

Chautauque Banquet, Art and Musical Symposium.

One of the most enjoyable gatherings that has been held in Oregon City for many days was the literary, musical and art symposium held at the elegant residence of Mr. and Mrs. T. L. Charman on corner of Seventh and Madison streets, on New Year's Eve. The affair was given by the members of McLoughlin Chautauque circle, and a few friends were invited who were not members. Mrs. T. L. Charman proved an admirable hostess, and much credit is due the program committee, Mrs. L. W. McAdams, Miss Hattie Monroe and T. L. Charman for their efforts in making the affair a grand success. The various rooms were tastefully decorated with Oregon wild grape, mistletoe, holly, ivy and chrysanthemums that led a charm to the elegantly lighted rooms.

The first feature of the evening was the conversation, which occupied a half hour, the guests pairing off in two's and devoting five minutes to each subject on the printed program. The ladies quartette, consisting of Mrs. C. H. Caulfield, Mrs. E. E. Charman, Mrs. J. W. Gray and Miss Hattie Monroe, with Miss Nelta McCarver as accompanist on the guitar, furnished several excellent selections, which were appreciably enjoyed.

The art gallery was another important feature of the evening's entertainment. The curtain was first raised on "Raphael's Madonna," represented by Mrs. L. W. McAdams' little daughter. The "Godmother," was represented by Miss Ana Baird, Mrs. E. E. Charman and little Miss McAdams; "The Favorite," from a painting by a celebrated French lady, by Miss June Charman, with dogs and dolls; "St. Cecilia Tuning her Violin," by Miss Marie Stevens; "Her Reflection," by Miss Ana Baird; "Romeo and Juliet," by Trafton Dye and Earl McAdams; "The King's Idol, the Saxon Girl," by Miss Edith Wishart; "The Confessional," by Miss Mary Conyers and C. H. Dye. The art program was followed by the banquet, which was elaborately served in courses. This was followed by the after dinner speeches with Col. R. A. Miller as toastmaster. First, was the "Promises of 1896," response by Mrs. C. H. Dye. "McLoughlin Circle," response by Dr. H. E. Ferrin. "Our Hostess," response by C. H. Dye. After a mock auction and other festivities, which lasted until after midnight, Col. R. A. Miller on behalf of the members of McLoughlin Chautauque circle, presented the president of the society, Mrs. C. H. Dye, with two elegant easy chairs and a floor rug. He supplemented the presentation with a neat speech, which was feelingly responded to by the recipient.

Schilling's Minstrels.

Schilling's Minstrels gave a first-class performance last evening at the Tacoma theatre before a crowded house. Each number on a long program was warmly received and encores were frequent during the evening. Mr. Schilling himself contributed much to the success of the performance, and in his song "Hard Luck" was heard at his best. The singing of William Carroll, Joe Barnes, Lew Spencer, Charles Lomier and Jack Sample was more than good, and each received a recall. The strong bass voice of Mr. Sample was heard to excellent advantage in his song entitled "Pearls." Mrs. Schilling favored the audience with a series of musical specialties, including performances on bells, a handbell and the heads of half a dozen rag babies. Frank Hammond, the monologist of the aggregation, proved to be a host in himself, and kept the audience roaring while he was before the foot lights.

Kinzo, the Japanese equilibrist, gave a very clever exhibition of his prowess, performing feats scarce less than wonderful to the spectator unacquainted with the Japanese juggler's art. Carrol and Nealy's antics created all the amusement they were intended to produce. In the final part the Brothers La Rose performed some acrobatic feats, including the passing summersault, which were most interesting and scarcely less surprising. Their exhibition was one of the best of the kind ever seen here—Tacoma Ledger.

This troupe will be at Shively's opera house on Monday January 6. Seats on sale at the Electric hotel.

DEEP IRRIGATION.

Opinions Expressed by a Utah Correspondent in The Irrigation Age.

Water is valuable to crops just in proportion to the manner of application. Some soils admit of flooding, others do better under seepage, while nearly every character of land produces the best crops by furrow irrigation. The principal object in producing moisture is to get it in the place where the growing crops demand nourishment. Very few crops require surface irrigation, and hence flooding is not the most advisable method of applying water, except to such plants as require dew and moisture on the top of the ground. The best results are usually attained by irrigating in deep furrows.

The furrows should be so constructed that water will not flow too freely and wash away the soil. A gradual slope is the better plan for making good ditches and will always produce better crop results. The water should never touch such crops as beans, peas and corn. Shallow surface irrigation will always result in decreasing the production of all crops grown above ground. The root crops, especially sweet potatoes, peanuts and such crops, require deep irrigation.

quality and more productive in quantity if water is kept away from the roots and tops while growing. The rust and scab frequently noticed on root crops can be avoided by deep irrigation and keeping the water away from the growing bulbs. Furrows should always be made and water run through them once before the crop is planted. New land should be furrowed out and irrigated once after the first plowing and then plowed over and leveled before planting. Small shovels provide good implements for making irrigating furrows. They throw the soil on either side and thus make embankments for preventing the water from spreading over the surface.

Growing crops demand moisture, but do not require water. If too much water is placed on or near the surface, it will cause the alkali in the soil to rise and crust around the vegetable plants. Deep irrigation has a tendency to draw the alkali substance. The moisture does not rise to the surface, and consequently does no harm in baking or crusting. Deep furrows place the moisture where it properly belongs and allow the water to permeate the undisturbed space between the sub and surface soils. The water forms pathways that by circulatory veins keep the soil calveined and prevent the loggy sourness noticeable in shallow irrigation.

Soil can be more quickly cultivated after a period of irrigation if the water has been applied through deep furrows. Weeds grow fast, and cultivation is necessary. If soil is stirred when wet, it will bake. If the plants are cultivated while wet, they will become diseased with a rot which will destroy the yield. Surface irrigation by flooding or through shallow furrows brings upon the land an immense amount of noxious weed seeds. The common water grass and sand bars, so destructive of crops, are nurtured by surface irrigation. Make deep ditches and keep the water from the surface, and you rid your lots to a certain extent of those pests.

Deep irrigation admits of better openings being made in the main or sub head ditches and allows a more even and systematic distribution. A small stream will trickle along a deep furrow and seep out on either side, giving moisture to the roots of plants, when a greater stream would evaporate or be swallowed by the dry soil within a few rods if put in a shallow furrow. The water should not spread over the surface either by seepage or flooding. It makes the land unfit for passing over in changing the furrows. Where a man sinks into the soil on account of too much water the plant life for that season is destroyed.

Live Stock in Montana.

Montana is doing its best to meet the cattle shortage, and on the northern ranges our advisers are that a larger percentage of the calves has been saved this year than for some time past. The lamb crop, too, is coming in vigorously, with exceptionally light losses. A good deal of this is due to the fact that an additional bounty of $1 has been offered by the stockmen for wolves and coyotes, says the Iowa Homestead, which further tells that the bounty was formerly $3 and has this season been raised to $4.

YEARS OF INTENSE PAIN.

Dr. J. H. Watts, druggist and physician, Humboldt, Neb., who suffered with heart disease for four years, trying every remedy and all treatments known to himself and fellow-practitioners; believes that heart disease is curable. He writes: "I wish to tell what your valuable medicine has done for me. For four years I had heart disease of the very worst kind. Several physicians I consulted, said it was Rheumatism of the Heart."

It was almost unendurable; with shortness of breath, palpitations, severe pains, unable to sleep, especially on the left side. No pen can describe my sufferings, particularly during the last months of those four weary years. I finally tried Dr. Miles' New Heart Cure, and was surprised at the result. It put new life into and made a new man of me. I have not had a symptom of trouble since and I am satisfied your medicine has cured me for I have now enjoyed, since taking it Three Years of Splendid Health.

I might add that I am a druggist and have sold and recommended your Heart Cure, for I know what it has done for me and only wish I could state more clearly my suffering then and the good health I now enjoy. Your Nervine and other remedies also give excellent satisfaction." J. H. WATTS. Humboldt, Neb., May 9, '94.

Dr. Miles' Heart Cure is sold on a positive guarantee that the first bottle will benefit. All druggists sell it at 50¢ per bottle for 25¢, or it will be sent prepaid, on receipt of price by the Dr. Miles Medical Co., Elkhart, Ind.
