trial in Justice Dixon's court last Sat-

Carr $3.40 in the presence of the court, as the amount actually due him, and the jury brought in a verdict for this amount. Hedges & Griffith appeared for the plaintiff and H. E. Cross for the defendant.

Baptist Convention Echoes.

The session of the Willamette Baptist Association, which closed last Thursday evening, was one of the largest and most successful ever held in the Willamette district. Their next meeting will be held next year at Cavalry church in Portland. On the last morning home missions were discussed by the convention. It was reported that during the hard times the Oregon societies had run $2000 behind in the work, but arrangements have already been made for reducing the indebtedness one-half and the whole is expected to be wiped out by the time of the state Baptist state convention, which convenes at Eugene in October. Six churches have been built this year and several are in course of construction, making a promising building boom.

D. C. Latourette, treasurer of Mc-Minnville college, reported that the $15-000 upon which a gift of $5,000 from the National Baptist Educational Society depended, had been raised.

One of the pleasing features of the last afternoon session, was an address by Rev. J. T. Huff, of Oysterville, Wash., who was pastor of the Oregon City church in 1876-80, and who planted the trees that now afford such a pleasant shade.

There were only fifty delegates at the Amity convention last year, while 117 delegates registered at this gathering, besides a large number of visitors. This scores another point in favor of Oregon City as a convention city.

H. E. Cross gave the entire delegation an excursion to Gladstone park.
They filled two cars and as they passed the historic building in the north part of town, that served as the first Baptist church in Oregon, three rousing cheers went up.

During the session of the convention dinner and supper was served in the basement of the church, and the delegates and visitors were entertained at the homes of the members of the congregation at night and for breakfast.

The Clackamas county alliance will hold a meeting at Canyon Creek on
