As Clark and Kelliber are now both safely housed in the Oregon penitentiary, the stolen articles were no longer needed as criminating evidence.
On last Friday, Thorow, the 13-year old son of Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Randa, of Vancouver, but formerly of this city, met with a painful accident. While at play during the recess at school, he fell from the top of a fence, breaking his leg just above the ankle, and causing a dislocation of the ankle joint. The injury was very painful, but it is thought the operation performed will prove successful.
At the regular monthly business meeting of the Congressional Y. P. S. C. E., held Tuesday evening, the following officers were elected for the ensuing term: Miss Mabelle Wiggins, president; D. D. Tompkins, vice-president; K. H. Gabbert, secretary; Miss May Mark, treasurer. The society is prospering and steadily increasing in membership. Three new active members were elected at this meeting and the name of another one proposed.

Stryker, officiated. Only a few immediate relatives of the bride were in attendance. The bride is a most estimable young lady, and daughter of one of the oldest and respected families in Clackamas county. The groom is one of Clackamas county's promising young men, and the newly married couple are receiving the congratulations of many friends.
Adolph Winterer, who was convicted of stealing a horse from Constable Smith of Oswego, was outside of the county jail with some other prisoners, getting wood. Winterer made a break for liberty and soon disappeared along the river bank. Sheriff Maddock saw him disappear from a window and notified Pete Nehren, who started after the fugitive and intercepted him as he came into Main street near Bestow's door and ash factory. On the same evening, Sheriff Maddock took the trisky prisoner to Salem, where he will not have an opportunity to gather wood in the open air for the next two years. This occurred last Friday evening.
Did you ever stop to think what indignation really means? It means simply that your stomach is tired. If our legs are tired, we ride. The horse and the steam engine do the work. Why not give your stomach a ride; that is, let something else do its work. Foods can be digested outside of the body. All plants contain digestive principles which will do this. The Shaker Digestive Cordial contains digestive principles and is a preparation designed to rest the stomach. The Shakers themselves have such unbounded confidence in it that they have placed 10 cent sample bottles on the market, and it is said that even so small a quantity proves beneficial in a vast majority of cases. All druggist keep it.
LAXOL is the best medicine for children. Doctors recommend in place of Castor Oil.

CAMPAIGN NOTES.

Hon. Thomas Tongue's Address—Other Appointments.
At an early hour Wednesday evening the seating capacity of Weinhard's hall was filled to hear the address of Hon. Thomas Tongue, the republican nominee for congress in the first district. The hall is the largest one in the city, yet many had to remain standing. People came from Oswego, Canby, Milwaukie every part of the county. The opening music was given by the Oregon City band, and the Milwaukee quartette took the audience by storm with their rousing campaign songs. On the stage seated with the speaker, were Max Ramsby, chairman of the republican county central committee, T. F. Ryan, secretary of the central committee, J. W. Moffatt, president of the Oregon City Young Men's Republican club, L. L. Porter, Charles Holman and G. W. Frosser, republican nominees for representatives, Judge T. A. McBride and A. S. Dresser.

Mr. Moffatt introduced the speaker on behalf of the republican club. The speaker first compared the history of the republican and democratic parties, supplemented with facts and figures. He conclusively showed that our sales of home production articles had fallen off $2,000,000 annually since the repeal of the McKinley tariff bill and the time that the Wilson bill went into effect. He proved the facts by unmistakable figures and data that during the 30 years of republican rule under a policy that enabled us to obtain a market for our productions at remunerative prices, and our laborers had ready employment in the manufacturing enterprises of the country. The policy of the republican party has been to protect the producer, the consumer can take care of himself. Mr. Tongue further said, that there were only two classes in this country, the producers and non-producers, and the latter were the millionaires and paupers. He gave most exhaustive figures to show what the republican party had done for the country in comparison with the democratic party, in a most interesting way. He said, what Clackamas county and the state of Oregon wanted was labor for the laborers and a market for the farmers. No matter how much money there is in the country, if the laborer cannot get pay for his labor or the farmer a market for his products, it does not relieve the stringency. He explained the protection theory in a nutshell when he gave Abraham Lincoln's definition of the question, who explained it in this way. "Suppose we sent $20 to Europe for a ton of iron. We would have the iron, but no $20. If we made the iron at home we would have both the iron and the $20." Mr. Tongue made some forcible arguments against the free coinage of silver, and wiped the earth with the populists. His peroration was grand eloquent, and the vast audience were hardly ready to leave when he concluded his lengthy speech. It was pronounced by many of the hearers to have been the best political address ever delivered in Oregon City. The enthusiasm was intense, and the speaker was frequently applauded.

The New Era Republican club held a grand rally at the Leland school house last Saturday evening, and the meeting was addressed by A. S. Dresser, of this city, or at least was to be, but arrangements were made for a joint discussion with W. S. U'Ren, one of the populist candidates for representatives. Mr. Dresser had the opening address with a reply at the close. He maintained the republican idea of money as expressed by the state platform, while Mr. U'Ren attempted to show that the populist idea of money was the correct one. The discussion was very gentlemanly and courteous throughout, and those who were present from Oregon City and other sections of the country, assert that Mr. Dresser maintained his side of the question very creditably. One of the gentlemen present said that Mr. Dresser made one of the best speeches on the money question that he had ever listened to. The school house was crowded, and a most interesting meeting was held. Mr. Dresser has made a special study of the money question, and he is abundantly able to sustain his side of the question with the best talent that can be brought out by the opposition. He had made arrangements to have a series of joint discussions over the country, but the populist state central committee would not consent to the plan, as they desired him to canvass the county with the opposition candidates on the republican ticket, so this plan will probably not materialize. These two gentlemen will likely have several joint discussions at several points in the county.

Any one who has ever had an attack of inflammatory rheumatism will rejoice with Mr. J. A. Stumm, 220 Boyle Heights, Los Angeles, over his fortunate escape from a siege of that distressing ailment. Mr. Stumm is foreman of Merriam's confectionery establishment. Some months ago, on leaving the heated work room to run across the street on an errand, he was caught out in the rain. The result was that when ready to go home that night he was unable to walk, owing to inflammatory rheumatism. He was taken home, and on arrival was placed in front of a good fire and thoroughly rubbed with Chamberlain's Pain Balm. During the evening and night he was repeatedly bathed with this liniment, and by morning was relieved of all rheumatic pains. He now takes special pleasure in praising Chamberlain's Pain Balm, and always keeps a bottle of it in the house. For sale by G. A. Harding, druggist.
