

DEMOCRATS MEET.

Macksburg, which was seconded by Dr. J. H. Irvine, D. F. May was named by F. Rath. Mr. May declined and on motion Mr. Coleman was nominated by acclamation.

When it came to county treasurer, the office had a lively scramble for the man. First, H. L. Kelly was nominated, who declined. James Thorne then nominated T. L. Turner, of Tualatin, who declined, as he claimed that he had always been able to make a living off his farm, besides his section had offered two candidates before this convention, who had been sat down upon. W. B. Stafford was named by G. A. Harding, but he too declined. T. L. Turner named Harry Harding for treasurer, and he also declined. None of them apparently had any desire to handle Clackamas county business. As a last resort, H. L. Kelly was urged so persistently that it was his duty as a democrat to accept the nomination, that he finally gave in.

For county commissioner A. M. Kirchem nominated John Lewellen, of Springwater, and W. B. Stafford named A. P. Howland, of Maple Lane. Lewellen received 53 votes and Howland 15. Lewellen was duly declared the choice of the convention for commissioner.

For recorder, C. W. Ganong placed in nomination H. J. Harding, and J. H. Raletson named Alex Schram. The ballot resulted as follows: Harding 31, Schram 33. Mr. Schram was accordingly announced as the choice of the convention for recorder.

For sheriff C. W. Ganong was nominated by F. Rath, seconded by H. L. Kelly, and on motion of G. A. Harding, the nomination was made unanimous.

For clerk James Thorne named J. E. Jack, of Marquam, and on motion of H. L. Kelly the nomination was made unanimous.

It took some skirmishing to find three candidates who were willing to sacrifice themselves as candidates for the legislature. H. L. Kelly nominated J. S. Risley, of Milwaukie, who after considerable urging reluctantly consented to accept. A. D. Gribble named John H. Daly, of Macksburg, who positively declined. V. R. Hyde named Dr. J. H. Irvine, of Canby, and Dr. Carl named O. D. Robbins, of Harding. After short addresses by C. W. Ganong and H. L. Kelly, the latter quoting some more scripture to show that the Lord was with them in the fight, Risley, Irvine and Robbins were made the unanimous choice of the convention for representatives.

A resolution was unanimously passed favoring an amendment to the constitution for the election of United States supreme judges by a direct vote of the people; fair at one presidential election and six at the next following presidential election.

The chairman of the county central committee was authorized by motion to fill any vacancies that might occur by death, etc.

The ticket reads as follows: Representatives, J. S. Risley, of Milwaukie; Dr. J. H. Irvine, of Canby; O. D. Robbins, of Harding. Sheriff, C. W. Ganong, of Canemah. Clerk, J. E. Jack, of Marquam. Recorder, Alex Schram, of Oregon City. Treasurer, H. L. Kelly, of Oregon City. Assessor, E. C. Hackett, of Park Place.

School Superintendent, P. L. Coleman, of Marquam. County Commissioner, J. H. Lewellen, of Springwater. Surveyor, Fred Hesse, of Springwater. Coroner, Dr. E. A. Sommer, of Oregon City.

NOTES.

Nothing but death or removal from the county can get the newly nominated candidates off the ticket. The acceptances of the different nominees are all filled out in regulation form and their signatures are written in black ink. An ENTERPRISE reporter went across the street and borrowed a pen and ink for this purpose. It is hardly probable that any of them ever expect to get elected, but there is one thing dead sure they will have to remain with the ticket.

Defeat has no terrors for a dyed-in-the-wool Jeffersonian democrat. He will cling to the slaughter pen like a free trade sheep, with the faith of ancient prophet that if his principles do not triumph in this world, that he will certainly be rewarded in the next. If he never becomes converted to populist theories, or joins the protection forces of the republican party, he kicks in adversity and continues to keep a stiff upper lip. To convince him of the error or fallacy of his belief, would be like trying to make water run up hill. But with all his faults we admire his pluck and adherence to principle, although it is probable that his fondest hopes will never again be realized.

A few of the delegates did not arrive until the afternoon session, and others went away immediately after the delegates were elected to the state convention. The delegates and candidates are representative Clackamas county men, but their great fault lies in the principles they represent. The convention was harmonious on the whole, as none of the candidates have any serious expectation of getting elected, consequently there was no ardent rush for the spoils of office.

There was an apparent determination on the part of a portion of the county delegation not to allow the Oregon City "gang" to run things. This idea came to the surface on several occasions in ripples of opposition to certain moves, but it is a notable fact that Oregon City carried away the lion's share of the plunder in the way of official nominations.

Easter Services.

Easter Sunday was observed in a general way at all the Oregon City churches. The Presbyterian church was most artistically decorated, and presented an inviting appearance. Among the decorations were some calla lilies, and some rare plants and flowers sent to the city by a lady in Southern California. Both morning and evening the pastor, Rev. A. J. Montgomery delivered sermons appropriate to the day.

At the Baptist church the decorations were tastefully arranged, and the sermons by the pastor, Rev. M. L. Rugg, were particularly appropriate to the anniversary day of Christ's advent on this earth. L. C. Driggs presented the young lady members of his Sunday school class, each with a bouquet of rare ferns and flowers from Southern California.

At the Methodist church the decorations were in keeping with this memorable occasion. The pastor, Rev. S. W. Stryker, delivered appropriate sermons, both morning and evening. In the evening there was a splendid sacred concert, including a solo by Miss Morrey. The exercises throughout were impressive and entertaining.

Bishop Scott of Portland, held special Easter services at the Episcopal church last Saturday evening. Sunday morning special lay Easter services were conducted by H. L. Kelly. The church was splendidly decorated and the services were impressive.

At St. John's Catholic church, Easter Sunday was observed with the usual impressive services of that church. There was a profuse decoration of flowers, and the church was well filled at the different services.

At the Congregational church Dr. Cowan, the pastor, delivered an appropriate sermon in the morning, and in the evening a splendid literary and musical program was rendered. The Crescent and Ladies' quartettes gave several excellent selections, and the solos by Misses M. Wall, Reva Gray and Ethel Albright, and the recitations by Misses Aida Broughton, Miss Folanovsky and Master Trafton Dye, were all well received. Miss Mabelle Wiggins' original Easter poem was very good, as was also the children's exercises. The decorations were tasty, and an Azalia tree donated for the occasion by Mrs. J. G. Pillsbury, and a potted air plant, belonging to Mrs. Stevens, attracted special attention.

An Honored Man Gone.

Died, at his residence in Oregon City, on Thursday, April 3, 1896, Peter Paquet, aged 57 years, 2 months and 20 days.

Mr. Paquet had been ailing for the year, but only within the last few months did his condition become such as to seriously interfere with his labors and some weeks ago he was compelled to give up all business and retire from the United States land office in this city, of which he had been receiver for almost four years past. He was attended by the best medical skill of Oregon City and Portland, but without avail, the disease having such a hold upon him that nothing could be done to relieve him. He was able to be about the house most of the time until prior to his death when he took worse and never rallied, passing away Thursday night.

The Masons, of which order he was a member, took charge of the remains and arranged for and carried out funeral services. The burial took place Sunday at 11 o'clock a. m. The members of the order in full regalia, proceeded to the family residence where a brief song service was held, after which the remains together with the carriages containing the family and immediate relatives and friends of the deceased were escorted by the lodge, there being nearly 100 members in line to the cemetery, where the solemn and impressive Masonic burial service was carried out under direction of the service.

The service was rendered in a beautiful and perfect manner and made a deep impression on the large concourse of people that were present. In addition to the Masons, a large number of business men of Oregon City and other places were present at the grave to pay their last sad respects to their departed companion.

Mr. Paquet was born in St. Louis, Mo., in 1839, his father being F. X. Paquet, who with his mother now reside in Oak Grove, Wasco county. In May 1852, Mr. F. X. Paquet left St. Louis with his family for the West, coming overland by ox team, arriving after various trials and hardships incident to travel in those days, at Portland in October. In May 1853 he moved to Canemah, a short distance above that place, where he resided until 1876, when he moved to his present home at Oak Grove.

Mr. Paquet, who at the time of his arrival in Oregon City was a boy of 14, attended school for a few months each year, until he was old enough to assist his father who was a boat builder and contractor, when his school training ceased yet he continued his education, and by close study and reading was at the time of his death one of the best posted men in Oregon City on the general topics of the day. On attaining manhood he with his brothers took up the boat-building and contracting business until the removal of his brother to Portland. Several of the largest bridges across the Clackamas and Molalla rivers were erected by Mr. Paquet and their stability and enduring qualities are an evidence of the honesty and thorough workmanship Mr. Paquet displayed in all his work. On September 5, 1871, he was married to Miss Sarah M. Hamilton, who proved a woman of more than ordinary worth and was a true helpmate in all the after years of his life. Besides a wife, Mr. Paquet leaves three children, now grown or nearly so. Louise, Florence and Victor to mourn the loss of a kind and loving husband and father. Miss Florence, who is at present at a sanitarium in California, did not, at the request of her physician and desire of her mother come home for the funeral of her father. Besides his parents Mr. Paquet has three living brothers, Joseph, a leading contractor of Portland and Louis, one of the principle boat builders of that city and Oliver who is on the farm with his parents at Oak Grove.

Mr. Paquet always took a leading part in the affairs of the city. He served nine terms in the city council and held the office of mayor and a member of the city fire department serving in Fountain Hose Co. No. 2, whose engine house bell was tolled while the procession was passing up the street in his honor. He served three terms in the state legislature and took a leading part of the work of the house and was credited with being one of the best workers and debaters in that body. He was appointed in 1892 by President Harrison, receiver of the land office in this city and made a most thorough and painstaking officer. For the past 20 years he has been a member of Multnomah lodge No. 1, A. F. & A. M. of this city and has held all of its most important positions. For some years previous to his death he was collecting a material for a history of his lodge as well as of Masonry in Oregon, this lodge being the oldest on the Pacific coast. He succeeded in gathering up a great quantity of valuable data concerning the pioneer Masons and lodges of this state and it is Mrs. Paquet's desire to secure some competent person at a future time to arrange and prepare for publication this historical matter, which will be of deep interest to every Mason on the coast as well as all who are interested in the early history of the order in this state.

Mr. Paquet left an enviable record for honesty and integrity for no one could ever with cause question either, and was known as a kind and benevolent man to all his acquaintances. He was one who made his life worth living to his fellowmen.

THE REVIEW OF REVIEWS

Edited by ALBERT SHAW.

The REVIEW OF REVIEWS, as its name implies, gives in readable form the best that appears in the other great magazines all over the world, generally on the same date that they are published. With the recent extraordinary increase of worthy periodicals, these careful reviews, summaries, and quotations, giving the gist of periodical literature, are alone worth the subscription price.

Aside from these departments, the editorial and contributed features of the REVIEW OF REVIEWS are themselves equal in extent to a magazine. The Editor's "Progress of the World" is an invaluable chronicle of the happenings of the thirty days just past, with pictures on every page of the men and women who have made the history of the month.

The Literary World says: "We are deeply impressed from month to month with the value of the 'REVIEW OF REVIEWS,' which is a sort of Eiffel Tower for the survey of the whole field of periodical literature. And yet it has a mind and voice of its own, and speaks out with decision and sense on all public topics of the hour. It is a singular combination of the monthly magazine and the daily newspaper. It is daily in its freshness; it is monthly in its method. It is the world under a field glass."

Sold on all News Stands. Single Copy, 25 cents.
