ARE THEY GUILTY?

While the populists of Clackamas county are continually clamoring of rumors of trade between leaders of the republican and democratic parties, who are accused of leading certain candidates to the slaughter pen...

The grand jury for the April term of the circuit court have completed their work and made their final report to the court. Judge McBride complimented them on the expeditious manner in which they had done their work without unnecessary expense to the county.

A NEW PLAN.

Hundreds of thousands of dollars have been spent in sending missionaries to China, who are devoting their energies in a dreary land to a noble cause, when they could do a far more effective work at home.

If one-half the money that is spent by the great foreign missionary societies of the United States in evangelizing China, was devoted to the work of educating and converting the heathen in this country...

For consistency the great Oregonian takes the bun. Of late it has been industriously advocating a bolt from the regular republican congressional nominee of the second district for congress.

The large and enthusiastic crowd that greeted Hon. Thomas H. Tongue at Weinhart's hall Wednesday evening, was an auspicious beginning for the campaign of 1896 in Clackamas county.

JACOB S. COXEY, the Ohio agitator and "Weary Wealer," who led a vagabond army in his march to Washington two years ago, to demonstrate to congress the necessity of legislation for the laboring classes, will come to Oregon.

The population of Germany in 1890 was 49,428,470. The population of France in 1891 was 38,343,192. Each nation takes a census every five years.

Is the past history of the United States it has become a prevalent saying, that the campaigning and consequent defraction from every day matters during a presidential election, depresses business.

The last issue of the Oswego Iron Worker contains an insinuating attack on G. W. Prosser, under the guise of supporting him as a candidate for the legislature.

It is a notable and indisputable fact that Sheriff Maddock is the only sheriff of Clackamas county who ever gave the taxpayers until the last days of grace in which to pay their taxes.

The republican campaign is now fairly opened in Clackamas county. For some time past the republicans have been busy with their business, sowing their crops, and biding their time until the rush of work was over.

The meteorological records which have been kept at the naval observatory in Washington City for forty years show that the present month is the hottest April that has been known.

SUPERVISOR EXPLAINS.

STAFFORD, April 26.—TO THE EDITOR: In the last issue of the ENTERPRISE you do me a great injustice by publishing a communication from some unreliable source, whose words would not be taken in any place, except by a few of my enemies.

I was appointed by the county court last year as supervisor of road district No. 31, of Clackamas county. I was not looking or hunting for the office.

Last year I worked out, according to my reports and my books, (which are all on record and open for inspection by any honest man.) $381 in cash, and about $60 in road poll tax, and issued ninety-one road certificates to different parties.

The books show that I issued seventeen different road receipts for the month of March, and up to the communication in your paper twenty-three more names appeared on my books.

Complaint is made in behalf of the "poor men." I feel sorry for them, but I have no orders from the court to use the road fund for a pauper fund.

A FISHERMAN'S ADVICE.

REDLAND, April 27.—TO THE EDITOR: In your issue of April 27 there was an item in the Hatchery correspondence about a certain fisherman who could not get time to fish; politics are too engrossing.

AN OPEN LETTER.

OSWEGO, April 28.—TO THE EDITOR: There seems to be an impression in some quarters that I am in favor of the dismemberment of Clackamas county.

It is true that I did favor the annexation to Multnomah county of a small section of Clackamas on the west side of the river, in which Oswego is situated.

In 1880 practically all the people in the territory proposed to be annexed to Multnomah were in favor of the move, and they signed long and strong petitions for such action and sent them to me.

Today we have a good direct wagon road to Oregon City and a suspension bridge, which we helped to pay for, on which to cross the Willamette river to the county seat.

Our interests in Multnomah are relatively less than they were in 1880, while our ties to Clackamas are a great deal stronger than they then were.

GEORGE W. PROSSER.

SPIRIT OF THE PRESS.

A leading American ornithologist says that some of our most desirable birds are threatened with extermination. The common quail and ruffed grouse are becoming very scarce.
