

BARLOW NOTES.

A Legal Tilt—Social Success—Creamery Meeting—Notes of a Live Town.

BARLOW, Oct. 30.—HOP SUIT DISPOSED OF.—No little interest was manifested in the suit brought by Sam Marks against Herren & Levy, in Justice Hurst's court of Aurora, Monday. Since the beginning of the proceedings about a week ago it was pretty generally noised about among the hop growers and as a consequence Hurst's court room was crowded with those interested in hops, who desired to ascertain the outcome of the proceedings. Justice Hurst lost no time in calling the court to order and instructed the attorneys to proceed. J. E. Marks, attorney for the plaintiff, addressed "His Honor," setting forth in brief the complaint and was about to proceed to call the witness when he was interrupted by the defendant's attorney, Mr. Holmes, of Salem, who took exception to some technicality and asked the court to dispose of the case throwing the cost on the plaintiff. At this juncture Attorney Marks displayed his power of oratory giving Attorney Holmes to understand that he was "on his tracks" and thereupon cited law to his Honor. The judge at this interjection in a clear and well balanced thought of mind said in substance, he holds that in justice proceedings that a great deal of latitude must be given the attorneys and that as the point having just been argued being somewhat technical yet not material to this case, ordered the attorneys to proceed. Several witnesses were called for the prosecution who all corroborated with the statement given by Mr. Sam Marks as to the contract. The defence then in turn called two witnesses, but by Attorney Marks' shrewd cross-examination brought to light that the buyer was at times liable to mistake. The case was then rested and the arguments followed, and with the exception of some pointed language freely indulged in by the two attorneys, all went smoothly and the case was given to his honor who disposed of it in short order by giving the verdict in favor of the plaintiff.

THE SUCCESS OF THE SOCIAL.—The ice cream social given in Columbia hall Wednesday evening by the young people of the M. E. church was a decided success both socially and financially, and those whose efforts insured the success are deserving great credit. The total net proceeds of the social was $11.60, though $3 of this amount was donated by Mrs. J. C. Adams, who had kindly run a table at her own expense, serving coffee and sandwiches, and they were fine too—know by having sampled them.

RE-ORGANIZATION OF THE LITERARY SOCIETY.—Notices have been posted for a call of all members and others who desire to join the Columbia Literary and Debating society, Friday evening, November 1st at 7:30 o'clock. It is hoped that there will be a good turnout as all such meetings have a tendency of promotion and whetting one's gift of speech. It is also understood that the members will endeavor to make this winter's meetings more pleasant than before, as there will, no doubt, in addition to the literary work regularly undertaken, be several dramatic sketches through the instrumentality of the society.

MORE IMPROVEMENTS IN TOWN.—J. C. Adams, our liverman, has been busily engaged the past ten days hauling gravel with which to improve Main and First streets. The improvement is decided, but will be more fully appreciated in the wet winter months.

CREAMERY MEETING.—Last Saturday all the directors of the Farmers' Creamery Association met in Columbia hall, for the purpose of considering an early re-opening of the creamery. The secretary was instructed to send notices to all the delinquent stock-holders to call and pay in their pro rata amount of stock. It is hoped that the stock holders will not be backward in paying as a re-opening of the creamery at this time with the present prices of butter will be a paying investment and a handsome profit to the farmers who furnish milk.

MORE IMPROVEMENTS.

Oregon City's Growth Continues and Many New Buildings are to go up.

F. F. White has completed plans for a new five-room cottage to be erected on the hill.

Messrs. Hill & Cole have leased the Stratton corner opposite Selling's store, and will tear down the old building used a blacksmith shop and replace the same with a neat double wooden structure. One of the rooms will be occupied as a saloon by Hill & Cole, and the other will probably be used for restaurant purposes by L. Kucovich. They have leased the property for five years, and in addition to the building on the corner, they will erect a building on the back part of the lot and facing Seventh street, which will be used as a blacksmith shop by Story & Hutton, who are now doing business on the corner.

Plans have been ordered for the new engine house to be built on the property recently purchased by the city of J. Bitter on Fifth and Adams streets.

The new sidewalk connecting with the present walk near the excelsior mills and extending along the foot of the bluff to the canal crossing just below the Crown paper mill is about completed. It will take the place of the one along the flume, that one being abandoned. It is a broad substantial walk and the expense of construction is borne by the paper mills and Electric Company. It will be lighted by electric lights at night and will be a decided improvement over the old walk over which the men stumbled along in the dark in danger of falling on the rocks or into the canal. It will be a great convenience to the mill hands most of whom have to travel this walk after dark in the evenings or before day in the morning.

In common with other industrial establishments in Oregon City the Oregon City Iron works is having a good run of work and is now casting twice a week. In order to facilitate their work and to handle extra heavy castings they have put in a monster crane capable of lifting the heaviest castings made in any ordinary foundry. If the Oregon City Iron Works increase their plant in the next five years they will be in the field for a bid on a government gun boat along with the other great foundries of the country.

Chas. Moore, a well known carpenter of the West Side will shortly commence the erection of a dwelling for himself in Windsor. Carpenters are said to go without shelter as shoemakers go barefooted, but Mr. Moore proposes to break the rule.

Mr. Silvers, one of the old and trusted machinists for the pulp and paper mill is having a fine story and a half cottage erected in Windsor. The building is now enclosed and he hopes to soon occupy it.

W. J. Ranch has the frame up for a fine eight-room dwelling in Gladstone. On its completion he will move into it from his present home in Ely addition.

P. D. Hull, foreman of the Herald has the frame up for a comfortable cottage on an acre tract he lately purchased in Gladstone, Riverside addition. He expects to be able to occupy it within the next week.

E. S. Cheney in company with his father, O. A. Cheney, has leased of the Episcopal vestry for a term of two years the house and lot adjoining the Red Front store and will at once erect a building 18x30 feet two stories high in front of the present building. Mr. Cheney will use the lower floor for a photograph and crayon gallery and the upper floor and the other building for residence purposes. Mr. Cheney is lately from Huron, South Dakota and is a photographer and crayon artist of considerable merit.

Arthur Warner, one of Mt. Pleasant's industrious and bright young men, has a fine cottage almost completed on land he secured from his mother. The boys say that Ark is going to use the building as a hotel but for the present will only take in one boarder.

H. L. Kelly has added a needed improvement to his part of the town by having sidewalks laid to four sides of his block, fronting Washington, Adams, Eighth and Ninth streets. If more of the property holders would put down sidewalks without waiting to be ordered to do so by the city council, our people would not have to wade in the mud so long.

The Herald Publishing Company have recently completed a commodious office building on land they have leased on Fifth street. The building is 18x28 feet, two stories high. The lower floor will be used for an office for the paper, while the upper floor will be left as a hall and used as a head quarters for the people's party central committee.

A Busy Factory. As a result of the many buildings that are being erected in Oregon City this summer and fall H. P. Bestow has been able to run his sash and door turning and jobbing factory to its full capacity. As an evidence of the good work and reasonable prices that Mr. Bestow is able to give is shown that very little work in his line has been sent out of the city. He has added to his plant until now he has a very complete factory, and is able to handle all work however difficult and artistic it may be, in a skillful and ex-pedious manner. Mr. Bestow is one of the pushing men of Oregon City and will keep his business up abreast of the growth of the town. People at a distance having work in his line will find Mr. Bestow reliable and prompt in his dealings.

Wedding Bells.

On Monday afternoon of this week the marriage took place at the residence of Lawrence Kucovich, of Mr. William Bohlander to Miss Mamie Gentry. Rev. H. E. Hornsbuch officiating. Mr. Geo. H. Keene, of Portland, was best man and Miss Mattie Gentry, also of Portland did the honors for her sister. The guests present were Miss Addie Hartman, J. J. Shannon and Miss Jennie Hartman, of Portland, Mrs. V. Bohlander, mother of the groom, Mrs. J. Bohlander and Valentine Bohlander, of Beaver Creek and K. H. Clevering of this city.

After the ceremony an elegant dinner was served by Mrs. Kucovich, who is a sister of Mr. Bohlander that was extra fine and a credit to her skill. The bride is the daughter of a prosperous farmer near Lebanon this state, and is a bright and handsome girl. The groom a former Clackamas county boy, but lives in Portland where he is the owner of the Royal restaurant on First and Madison streets. The young couple have many friends in this county, who wish their happiness and a long life.

W. J. Evans, the well-known shingle mill man of Beaver Creek, was in town Wednesday. Mr. Evans had just returned the previous day, in company with Mr. Dutcher and others, from a trip to the Red Rock mining district on the head of the Molalla. He states that the hills are alive with men prospecting and developing claims and that some very rich prospects have been opened, both quartz and placer. He brought back specimens of quartz in which gold could be plainly seen, also some placer gold he washed out. He predicts a great future for this district.

Another pleasant time sociable was given by ladies of St. Paul's Guild Wednesday evening, this one being given at the hospitable home of Miss Mollie Holmes. Games were played, and refreshments served. A large crowd made the affair a financial success beside every one having a good time.

F. S. Scripture, the Fifth street blacksmith, has just finished making 300 dogs for Mr. Cooper, who has a logging contract with the Willamette Pulp & Paper Co. This was a job of considerable size and has occupied Mr. Scripture's spare time for some days.

Mrs. H. T. Sladen, the well known milliner of this city has a word to say to the ladies in an ad in another column. Mrs. Sladen has one of the finest stocks of millinery goods ever brought to Oregon City and the ladies will find her styles and designs up to date and very becoming.

Invitations are out for the marriage of Mr. Thomas P. Pandall, of this city and Miss Violet Mattheu of Butteville. The wedding will take place at the bride's residence on Wednesday November 6, at 11 o'clock A. M.
