The regular monthly meeting of Meade Post No. 2, G. A. R., will take place next Wednesday at K. of P. hall. Recruits are to be mustered in and important business transacted. It is therefore important that there be a full attendance of members.

Dr. Hurlburt's address to 600 people Sunday evening was a rare exposition of Chautauqua aims and methods. Dr. Hurlburt visited Gladstone Monday morning and expressed great satisfaction in its appointments. Monday afternoon he gave the board many valuable suggestions in regard to securing talent at reasonable rates from the East.

Agent L. B. Moore for the S. P. Co. In this city, mention of whose removal was made in the Enterprise of last week, started a good chance of remaining in Oregon City for some time yet, unless he resigns, a step he does not care to take, for the reason that he can get no other agent to take his place. Monday the agent at Comstock was up with a view of taking the position but when he found that there was $90 worth of work per month to do on a $65 salary he declined the job. There are but few offices on this division that have as much business to handle and responsibilities to assume as Oregon City and as the salary is no higher than that paid agents at small towns where there is little work and scarcely any responsibilities it is an office not sought after to any extent by the railroad boys.

E. E. Charman returned Wednesday from his outing up the valley. Having allowed his whiskers to grow and having his features bronzed and wearing a slouch hat his friends hardly recognized him as he and Mr. Hannigan, who accompanied him, drove into town. Mr. Charman was greatly benefited by the trip and enjoyed perfect health while camping out. He visited a claim he has in the Blue river mining district and brought home with him several specimens of ore that show the color. They found prospecting very hard as snow had fallen and it was with difficulty that work could be done.

The organization of the Forum Debating Club was completed Thursday night of last week by the election of V. R. Hyde, president; Joseph Rice, vice-president; and F. T. Griffith, secretary. The question, "Resolved, That Labor-Saving Machinery is a Benefit to the Wage-Earner," was discussed at some length. The subject for this week's debate is, "Resolved, That the United States should build and control the Nicaragua canal." The meetings will be held Thursday evening of each week in Justice Dixon's court room.

M. P. Bradley has teased the old Ely store building and will turn it into a feed mill. He has the engine and boiler up and will have the grinding machinery in by the middle of next week and be ready for grinding, and will also keep feed for sale. Mr. Bradley should meet with success in his venture as his mill will be the only feed mill in Oregon City where farmers can get their feed ground by paying toll.

A small heating stove in that damp bedroom, or going too long without a stove in the sitting room may be both a sorrowful and expensive economy. Schwan & Putrow will sell a first-class heating stove at a price that is within reach of the poorest. In the better grades of heaters their stock embraces some very elegant stoves. In cook stoves they carry a complete line and all of the best makes.

Major Gans, of 1st regiment O. N. G., inspected Company F at the armory last Monday night. The company acquitted itself with credit. It will commence regular drill on Monday, October 7th. It is the intention of the officers to bring this company to the front rank in the school of the soldier.

R. L. Ringo and Lizzie Conger, of Clarkes, were married at the residence of the bride's brother, J. T. Grace, Sunday, September 23d, by Justice Schueler, in the presence of a few friends. Mr. and Mrs. Ringo have commenced house-keeping on the Ringo farm near Clarkes. The Enterprise extends congratulations.

The ladies of the Aid Society of the M. E. church at Redland will give another of their pleasant entertainments on Thursday eve. Oct. 3. The program will include some very attractive features, and will be followed by a pie social. A handsome crazy quilt will be voted to some lady.

Mr. C. E. Hermann desires to return his thanks to the many friends who so kindly waited upon his wife during her last illness and who by their sympathy and presence lightened the load of sorrow that bore upon him and his children.

Mrs. J. Heiler of No. 284 Grand Ave., Portland, East side, hereby notifies the ladies of Oregon City and vicinity who intend purchasing their millinery goods in Portland, that she has a fine stock of goods for sale at a reasonable price. Call and get prices.

At a meeting of the State School Board last Thursday at Salem, H. L. Patterson, of Clackamas county, was appointed assistant farmer at the reform school, vice Wilson Cook, a recent appointee from McMinnville, relieved.

Henry Jewell, of Clarkes, sued Chas. Krieger on a note for a small sum, last week, and had the latter's hope attached. The case was settled by the payment of the note by a Portland firm who had advanced money for picking the hops.

From September 25th to October 4th, inclusive, the Southern Pacific Roseburg local train bound north will be held at Salem until 5:45 P. M. for the accommodation of the people attending the state fair.

In the athletic contests at Tacoma last Saturday, in the 880-yards foot race, Lawrence Driggs of this city was third in a field of five.

There will be Sunday school at the Leland school house October 1st at 11 o'clock.

Obituary.

DIED.—In this city on Tuesday, September 24, of impaction of the stomach, Mrs. Dorcas Hermann, wife of C. A. Hermann, aged 42 years 5 months and 13 days.

Mrs. Hermann was born near Knoxville, Tennessee, and was married to Mr. Hermann at Carrolton, Illinois, November 25, 1875. In 1889 the family moved to Portland and the following year to Oregon City, Mr. Hermann being employed as a clerk in the railway mail service. Mrs. Hermann was a loving wife and a true mother whose constant desire was that her children should have every home comfort and grow up educated, industrious men and women. Besides her husband she leaves five children, Minnie, Octavia, Zebede, Robert and Stanley to mourn her loss. The oldest child is eighteen years old and youngest but eight.

The funeral services took place Wednesday afternoon at the family residence, Twelfth and Madison streets, and was conducted by Revs. Montgomery and Sykes, and their words of comfort did much to assuage the grief of the family and friends. There was a large attendance of friends and members of the Masonic order, of which Mr. Hermann is a member, they furnishing the pall bearers. The interment took place in the Masonic cemetery.

A Treat to Play-Goers.

A treat will be given the people of Oregon City in the coming attraction, under the auspices of the Ladies' Guild of the Episcopal church of this city, of the beautiful three act drama, entitled, "Nevada or the Lost Mine." This play is one of the best ever played on the American stage. The play was selected for the great opportunity it offered for the display of historic talent in its different characters. Much care has been taken in the selection of the ladies and gentlemen to take them. This play is laid in the gold mining regions and depicts frontier life in the gold mines in the Sierra Nevada's in early days. The cast consists of some of Oregon City's best dramatic and musical talent, who are being carefully drilled in their respective parts. Our people should turn out in big numbers to witness this production and encourage our young people in their efforts in this direction. No expense will be spared to make it a grand success, the event of the season. The scenic and mechanical effort will be perfect.

This play will be staged under the able direction of Mr. A. A. Askin, of Tacoma who has kindly offered his services as director. We would ask our readers to keep a lookout for programme and date in next issue.

Hig Excursion to Salem.

Next Sunday the 29th the big excursion from Portland will pass here at 9:25 a. m. bound for the state fair at Salem. There is to be a sacred concert by Parson's orchestra also an oration by the Rev. Edward Davis, the noted San Francisco divine, after which a baloon ascension and then interesting features will be had. Arrangements have been made to allow persons on the excursion to visit the state institutions at Salem on that date. Round trip only $1.

Wednesday during the absence of the driver, Henry Harding's delivery team took a little spin down Main street. At Seventh street they ran into the hind end of a farmers wagon, throwing one of the horses down when they were caught. No serious injury was sustained by the horses or vehicle. Mrs. Powell, of Mt. Pleasant, had a narrow escape from being seriously hurt. She was sitting in the farmer's wagon and when it was struck by the runaway team, she was thrown violently backward out of the seat into the bed of the wagon. Other than a few bruises, she escaped without injury.

Notice of Meeting.

Notice is hereby given that the county board of equalization of Clackamas county will meet at the office of the county assessor Monday October 25, 1895 and continue in session for one week.

J. C. Bradley, County assessor.

THE TOOTHsome SHAD.

A Few Particulars as to Their Appearance on the Atlantic Coast. The shad begin to appear in the rivers about March 15, and they continue to arrive until the middle of June. It is a remarkable fact that each colony is invariably divided into three grand divisions, which arrive at different times, thus making three successive shoals, or, as the fishermen call them, "runs." The first run is both small in numbers and especially poor in quality, and it is interesting to observe that this is true of the herring as well as of the shad. This advance guard is largely composed of what are known as "hickory" shad, and they differ from the others in such marked degree as to form a distinct variety. The fishermen in the Chesapeake bay have an un-Mosaic legend that at the creation there were a great many small bones left over, and that to dispose of them the "hickory" shad was made.

A few days after these skirmishers have passed up the river the second or great run begins and continues three or four weeks. After the fish appear nothing will disturb their constant upward progress except cold weather, which, inopportune arriving, will cause them to seek the protection of the mud at the bottom of the river, where they remain until the chill has left the water. It is impossible to estimate the number of fish entering a river in one of these runs. The estimate of 2,000,000, which has been made for the Delaware, is very moderate, in view of the fact that more than 10,000 shad have been taken in one haul of the seine in the waters of that river. The third run is small, like the first, and though the fish are fine in quality it receives little attention. It is probably composed of stragglers from the main body who are somewhat tardy in their arrival.—Lippincott's.

The Devil Up to Date.

The popular contemporary conception of satan is of a highly successful man of the world. It is admitted that there are shady spots in his past history; that he has done some things that he should regret, that he is a hazardous associate and an unsafe person to have transactions with. But conversely it is realized that he is rich, powerful and attractive and intimately concerned and interested in promoting the material prosperity of the human race. He is known to be full of enterprise and public spirit, disposed to make things pleasant and powerful in carrying the enterprises with which he is concerned to a profitable issue. It is true that he is understood to be unscrupulous, but it is felt that success excuses very much, and that when an individual has attained a position which enables him to be useful to the public it is a mistake to be overnice about rejecting his good offices because in early life, when his necessities were more pressing, his methods or affiliations were not always such as a conscientious person could approve.—Scribner's.

Knew His Way.

A young gendarme had to take a prisoner before the magistrate and after the trial convey him to the court prison. He had never been in the building before and stood in the corridor with his charge, not knowing which way to turn. At last the old offender had pity on him and said: "Come along, I'll show you."—Rappel.

The total amount of gold coined at our mints from 1793 to 1893 was $1,582,000,000; of silver during the same period there have been $657,000,000 and of subsidiary coinage of all denominations $24,000,000.

In the estimated value of farm products, according to the returns of the eleventh census, Illinois is first, with $184,759,013; New York is second, with $161,593,909; Iowa is third, with $159,347,844.

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN THAT the undersigned has been appointed by the County Court of Clackamas county, State of Oregon, executrix of the estate of Edward L. Eastham, deceased. All persons having claims against said estate are hereby notified to present the same duly verified for payment to the undersigned at the Bank of Oregon City, in Oregon City, Oregon, within six months from the date of this notice.

CLARA E. MOREY, Executrix of the Estate of Edward L. Eastham, dec'd. Dated Oregon City, Oregon, September 27, 1895.

EDUCATIONAL NOTES. All communications intended for this column should be addressed to Mrs. H. S. Gibson, Oregon City, Oregon. THE PROBLEM OF MORAL TONE. That teacher who is throwing out the strongest moral influences in her school is the least conscious of it. It is unconscious radiation, as flowers fill the air with fragrance. There is a certain benefit to a school, from carrying out a program of morals.—That is, a program that has certain times and occasions and ways laid down for the imparting of moral instruction. But like all compulsory teaching it is of inferior quality compared with that which flows out naturally from every pore of the teacher's soul. Those who are familiar with school-rooms know precisely what is meant by the term school atmosphere. This atmosphere tells unmistakably whether there is a high moral tone in the school-room or whether the spirit there is time-serving and the motives of a sordid, commonplace nature. Children in a thousand little ways unconsciously indicate the moral status of the school, as they reflect the training at home. By morals, in this sense, is meant far more than an obedience to these positive commands: "Thou shalt not lie," "Thou shalt not steal from thy neighbor's desk," "Thou shalt not cheat thy teacher," and so on to the end of the school-room decalogue. It is not difficult to conceive of a school of half a hundred children who offend in none of these things, and yet are far below the high moral plane where a liberal obedience to these commandments is supposed to lift them. "As is the teacher, so is the school," may be a threadbare saying, but its truth in this matter of a fine cultured sense of moral beauty is too pointed not to be quoted once more. If the teacher sees and feels the spiritual beauty of moral truth she will, in time, inevitably color the school atmosphere with its pure glow. The children cannot explain or define this influence, but they feel it as they feel the sunshine, and will blossom under it just as surely. Instances are constantly occurring in the school-room where the beauty of doing right because it is right can be enforced; and this is what we mean by a fine, cultured sense of moral beauty. "John copied his answer from my slate," says honest Mary, as the teacher commends him for accurate work. John's confusion confirms Mary's accusation, and what shall the teacher do? Correct John with a little sermon on honor and truth-telling right then and there? Never. If the teacher feels the offence to be a harsh discord in the universal harmony of right, she, without any attempt at acting a part, will show a sorrow and regret that will let the erring boy perceive that something underlies this wrong doing that makes of it a far more serious thing than the act itself. But how and when shall the correction take place? By making opportunities to show the moral beauty of the right. By holding the mirror before this boy, through illustration, and example, and letting him see that one is ugly and deformed while the other is beautiful and attractive. The effect of such a course is not so immediate on this boy's conduct as a quick, sharp correction, for he may go on deceiving day after day, because of a nature so stolid through heredity and home neglect that he does not feel the vivifying influences of honor and truth as they are hourly thrown about him by the wise teacher. But the influences are right; the method is right, and the sowing and the reaping must succeed each other in the spiritual as in the physical world. If the true kindergarted is strong in its superiority over the ordinary school for moral culture, for its own sake, and in the patient waiting for results. How to inculcate the right by making it attractive in winning power is the problem before every teacher. In no way can it be solved but by the highest culture of truth in her own soul and by a study of child nature for the best means of reaching it. But let it not be believed for a moment, that a school which is guiltless of the sins of commission is, by reason of this negative goodness, necessarily a moral school in the highest, best sense of that word. Morality is not the sum of negative virtues. The September meeting of the Clackamas County Teacher's association will take place at the Redland school house on Saturday of this week. The citizens of Redland are making ample preparations to entertain their guests in a manner becoming the well-known hospitality of that neighborhood. An interesting and instructive program has been prepared and it will be to the advantage of every teacher in the county, as well as all who are interested in the success of our schools, to attend.

BANKRUPTCY

—of the physical being is the result of drawing incessantly upon the reserve capital of active forces. The wear, tear and strain of modern life are concentrated upon the nervous system. The young men of our day become sufferers from nervous debility or exhaustion, nervous prostration or weakness. This may be the result of too much mental worry and excitement, or the result of bad practices and excesses, or pernicious habits, contracted in youth, through ignorance. They feel irritable, weak and nervous with such distressing symptoms as backache, dizziness, shooting pains in head or chest, sometimes indigestion. The middle-aged men, as well, suffer from exhaustion, loss of manly power, low spirits, impaired memory, and many derangements of mind and body. The ill-used brain is morbidly wide awake when the overworked business man attempts to find rest in bed. The physicians and specialists of the Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute devote their best energies to reclaiming and restoring such unfortunates to health and happiness. They have written a book of 168 pages, treating of these maladies and setting forth a rational means of home-treatment for their cure. It is sent securely sealed, in plain envelope, on receipt of 5 cents for postage. Address WORLD'S DISPENSARY MEDICAL ASSOCIATION, No. 663 Main Street, Buffalo, N. Y.
