THE ANTI-BLOOMER SOCIETY.—The anti-bloomer society are getting hard licks from every source. In fact, they are playing in hard luck, and it begins to look as if they would not succeed in perfecting a permanent organization. The court house crowd, including the attorneys, who spend a portion of the time looking up legal matters, declare themselves unanimously in favor of the bloomer costume. Besides several of the young ladies threaten to boycott all young men who smoke cigarettes and make a practice of frequenting saloons, if the boys persist in making war on bloomers. Nevertheless, the boys, who belong to this society claim to be of the goody, goody kind and have none of the objectionable habits named. Be that as it may, the Salem Statesman goes after them in this style: "An anti-bloomer society has been organized by young men at Oregon City on the ground that the bloomer is an immoral dress for the young ladies to wear. It will be interesting when the young ladies organize against the young men who have immoral belongings. Likely as not 75 per cent of the anti-bloomer society smoke cigarettes, chew and smoke tobacco, stay out late of nights, swear, keep company they would not dare admit to their mothers and sisters, and do lots of other things that can scarcely find endorsement in the authorized moral code. It is surely funny to see the average young of today (or of any other time) organizing a crusade against alleged immoral dress worn by the ladies, when as a matter of fact the same young men would stand on a street corner all day to watch ladies in bloomers passing by."

AT FLETCHER'S BEACH.—Mrs. David Olds sends in an account of the doings of some Oregon City people at Fletcher's beach on the Tillamook coast. The letter was delayed for a week, and some of the parties may have returned home ere this. The Finleys, I. M. Warnock, Witts, Miss Donaldson and myself are in camp here with County Treasurer Moore's wife and son, Will, Mr. J. Humphrey and family, Flitcraft and family, M. McKilizen and family, Allison Pease and sister, Ila, Mr. and Mrs. Blythe and Maurice Meyer. The beach here is lovely and the bathing fine. Fishing is good and Messrs. Humphrey and Flitcraft caught a salmon weighing from 75 to 100 pounds. The sea air is splendid and we are all enjoying the outing immensely.

COMING HERE.—Prof. C. W. Durette and wife leave next Monday for their new home in Oregon City, Oregon, where the professor has been engaged as principal of the West side schools for the ensuing year. Mr. and Mrs. Durette are both well known all over Fremont county, and they leave behind hosts of staunch friends who wish them well in their new home. Prof. Durette has been one of the county's foremost educators for the past 15 years and stands high in his chosen profession. For two years he filled the office of county superintendent with credit to himself and profit to the people. During all his years of residence in this county he has constantly been engaged in school work, except a brief engagement in business, which venture proved unprofitable, his training and talent lying especially along educational lines. Not only in the line of straight school room work, is the professor thoroughly at home, but as a teacher and conductor of normal institutes he stands well toward the top. His services are always in demand for institute work. Since the close of his principalship at Randolph he has spent a month of very successful work in this line in Illinois. The people of Randolph and Fremont county will unite in commending him to the people of Oregon City as an able and zealous educator.—Randolph (Iowa) Zealot.

THE STATE AGRICULTURAL COLLEGE.
 —The state agricultural college at Corvallis is taking a front rank among the state educational institutions, and with its scientific laboratories, machine and wood-working shops, practical farm, garden, orchards and dairy, it affords the best facilities for obtaining a thorough, practical education of any college or university in the northwest. In addition to the unexcelled practical facilities afforded, the scientific and literary course is complete, and 22 competent instructors drill the students in the varied course. This too, is the only institution in Oregon where the tuition is absolutely free, with no incidental fee. There were 261 students last year, and a graduating class of 51. The four courses of study are: Agricultural, mechanical, household economy and bachelor of science, besides military instruction by a United States officer. The college furnishes board, room, fuel, light, etc., at $2.50 per week, making all the expenses including clothing, about $14.10 per month, or $141 per school year. Pupils who have completed reading, spelling, geography, arithmetic, U. S. history and English grammar, will be admitted to the college course. This school has 239 graduates, many of whom occupy the most responsible positions in the northwest. Fall term begins Thursday, September 19th, 1895. Address JOHN M. BLOSS, president, Corvallis, or J. T. ARKUNSON, president of the board of regents, Oregon City.

THAT PAMPHLET.—The board of trade of Oregon City has issued a handsomely illustrated pamphlet, entitled the Willamette Falls, the Niagara of the Pacific, setting forth the business and manufacturing industries of the city, and also the agricultural advantages of the county. It is a notorious fact that Oregon City will in time be the great manufacturing city on the coast. She has a water power, if utilized, would drive the machinery of the New England factories. The manufacturing industries now in operation are all doing well and are only a beginning. The state has no finer agricultural land than may be found in Clackamas county. While much of it is hilly and timbered, there is a great deal of prairie and cleared land. In time, we honestly think, Clackamas county will be the second wealthiest in the state. The magnificent water power will be utilized, while her hills and timbered lands will be under cultivation. Oregon City and Clackamas county, in our opinion, have a very bright future before them. Their close proximity to Portland is a great advantage.—Portland Dispatch.

WREATH VISITORS.—Last Sunday a party of lumbermen from Wisconsin and Michigan, representing in the aggregate millions of capital, spent a part of the day in Oregon City. They came from the Sound to Portland Friday, and have been spending some days looking over the vast timber resources with a view to investing in timberlands, should the opportunities presented be favorable. The members of the party that visited Oregon City was composed of T. B. Hixon, president of the T. B. Scott Lumber Company, Merrill; John Stewart, vice-president of the Alexander-Stewart Lumber Company, residing at Elkhorn, Ill.; Walter Alexander, secretary of the Alexander-Stewart Lumber Company, of Wausau; Charles F. Dunbar, president of the Wassau Furniture Company; C. J. Winton, of the Wisconsin Land Company, Wausau; L. N. Anson, president of the Gilkey-Hansen Company, Merrill; John Landers, of the last-named company, one of the woodmen of the party; H. H. Foster, of the Merrill-Lumber Company; A. H. Strange, of the A. H. Strange Manufacturing Company, Merrill; A. L. Arpine, of the Arpine Lumber Company, Grand Rapids. The party was shown through the new electric power station, and noted with great interest the methods used in utilizing the power.

THE STATE FAIR.—R. Scott, of Milwaukie, county commissioner, gives his views of the state fair in the following style: "For my part I would rather listen to short talks by our old pioneers than to all the discussions in the world between politicians. We farmers go to the state fair to have a good social time, and to learn from each other, and as far as we can, leave our politics at home. Should our State Agricultural Society see fit, let them have some practical dairying done on the grounds, or some lectures on the best mode of dairying and farming (for I do not think there is a dairyman or farmer living but who can learn some more); and I know that some of our horticulturists do not know it all yet). As the fair is going to last ten days, let us have a stock parade every day, and at a time when most of the people can see it. And last of all, let the fair managers close all entries of stock for premiums at least ten days before the opening of the fair, so that they can get a catalogue printed giving number of entry, and names of all animals entered, as well as breed and age. By doing this, the society will make money and the dead-sure men will get left, or else bring their stock to the fair in a thrifty condition."

Beware of Ointments for Catarrh that Contain Mercury.

Kenneth Basemore had the good fortune to receive a small bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy when three members of his family were sick with dysentery. This one small bottle cured them all and he had some left which he gave to George W. Baker, a prominent merchant of the place, Lewiston, N. C., and it cured him of the same complaint. When troubled with dysentery, diarrhoea, colic or cholera morbus, give this remedy a trial and you will be more than pleased with the result. The praise that naturally follows its introduction and use has made it very popular.

DEAR SIR:—Replying to your favor of 23rd Inst., I beg to say that the Prune Grader I bought from you last year, has given perfect satisfaction. Never was so out of order, is easy to operate and grades the prunes as well as can be done; and affords me great pleasure to speak a word in its praise. A good many fruit growers visited my place during prune drying time and were surprised at the excellent work it does.
