FRIDAY, MAY 1, 1906.

FOR THE MINES.—In every section of Oregon are people who have periodical attacks of gold fever, and take themselves away to the established gold fields of the mountain regions, to gather the shining particles. There are many of this class of prospectors in Clackamas county, who have heretofore went to Southern Oregon and other sections to do their work. Now they are turning their attention to the discoveries nearer home, and gold is being found in paying quantities right at our very threshold. On last Saturday L. Freeman, of this city, and Mr. Stevens, of Columbia county, left for the Ogle creek country, where they expect to locate some claims. Many others will be prospecting in that section as soon as the snow melts sufficiently to make traveling through the mountains practicable. A. G. Malsten, the insurance man, returned last week from the newly discovered mines near McMinnville, where he has taken up a claim. He has unlimited faith in these mines and expresses the belief that mills will be in operation and a branch railroad running to the mines from McMinnville by next fall. The gold-bearing rock appears to be confined to one township, and is so fine that it is not visible to the naked eye. However, it assays from $13 to $80 per ton, and a working test alone will determine whether or not it can be profitably mined. There will be a rush of hardy prospectors to the Ogle creek country in the Eastern part of Clackamas county, and more rich strikes may be expected. It is the prospectors who find and develop the mineral resources of a section. It was thought a few years ago that the paying mines of Southern Oregon were worked out, but the enterprising prospector found deposits of gold, where people thought gold did not exist in paying quantities. In consequence the discoveries are constantly being made, and the output of gold is greater from that section than ever before in its history. Southern Oregon does not feel the stress of hard times, on account of steady output of gold from its mines. The mineral resources of Clackamas county have not begun to be developed. There is evidently a world of wealth in the mountain regions of Clackamas county, yet to be opened, that was never dreamed of by the first inhabitants.

SUPERINTENDENT IRWIN'S LECTURE.—Prof. C. W. Durette, the wide-awake principal of the West Side Oregon City school, secured State Superintendent G. M. Irwin for a lecture last Friday evening. As on all past occasions when an entertainment is given at the West Side school building on Friday evenings, it invariably pours down rain. This, however, did not deter Prof. Durette's room from being pretty well filled with patrons of the school, pupils and visitors, some from the East Side. The rooms were tastefully decorated, and a collection of standard-books in a neat book-case in one corner of the room forms the beginning of a valuable library. Prof. Durette was disappointed in his musical program, as some of those who intended to take part were sick. Supt. Irwin made a telling and interesting address on popular education. As a platform orator, he ranks among the first in the state, and his arguments are convincing. He spoke of educational work in Oregon, and the progress that had been made; that he often received letters from the East from people who evidently imagined that Oregon was but little better than a savage wilderness, and that teachers were badly needed. These things led him to look up statistics, and he discovered that Oregon ranked next highest of any state in the union in the percentage of general intelligence among the population. In Iowa, which ranks first, the percentage of illiteracy is 3 per cent. Oregon comes next with 4.6 per cent. He proved by convincing argument and the history of other nations that education and morality were the very bulwarks of our form of government. Miss Jessie Logan, who gives promise of becoming a talented elocutionist, recited a selection that was popularly applauded. Mrs. F. E. Donaldson and Mr. and Mrs. I. D. Taylor sang "Good Night," with organ accompaniment, which was well received.

HESPERIAN'S ARE DECLARED INVINCIBLE.—Baldori's hall at Willamette Falls was filled to its utmost capacity last Friday evening by an attentive gathering of old and young people to listen to the debate. The meeting was called to order by Geo. Kinney. Mrs. Kinney then delivered a very impressive declamation. The girl's chorus rendered a beautiful selection and answered to a warm encore. Miss Grace Whitlock delivered a fine recitation in her own unique style, it was highly appreciated. The topic for discussion: Resolved, "That war has caused more harm and misery than temperance" was ably discussed by the two opposing clubs. Hesperians took the affirmative. Fred Meindle led and opened the debate with firmness and zeal. E. Secor, was canonized "Oregon City's Eli Perkins" for his display of wit and humor. Howard Brownell then followed with his usual oratoric fire, never had the eloquence of the young man been so convincing and clear. Chas. Babcock in an eloquent manner reviewed the arguments of the opposite side and answered them to the satisfaction of all. The negative represented by Messrs. J. Roe, Olsen, Beach and Brady was ably defended. They brought forth tons of statistics and made masterful appeal to the sympathies of the judges. The judges rendered a unanimous verdict for the affirmative. Mr. Walker of Falls City then rendered a few selections that kept the audience in a very pleasant and delightful laughing position. The Hesperian male quartet rendered a beautiful selection and closed by bidding each one a "loving good night." Long live the Hesperians.

MEMBERS Y. M. C. A. MEETING.—On last Friday evening the first regular monthly business meeting of the Young Men's Christian Association was held in the lecture and gymnasium room. President Caples presided, and about 40 members were in attendance. The report of the executive committee was read showing the amount of money expended, etc., also the contract pertaining to the lease of the building, which was adopted by motion. One feature of the meeting was the introduction symposium, wherein each member of the society gave his native state, and experience, if any, in Y. M. C. A. work. Six new members were added to the charter list. Those who signed their names to the original list, and who have not yet reported, are requested to come around and sign the roll. It was also suggested that each member present some article that would be useful to the rooms of the association, something that in after years could be pointed to with reminiscence pride by the donor. The rooms now present a cheerful and comfortable appearance, and the gymnasium is pretty well fitted up with appliances. Secretary Johnson has organized an athletic class of young men, who are drilled Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday evenings, and a business men's class who exercise between the hours of five and six on Monday, Wednesday and Friday afternoons. The shower baths are a luxury that are duly appreciated by the members, and add to the popularity of the rooms.

CHAUTAQUA CIRCLE MEETING.—McLoughlin Chautauqua circle met last Monday evening at the residence of Mrs. E. E. Williams, where a pleasant and profitable meeting was held. The parlors were neatly decorated and Mrs. Williams did everything to make the evening a pleasant one for the guests. After an interesting general discussion on psychology, a short but excellent musical program was presented, consisting of a selection by Mrs. E. E. Charman, Mrs. J. W. Gray and Miss Hattie Monroe, with piano accompaniment by Mrs. Williams; vocal solo by Mrs. E. E. Charman, and piano solo by Mrs. E. E. Williams. Mrs. Charman sang "Kathleen Mavourneen," by special request. On motion of Dr. Ferrin, Col. R. A. Miller was selected leader for the remainder of the class year. Mrs. Williams kindly invited the circle to meet at her residence again next Monday evening, which was accepted.

A STABBING AFFRAY.—Eli Deck, who lives on a rented farm in the Molalla district, came to town last Friday accompanied by his wife and Lon McLane, a boy about 19 years old who lives with them. Deck had been drinking considerably during the day, but they started to drive out home about three o'clock. When they reached the watering trough on Upper Seventh street Deck, who was very quarrelsome made attack on young McLane with a pocket knife severely cutting an artery in his arm. He also made a lunge with the knife at the latter as he climbed out of the wagon cutting a gash in the back of his overcoat, but inflicting no injury. Deck drove on toward home, and a team came along and brought McLane to Dr. Carl's office, where his wounds were dressed. He had bled considerably and was weak from the loss of blood. Shortly afterward Deck returned and gave himself up to the sheriff, and the grand jury returned an indictment against him for malicious and willful assault with a dangerous weapon. Young McLane is said to be a sober and quiet boy, highly spoken of by the neighbors at Molalla, while Deck is inclined to be quarrelsome. Deck was arraigned and plead not guilty. His trial was set for May 13th.

A Challenge.
 MILWAUKEE, Or., April 23, 1906.
 To L. L. Porter, Geo. W. Prosser and Charles Holman.
 Gentlemen:

On behalf of the people's party and as a candidate for representative in this county on the people's party ticket, I hereby challenge you individually and collectively, to canvass Clackamas county in joint discussion with me on the political issues of the day. This is a perfectly fair method of contrasting the principles and candidates of our opposite parties before the voters of our county. In view of the late spring and wet weather, this course is especially desirable at this time, as it will enable the people to judge fairly between our parties and candidates with the smallest possible loss of time from their spring work. Unless you positively decline this challenge, I shall make my dates and places correspond with yours as already published. We will of course pay one-half of all necessary expenses of such a joint canvass. Respectfully yours,
 W. S. URZ.
