FRIDAY, JANUARY 17, 1896.

PROMOTIVE CANDIDATES.—Already candidates for nomination of the various county offices are looming up, and numerous names are suggested. For the legislature the names of Charles Holman, the staunch republican farmer of Meadow Brook; Charles Clark, one of the prominent citizens of Clackamas; G. W. Prosser, the popular Oswego merchant; C. U. Barlow, the well known Barlow merchant; T. F. Ryan, a leading real estate man of Oregon City; C. H. Dye, the well known Oregon City attorney; and Henry Walter, one of the solid citizens of Needy, are mentioned. For George H. Horton's place as clerk, who has so efficiently filled the position for the past four years, the only two prominently mentioned are Henry Meldrum and W. T. Whitlock, both old stand-bys in the republican ranks. It is an established precedent that the sheriff is entitled to a second term, and it is not likely Sheriff Maddock will have any serious opposition to a re-nomination as he has looked after the duties of the office closely. However, there are several people who would accept the office of sheriff should lightning strike them just right. There are a host of people who would like to be county recorder. Among them are Henry E. Stevens, formerly deputy recorder, but now extra conductor and motorman on the East Side Railway; T. P. Randall, partner on the steamer Ramona, and formerly a member of the city council; Weldon Shank, one of the bright young farmers of Canby; Joseph Knight, also a prominent citizen of Canby; J. T. Drake, one of the prominent young farmers of Marquam; the names of J. G. Pilebury and Fred Greenman, both of Oregon City, are also mentioned; E. C. Dedman, of Clackamas, is also favorably mentioned by his many friends for the place. Among those mentioned for school superintendent are: H. S. Stronge, deputy county clerk, and ex-superintendent of Union county; J. W. Gray, principal of the Parkplace school; T. J. Gary, principal of the Milwaukie school; George L. Story, an Oregon City attorney, and member of the county board of examiners; Alex. Thomson, of Clackamas, ex-county superintendent, and W. H. Dobyns, an attorney at Canby. For assessor, the names of J. F. Nelson, of Mulino, deputy county assessor; J. N. Harrington, a prominent member of the Oregon City fire department, and J. C. Paddock, a well known citizen of Milwaukie, are mentioned. For county commissioner, the names of R. Scott, of Milwaukie; F. L. Wise, of Dick Morton, of Clackamas; F. A. McVine, of Sandy, and T. B. Killen, of Needy precinct, are prominent among the names mentioned. No opposing candidates are mentioned against the present incumbents of the treasurer and surveyor's offices. To the list of candidate for the office of assessor can be added the names of E. E. Judd and A. B. Marquam, of Marquam; C. W. Gannon, for sheriff, and E. C. Hackett for recorder, are the principal candidates named on the democratic side. All the other names mentioned above are republicans. The Industrial Herald makes the following nominations for county officers, subject to the decision of the populist county convention: Representatives, F. T. Willets, of Liberal; P. A. Baker, Tolatin, and George Ogle, of Molalla; sheriff, George Lazelle, of New Era; county clerk, Elmer Dixon, of Ely; recorder, Reuben Wright, of Liberal; assessor, R. T. Bible, of Molalla; superintendent, H. G. Stark, weather of Oswego, Hattie Sweet, of Sandy; surveyor, E. J. Weston, of Oregon City; coroner, R. Goncher, Mulino; treasurer, H. Thiessen, Milwaukie; commissioner, Boone Johnson, of Damascus.

MOTOR CAR HELD UP.—The passenger who boarded the East Side electric car leaving Oregon City at 6:30 last Sunday evening, bound for Portland, experienced the details of a genuine hold-up. The car left Oregon City with five passengers with Conductor Abbott in charge, and Henry E. Stevens as motorman. At Milwaukie two more passengers swelled the list and the south bound car was passed as usual, at the switch in the Lambert orchard where a short stop was made. The car had only proceeded a short distance ahead when Motorman Stevens noticed a light on the track ahead, and intended to get near the object and stop the car. Before he reached the obstruction of rails and a lighted candle which had been placed on the track, a signal from the conductor caused him to stop the car. He did not then realize that there was a hold-up, but supposed some one was joking. As soon, however, as he realized the gravity of the situation, he hastily put his watch and purse in a receptacle on the upper part of the car. Attorney Joseph Rice, who was one of the passengers, states that the highwayman jumped on the rear platform while the car was in motion, entered and turning his back to the passengers presented a big revolver and ordered the conductor to stop the car under penalty of instant death. When the car stopped he proceeded to order the passengers to "dig up." He did his work in a hurried, nervous manner, and the passengers reached into their pockets at the point of a formidable looking revolver, and handed out such loose coin as was convenient. Mr. Rice says the robber was evidently a novice at the business, as he appeared more excited and nervous than the passengers, and that he did not get over $15 or $16 from the entire crowd. Mr. Rice handed four dollars in loose change that he had in one pocket, while his purse with more money in another pocket remained untouched. When the bandit began his parley with the conductor, Mr. Allard, of Portland, handed his watch and pocket book to the young lady who sat near him, but all the passengers and conductor contributed their mite toward the exchequer of the robber. After the car proceeded on its way, Mr. Rice took down the names and addresses of the passengers, which are as follows: Louis Allard and Miss Margaret Brossel, Portland; Joseph Rice and Al Blom, Oregon City; C. Lehman and Lena Lehman, Milwaukie. One of the passengers quietly stepped off the car in the vicinity of Sellwood, and his name was not secured. This man was one of the passengers who started from Oregon City, and both Stevens and Rice believe him to have been a confederate of the robber, from attendant circumstances. The south bound car had passed the scene of the hold-up not over five minutes previously, and the rails and burning candle had been placed on the track in the interim. Mr. Stevens states that immediately after leaving the switch he noticed a waxing light on the bank above the track near where the obstruction was placed, which fact leads to the conclusion that there might have been a confederate on the outside. He further says that while he was not so badly scared, one experiences a peculiar feeling during a hold-up. The robber was a short heavy set man and used a bandana handkerchief as a mask with holes cut for his eyes. He wore ordinary working clothes.

SPECIAL COUNCIL MEETING.—The council held an important special meeting for general business last Friday evening. All the members of the new council were present except Cooke. The committee on streets and public property stated verbally that they did not consider it advisable to proceed with the improvement of the street in front of the Bestow property, until more satisfactory arrangements are made. The committee reported that the bridge across the Abernethy had been completed, and the total cost of the same was $480, and a warrant was ordered drawn for $280, the county having agreed to pay the sum of $200 toward the construction of said bridge. Hill & Cole's liquor license was extended from Feb. 2, to Feb. 28 inclusive. On motion it was voted that regular meetings of the council be held on Wednesday evening. The balance of the Weinhard fund, consisting of $47.50, was on motion transferred to the general fund. On motion it was ordered that all liens on the books of the city against Hon. Thomas A. McBride, for the improvement of Seventh street be cancelled. An ordinance was presented by Councilman Porter for the levy of a 7-mill tax, said ordinance to be read a second time and passed at a special meeting to be held January 29th.

WORK FOR BOARD.—A stout, industrious country boy of 16 years wants a position where he can work for his board and go to school. Address "Boy" care of ESTABLISHMENT OFFICE.

A School Episode.
I wish to correct a little article that appeared in last week's issue of your paper in regard to a little scrap between our school teacher and my son. I would not trouble you to correct this but it is so far from the truth that it makes the boy appear at a disadvantage. Whoever the writer of that article is they are either badly informed or else a most magnificent liar and I think it is the latter. The testimony of all the scholars in school who witnessed the disturbance is as follows: It was while the fifth reader class was reading when the scholar went to their class the place always occupied by my son was taken by one of the other boys and when this same boy got up to read my boy slipped into his own place, then the teacher wanted to know why he was not in his own place and he said he was in his own place. The teacher said he was not and said "don't you contradict me" and accompanied this with a rap on the head with a fifth reader then my son said "I am in my right place." The teacher said again, "don't you contradict me" with another blow on the head with a fifth reader. Then my son jumped to his feet and told the teacher to look out. The teacher drew the book back again ready to strike when my boy knocked it out of his hands and then went at it, both of them, which resulted in a little black eye for each and no great damage done to either. The teacher felt very huffy and got a warrant for the arrest of my son. I have always told him if he got into trouble he could get himself out, so he put out, and for this little scrap our populist constable is turning over Heaven and Hell to capture him it would seem from his actions he don't care what expense he puts the county to for a little slugging scrap. This is not the only time our populist constable has put the county to unnecessary expense. He is one of those who will work it for all it is worth. I have seen too much of thing in the last few years and my prayer now is morning noon and night, Good Lord deliver me from such populists.
