E. G. Caulfield, F. E. Donaldson, Charles Pope, Chief of Police Burns, J. Hoffman, S. F. Scripture, Meldrum McCown, J. R. Sheppard, Sheriff Maddock and William Putrow were summoned to appear before U. S. Commissioner Deady at Portland last Saturday, as witnesses in the examination of the Close brothers, on a charge of counterfeiting. Sheriff Maddock says the only reason that he arrested the younger Close boys was for the purpose of holding them as witnesses and informed the U. S. marshal of this fact when they were transferred to Portland, as he considered Al Close the only likely guilty one.

Charles A. Lynch and Miss Katie Doolittle were married at the residence of the bride's parents in West Oregon City, Wednesday afternoon, Rev. Gabriel Sykes officiating. Only a few relatives and invited friends were present. The bride is a most estimable young lady, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. R. Doolittle, and the groom is one of the trusted employees of the Willamette Pulp & Paper Company. Mr. and Mrs. Lynch will occupy a dwelling fitted up for their reception on the West Side. The ENTERPRISE extends congratulations.

A reception was tendered the new members of the Congregational church in the parlors of the church edifice last Friday evening, at the close of prayer-meeting services. Forty-two new members have been added during Dr. Cowan's first pastoral year just closed, and four more were transferred from the Park Place church. The occasion was informal and social in its nature, and a number of invited guests were present. Refreshments were served, and all enjoyed the affair immensely.

The fifth annual association of nurserymen of this state will be held at Woodborn, June 5, 1895, commencing at 10 A. M. An interesting program is being prepared. It is also expected that action will be taken on several questions of importance to every nurseryman in Oregon. A cordial invitation is extended to all nurserymen, seedmen and florists in the state to attend this meeting, and if you are not already a member of the association join it now.

At the Baptist church there will be the usual preaching services Sunday morning after which there will be new members welcomed and the church will observe the Lord's supper. In the evening "The Progress of Christianity" will be the subject. Is Christianity a success and when will be Christ's second coming, are questions the sermon will discuss.

For a week or two a gang of loggers says the Corvallis Times, have been encamped down the river getting out cottonwood logs to be used in the manufacture of paper at the Oregon City paper mills. A curious fact in connection with the work of the men is that they are setting out young cottonwood trees along the river wherever they operate.

F. D. Ball, who is conducting electrical reduction works at the old cement mill, has gone to Southern Oregon to examine different mining properties and get mining men interested in his method of reducing refractory ores. He is accompanied by his assistant, E. F. Kennedy. Mr. Ball has an entirely new method of handling ores.

Robert Kelland, who recently purchased the Burt place near New Era, drove to town last Saturday and met with an accident, which fortunately did not result in serious consequences. While driving down the Canemah hill, his wagon upset and horses and all rolled down the hill to the bottom.

John A. Carr, the well-known Portland broker, has been sentenced to a term of five years in the penitentiary by Judge Stephens, for attempting to bribe a jury in the "Bunco" Kelly trial. He was refused a new trial, but his commitment is withheld for the present, pending an appeal to the supreme court.

Henry Troge, C. S. Goening and E. Ball of Damascus precinct, were up before Justice Dixon last Thursday, charged with removing a fence not their own. Messrs. Griffith and Rice appeared for the state, and H. E. Cross for the defendants.

From telegraph reports, it seems that J. H. Way, a former resident of Oregon City has struck it rich in the gold fields of Southern Oregon. He and his companions discovered a rich quartz ledge in a wheat field and took out $1500 the first day.

Wise is he who buys a home and stops paying rent. C. O. T. Williams can fit you out on easy terms.

Good Citizenship Meeting.

Pursuant to call a large number of citizens gathered at the Congregational church at 3 o'clock Sunday afternoon, to hear good citizenship discussed. The meeting was called to order by F. E. Donaldson, chairman, and after music by the choir and devotional service, addresses were made by Revs. Cowan, Rugg, Montgomery and Sykes, all urging better things in the line of good citizenship. Rev. Sykes thought that the ten commandments would be a good platform to elect men on for municipal offices. H. L. Kelly favored improving the qualifications of good citizenship, but thought ministers of the gospel should spend more time teaching their flocks the ten commandments. Col. R. A. Miller was called upon, and favored a higher standard of citizenship, but thought ministers should display more clarity and less sectarianism. C. H. Dye made a five-minute address, in which he favored pure government and better citizenship. Senator Brownell was called on and said that municipal officials should be encouraged when they vote right, especially mayor and councilmen who do not get any pay for their services. Councilman Stevens said he had no excuses to make for voting on any measures, while a member of the city council; that he did not care what his constituents said about his record as a city father, as he was able to take care of himself. He had been told by several citizens that some of the city authorities were receiving pay for allowing gambling games to exist in the city, and had no right to dispute their word. He said the debt of the city had been increasing at the rate of $10,000 per year for the past six years, until the taxes collected, would hardly pay the interest on the indebtedness.

Councilman J. W. Moffat spoke of the evils of gambling and its prevalence in the city; how some respectable business men set the bad example of taking a hand in games of chance, and that the council were powerless to do anything in the matter when the courts did not find gamblers guilty of violating the laws.

Pledge cards were circulated obligating the the signer to vote for moral and temperate men for municipal offices, which were numerously signed.

New Road Located.

Road Engineer Kinnaird with George Armstrong, William Stone and Alex Kitterman as viewers, completed the resurvey and location of the Viola hill road last Tuesday. The old road as at present traveled has a 17 per cent. grade, and the road as established by Surveyor Kinnaird and the viewers has only an 8 per cent. grade in the steepest place. In relocating the road the question came up of the possibility of damages being claimed by parties through whose land the proposed road would pass, and of taking a compromise route and avoid a damage suit, but making an 11 per cent grade necessary. After a brief discussion the viewers agreed that as the road was to be a permanent one for all time it would be more economical to pay damages and get the road on an easy grade than to have a free route and a heavy grade.

"Beware the pine tree's withered branch Beware the awful avalanche!" was the yeasau's warning to the aspiring Alpine youth. Dangers greater than these lurks in the pathway of the young man or young woman of the present as they journey up the rugged side-hill of Time. But they may all be met and overcome by a judicious and timely use of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, the celebrated cure for colds, coughs, catarrh, and consumption. Better than hypophosphites or cod liver oil; unrivalled and unapproachable in all diseases arising from a scrofulous or enfeebled condition of the system. Send for a free book.
