THE TEACHERS MEET.
The teacher's association of Clackamas county, met in the school building at Harmony, Saturday July 27, 1895, and was called to order by Supt. H. S. Gibson. The minutes of the previous meeting were read by the secretary Miss Fannie G. Porter, and after one correction were approved.

First in the order of business was the admission of teachers to membership as follows: Prof. S. W. Holmes, F. M. Darling, Miss Ellen Byers, Mrs. Jennie Wise and Mrs. Jennie Longcoy.

Next in order was the election of officers for the ensuing half year. Prof. S. W. Holmes was unanimously elected vice-president; Miss Fannie G. Porter was re-elected secretary of the association; Bertha M. Gibson was re-elected editor of the educational column in the OREGON CITY ENLIGHTENED; Miss Hattie Monroe was elected treasurer.

Mr. Story moved that we hold our next association meeting on the top of Mt. Hood. Mr. Gary seconded the motion. Mr. Beatty moved that the above motion be laid on the table for further consideration, which was done. The association then sang "America." Miss Ida Starkweather recited, "Over the Hill to the Poor House." The audience listened with breathless attention.

Miss Elgiva Mullan played a violin solo, which was heartily applauded. "Methods of Teaching Geography" was assigned to George McArthur, but Mr. McArthur was not present, so F. M. Darling was asked to speak on the subject. He would begin with the geography of the immediate neighborhood, gradually extending the distance to be studied. He believes in teaching map drawing from the beginning. Mrs. Longcoy asked how many teachers taught that New York was a city or that it was a little dot on the map of New York state? S. W. Holmes said he wanted to endorse the plan of teaching outlined by Mr. Darling. Mr. Gary and Miss Porter also discussed this subject.

Miss Fannie G. Porter recited "Our Boys" in a spirited manner. Miss Younger and Miss Monroe sang "O Restless Sea" with great expression. At 1 p. m. the teachers adjourned to the adjoining room where a bountiful dinner awaited discussion. The teachers never fail to do justice to such a splendid repast.

The meeting was called to order for the afternoon session at 2 p. m. Roll call with response of a quotation from Shakespeare by each member. W. Gilbert Beattie read a biographical sketch of William Shakespeare which was very interesting. He had evidently studied the story of the life as well as the writing of the greatest dramatist of the world.

Little Otis Hall recited a cute piece. A song by three of the boys of the school district was loudly applauded by the teachers.

"Faulx in Our Public School System" was the subject assigned Mr. T. J. Gary of Milwaukee. Among other things he said: "The people who built the first school house, and hired the first teacher, hired him, not to train them in religious ideas, not to train them in physical perfection, but to train the intellect."

Having the needed merit to more than make good all the advertising claimed for them, the following four remedies have reached a phenomenal sale. Dr. King's New Discovery, for consumption, Coughs and Colds, each bottle guaranteed—Electric Bitters, the great remedy for Liver, Stomach and Kidneys. Bucklen's Arnica Salve, the best in the world and Dr. King's New Life Pills, which are a perfect pill. All these remedies are guaranteed to do just what is claimed for them, and the dealer whose name is attached herewith will be glad to tell you more of them. Sold at Charman & Co.'s Drug Store, Charman Bros. Block.

WARNING TO WATER CONSUMERS!
Owing to the wasteful and unnecessary use of water for sprinkling and irrigation, and other purposes, it has been impossible to supply the higher portions of the city during several hours of the day. The pump has been furnishing 50,000 gallons of water per hour, which should be an abundance for four times the number of consumers. Consumers are requested to observe strictly the hours for sprinkling and irrigation—from five to nine morning and evening. Any violation of the rules and regulations of this board that may come to our notice will subject the party or parties to the full penalties thereof, without further notice, from and after this date.

By order of the Board of Water Commissioners.

"I know an old soldier who had chronic diarrhea of long standing to have been permanently cured by taking Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhea Remedy," says Edward Shumpick, a prominent druggist of Minneapolis, Minn. "I have sold the remedy in this city for over seven years and consider it superior to any other medicine now on the market for bowel complaints, 25 and 50 cent bottles of this remedy for sale by G. A. Harding, druggist."

HO FOR THE MOUNTAINS.
A. W. Phillips will take camping and excursion parties to the coast or mountains at reasonable rates and by any route. Safe travel and strong spring wagon. Also a general express and delivery.

We have secured the agency for Henry Millard's excellent bon bon and chocolate candies. If you want the best buy Millard's.

The Grocer.

Many persons suffer from disorders in the kidneys and bladder without knowing what is the matter with them. They should know that disorders in these organs if allowed to remain will result fatally. Dr. J. H. McLean's Liver and Kidney Balm will restore healthy functional activity and thus eradicate the disease. Price $1 per bottle. For sale by C. G. Huntley, druggist.

The most pleasant little pill for regulating the bowels are De Witt's Little Early Biscuits. Cure sick headache and constipation. Small pill, small dose. C. G. Huntley, Druggist.

The work of the schools is closely allied to the preservation of free government, and it is the duty of every teacher to instruct pupils in the broad principles upon which our constitution is founded; teach them that liberty means the equal rights of all people to follow, or do, that which conscience tells them is right, allowing others to do the same." Miss Elgiva Mullen delighted every one by a beautiful violin solo, played with great sweetness and expression.

The schoolroom was more than filled, as a part of the audience was compelled to remain in the hall. The people of Harmony take a deep interest in the work of the teachers' association, and many kind words of encouragement were spoken by the patrons of the school. A resolution of thanks was offered the good people who had so kindly welcomed and hospitably treated the association.

At 4 p. m. the association adjourned to meet on Mt. Hood August 24, 1895. Following is a list of teachers present: Supt. H. S. Gibson, Mrs. Jennie Wise, Miss Georgia Ruth, Miss Seaman, Miss Matlock, Lavelle Marshall, Bertha M. Gibson, Fannie Porter, Nellie Younger, S. W. Holmes, F. M. Darling, E. C. Hackett, Robert Ginther, T. J. Gary, Ida Starkweather, Maggie Williams, Elgiva Mullen, Mollie Hankins, W. G. Beattie, Olive Luelling, Hattie Monroe, Anna Mumpower, Ora McLaughlin, Ada McLaughlin, Minnie Joehne, Grady, Althea Phelps, Alex Thomson, Hattie M. Wetherell, Eva Rees, Bertha Sumner, Ellen Byers, Emma Sturchler, Longcoy, Albert Fankhauser, Daisy Danvers, George L. Story, Ada Randall and Hattie Willoughby.

There were at least one hundred and fifty people present at the Harmony educational meeting last Saturday. The annual institute begins next Tuesday at the Eastham school building on Seventh street. Every teacher in Clackamas county is required by the school laws of Oregon to attend this institute.

Prof. A. J. Garrison, writes his brother, Supt. H. S. Gibson that he arrived at Chico, Cal., last Sunday morning. Prof. Garrison's school opened Monday morning. He will attend Stanford University this winter, taking the normal course.

A SWINGING PORTIERE.

Every Housewife May Possess One at a Small Outlay of Labor and Expense.

The new swinging portieres that have appeared have a handsome swinging crane fastened to the wall near the ceiling, upon which a portiere or curtain is suspended. This can then be swung back against the wall or swung out to make a cozy corner or to shut off one portion of a room from another. These swinging portieres can in many cases be made to take the place of screens and often fit in to great advantage where a fixed portiere of the old sort could not be used.

The handsome cranes are of course more or less expensive, but a home-made substitute will answer the purpose very well. It is not exactly homemade, however, for the services of a blacksmith may have to be called in to bend the three-eighths inch iron rod into shape for use. The form suggested and sketched for Country Gentleman ought to be within the possibilities of the average blacksmith shop. The ends are bent to fit into screw eyes or other sockets fastened to the wall, upon which this improvised crane can be swung. The portiere is suspended from the iron rod by rings.

Fashions In Veils.
All the novelties in fine goods come from France. There is little that is new in veiling. Dotted net, tulle, spangled gauze and lace are still the fashion. Meshes change, tints of color rise and fall in favor, but it is always plain and dotted net every year and all the time and always will be while women live and beauty is treacherous. Brussels net is the staple and most expensive article and possesses extraordinary qualities of wear. The tulle used for bridal veils is the acme of brussels net. Wash blond and bobinet are imitations of that net. Like dotted net, illusion and maline never go out of favor. The illusion is used for street, bridal, baptism and confirmation dresses and for the marble face of death. It comes in black and white.

In the dotted goods the tuxedo mesh is perhaps the favorite. The net is open and comes in a variety of fancy weavings, hiding blemishes and false complexion, without interfering with comfort or sight. Sprinkling a few dots of the selfsame or contrasting color is a bit of artifice to which every beauty resorts sooner or later. In the cheap goods these dots are woven in the net. They are hand applied to the best materials. Sometimes they are big. Just now the style is a medium size stitch of chenille.

Black, white, navy blue and brown are the staple colors, the demand being in the order mentioned.

What are known as gaslight or complexion veils are the very fruit of the loom. They are worn in the evenings, at the theater, at matinees and with carriage toilets by women who make up. Some of these complexion veils are barely visible. Her highness the Princess of Wales is never seen in daylight without one.

Costume In White Serge.
A chic little gown suited to many occasions and becoming to all young women is made in white serge. It is decidedly smart in detail.

The front of the bodice is formed into a plastron, surmounted by a vandyked yoke, giving to the gown a somewhat Russian effect, which is further enhanced by the application of narrow cream lisse, each of which shows an applique of yellow ribbon and a very full shell plaited ruche that stands about the neck and suggests an Elizabethan ruff. Any color of lisse may be used, either with or without ribbon.

Renovating With Enamel.
The imitation silver frames and toilet ornaments, after they become tarnished, may be renovated with enamel, which may be changed from cream to blue or pink after a season's wear. For beautifying old picture frames enamel is positively invaluable in the hands of a person with some artistic taste. Bronze lamps which have assumed a discolored and fly specked appearance can be renovated by the application of enamel. Have the article scrubbed as clean as soap and water will make it and give three coats of cream enamel, allowing each coat to dry thoroughly before applying the next. They will look like ivory or creamy china and may be picked out with gilt if so desired. The same may be done with brass lamps, or at least the imitation brass which tarnishes so quickly.

A Compote of Berries.
A compote of berries is made by making a rich sirup from a quart of any firm berries and three-quarters of a pound of sugar and half a teacup of water. When thick, take from the fire, drop the fruit into the sirup and let come to a slow boil. Skim out the berries; lay on a dish; boil the sirup low; skim and pour over the berries.

PREPARING VEGETABLES.
How to Vary the Usual Cooking of Beets, Cabbage, Squash, Parsnips and Asparagus.

Numbered with other useful information from Good Housekeeping are the following appetizing ways of using some of our common vegetables:
Beets may be served otherwise than pickled. They are nice if cut into thin slices and buttered to be served warm. Occasionally chop them fine and pour over them a spoonful of melted butter and a sprinkling of pepper. Serve hot. Cold beets are delicious made into a salad with mayonnaise dressing, or they may be combined with onion and cold potato, dressed with mayonnaise, and in this way form a desirable supper dish.

Cabbage as usually cooked is too heavy for an ordinary stomach to digest. Try steaming it until soft and then serve it by pouring around it a white sauce. Make the sauce by melting a spoonful of butter, stirring smoothly into this the same measure of flour. Pour into this mixture one pint of milk and boil until thick. Season with salt. This is almost as dainty a dish as cauliflower.

Vary the usual preparation of squash by adding to the mashed squash an egg well beaten and a cupful of milk stirred together. This is a good way to warm up the squash for yesterday's dinner. It is a very easy matter to make this mixture into a squash omelet, and that is worth trying. If there is a cupful of squash, allow a scant cupful of milk and two eggs. Turn into a well buttered pan. The mixture will heat in three minutes, then fold and serve at once.

Parsnips in batter are excellent. Cook the parsnips until soft. Cut lengthwise in narrow strips and dip each strip in a batter made like fritter batter. Fry until brown in smoking hot fat, having as much fat as for frying doughnuts. Parsnip cakes made by forming mashed parsnips into small cakes, browning on each side in butter, are a change which has only to be tried to be liked.

Celery in cream sauce, as directed for cabbage, is a dish fit for an epicure. Prepare it in the same way. Scalloped celery also is very good. Put a layer in a shallow baking dish and cover with cream sauce. Sprinkle with buttered bread crumbs and bake quickly.

Try asparagus served in this fashion: The celery and the asparagus must be boiled until tender before being put with the cream sauce. That is not for cooking, but for heating.

Home Boarding.
Parties desiring a place to board, on the electric line convenient to the business part of town can find a comfortable home-like place at the Farmers Home, opposite the Court house. Clean rooms and comfortable beds with home cooking and tables well supplied and well served. Meals 25 cents. Give the Farmers Home a trial.
