THE HOP CROP.

An Unusually Large Yield in Clackamas County.

Everybody in and around Oregon City, who can get away from home have gone to the hop fields. Some of them go for the outing, and to eujoy camping out, the winter term of school at Beaver Creek. while a majority of them go for the profits in the business. Boat load aiter boat load of people have passed up the river during the past few days bound for the hop fields, and yet in some sections pickers are reported scarce. Growers are only paying 35 and 40 cents per box to pickers, but they can do pretty well pleted his tank and wind-mill which will at that as the picking is done mostly in trays, and the crop is unusually good.
