FRIDAY, MAY 22, 1906.

UNFORTUNATE DROWNING.—An unfortunate drowning accident occurred in the upper compartment of the locks canal last Thursday night. At 11 o'clock a number of the workmen, as usual, left the Willamette Pulp & Paper mills for their homes. Adam Strange, who resides in Canemah, usually rowed across the river in a boat direct to his home, which saved him a long walk by way of the suspension bridge. Strange had been employed in the Crown mills for two or three years past, until a few weeks ago when he recently gave up his position. A few days ago, however, he went to work in the Willamette mills.
When he did not return home at night, his family presumed that he was working overtime, and becoming uneasy, on Friday noon, sent over one of the children with a lunch, but the boy was unable to find him. A search was at once instituted, and Strange's boat was found tied up at the head of the canal, and his cap was picked up floating in the water. During the afternoon, members of Falls City Lodge, A. O. U. W., of which organization the deceased was a member, made a diligent search for the body of Mr. Strange, as it was evident he had accidentally fallen into the water and drowned. In the evening, the head gate of the locks was closed and when the water had run out, the body of the deceased was found lying on the bed of the upper portion of the canal, where it had sank for the last time.
A bruise on the forehead indicated that when he slipped from the wet pathway, his head had struck a rock, which evidently stunned him, and he unconsciously rolled into the water. The funeral services were held at the Presbyterian church at 2 p. m. Sunday, conducted by Rev. A. J. Montgomery, and Falls City Lodge, A. O. U. W., while the services at the grave were conducted by Multnomah Lodge, No. 1, A. F. & A. M., as he had been a Mason in good standing in an Eastern lodge.
Both organizations escorted his remains from the residence to the church, and from there to the city cemetery, where the interment took place. Deceased was 31 years of age and had resided in Oregon City for a number of years, having been at one time employed in the woolen mills. He leaves a wife and four children and his family relations were most pleasant. Mr. Strange's many friends and fellow workmen speak in the highest terms of praise of his character. W.
P. Hawley, superintendent of the Crown mills, sent his men with lanterns, and aided in finding the remains. Herbert Lang, superintendent of the Willamette mills, presented young Quinn $5 for finding the body, as soon as the water had lowered sufficiently to enable him to reach the bottom of the canal. Coroner Holman held an inquest over the remains Saturday, and the jury brought in a verdict of accidental drowning.

SUCK FORGER ARRESTED.—R. V.
Jackson, the Highland forger, is now in the county jail. Nearly a year ago he forged the names of the Highland school directors to an order on the district clerk, and hypothecated the paper.
As he had been teaching in the district, and there was a temporary dearth of money in the hands of the clerk, it was believed that every thing was all right.
It soon transpired, however, that Jackson had forged the names of the directors, and a warrant was issued for his arrest. Jackson said that he was on his way to town settle the matter up, but met a party who informed him that the constable was on his track. He concluded to jump the country, and went over the Barlow route to Eastern Oregon, and upon reaching Klamath county he secured a school, and after awhile succeeded in engaging another for his wife.
About this time Sheriff Maddock was hot on his track, and had offered a reward of $20 for his arrest. The sheriff of Klamath county was about to take him into custody, when Jackson went over the line and taught a school in Shasta county, California. It was some time before he was again located, but he escaped arrest this time by going out of a building at the rear entrance, while the sheriff was waiting at the front door for him to come out. He was even afraid to get his check cashed for wages due him as the risk involved certain arrest.
He then came to Jackson county, Oregon, and engaged a school at Antelope, where he was teaching until he went to Jacksonville last week to attend the quarterly teachers' examination, where he was arrested by Sheriff Patterson.
Deputy Sheriff Millard Hyatt returned with the prisoner Friday morning, and he is here to face the charge against him. Jackson was cutting a wide swath in his namesake county, and had purchased a horse and buggy, and had added a new single harness which he brought to Oregon City with him. Sheriff Maddock has made every effort to effect Jackson's capture, and the continued correspondence, $20 reward, and printed descriptions, finally proved effective. Jackson says that he was all through California during his meanderings, and now that he has to face the music, he can collect the money due him for teaching in Klamath county and in Shasta county, California. Jackson is of good appearance, and was very successful in securing schools. As he was indicted by the grand jury last November, his case will come up for a hearing at the adjourned June term of the circuit court. Jackson's parents reside at Lebanon, Linn county, and his wife also resides in the same vicinity.

THE WEATHER AND CROPS.—The Weekly Climate and Crop Bulletin, issued by Willis L. Moore, chief of the weather bureau for Oregon, contains some interesting facts regarding the weather and crop conditions for the week ending May 18th. On the morning of the 12th heavy frost occurred in Jackson and Josephine counties, which was followed by a light frost on the 13th.
On the morning of the 16th snow in the mountains and along the foothills. The sunshine was deficient and the rainfall slightly above the average. On account of the continued rains the crops are found to be making a slow growth. The weather is too cool for progress in any the soil too wet to admit of plowing, seeding or gardening, though an attempt was made in some sections. Fall-sown grain has still a healthy color, except on low ground, where the drainage is imperfect. Spring spring grain, although a short crop, is looking well with a few exceptions, and grass is making fairly good progress. No fear is expressed concerning these crops, for a little sunshine and warm, life-giving weather would make them as good as could be desired. Very little garden work has been done. When the soil is cold and sunshine deficient, garden seed will quickly rot in the ground. In Southern Oregon a few have commenced to plant corn, but the rain of the latter part of the week retarded this work.
Should the weather become favorable, large quantities of potatoes will be planted and much oats sown in place of spring wheat. The hop-crop is making an irregular growth. Some vines are half way up the pole, while others are just starting. There is no doubt, but that the cool weather is damaging to fruit. The damage cannot be ascertained until some warm spring weather has had some effect. Sudden, warm weather would be damaging. Peaches, prunes and peaches have suffered the most. Late blooming fruits are suffering most. Crop conditions are a little better in Eastern Oregon.

PARK PLACE SCHOOL.—The graduating exercises of the Park Place school will take place in the public school building Friday evening, May 22nd. This is the fourth year that Prof. Gray has conducted the Park Place school as principal, which now occupies a front rank among the public schools of Clackamas county in the matter of efficiency and a thorough course. Two hundred and eight pupils were enrolled during the past year, the largest number in the history of the school. The other teachers, who have so effectively aided in making the school a success during the past year, are Misses Phoebe Eddy, Mabelle Wiggins and Kate Dolan, the former having been in the school for the past two years.
Following is the program for the graduating exercises, at which time three graduates and five under-graduates, will be participants: Music by the Park Place Band; song by Ada Huertib; invocation; essay, "William Cullen Bryant," by Miss Nora Elliott; oration, "Self Dependence," by Wilbert Garrow; essay, "Natural Resources of Oregon," by Percy Cross; song by Ladies' Quartette of Oregon City; oration, "A Century of Progress," by Willie Williams; recitation, by Miss Dollie Cross; essay, "Rise and Fall of Nations," by Miss Mattie Teleson; oration, "Liberty and Union," by Jessie Faubian; duet, by Misses Dollie Cross and Dottie Bell; essay, "Selt Culture," by Miss Ross Eby; oration, "How to gain an Honored Name," by Winifred Dauchy; presentation of diplomas, by Capt. J. T. Apperson; song, the Ladies' Quartette; valedictory, Joseph Garrow; music, by Park Place Band.

THE FORESTERS BALL.—One of the most pleasant gatherings of the past season, was the Foresters ball at Willamette Hall last Monday evening, given under the auspices of Court Robin Hood.
Thirty-two couple were in attendance, and as it was strictly an invitation affair, only the best class of people gained admittance. This was the last ball of the season, and it proved a memorable event. At nine o'clock the grand march began led by Mr. Fred Miller and Miss Kate Viethier, and the festivities continued until one o'clock in the morning.
An elegant supper was served in the dining parlors of the Novelty Candy Factory; the music was furnished by Doll's orchestra, and everything went off without a hitch. The committee, who had charge of the affair, consisting of J. D. Humphrey, G. R. Wilehart, C. G. Nor-burg, S. G. Godfrey and G. H. Hyatt, deserve special mention for their successful management of the ball. They have demonstrated the fact that they know how to manage a party, without the presence of the hoodlum element.
It was a merry and interesting occasion.

CHENEY'S ART GALLERY.—This establishment, next door to the Red Front store on Main street, is a veritable symposium of art treasures. Here photographs and cabinet pictures are made in the highest style of the art, and by the latest processes, and the latest style of carbon finish pictures are having a great run. Some panoramic views of Oregon City scenery made on an extensive scale are grand. Each view is taken separately, but when pasted together on card board or cloth, so skillfully is the work done, that no break in the continuous panoramic view is perceptible.
This house also makes a specialty of crayon, pastel and water colors in enlarged pictures, and their work speaks for itself. Mr. Cheney, too, is an artist in the line of drawing and etching, and not long ago supplied a Columbus, Ohio, publishing house with a lot of drawings of Oregon birds, which they used in illustrating a book. It is well worth a visit to this art emporium to see the artistic and beautiful.

FOUND NOT GUILTY OF ASSAULT.— Ernest Mass, a conductor on the West Side electric railway, had a hearing before Justice Dixon Saturday, on a charge of assault on the person of Arthur Snider, a woodchopper, who refused to pay his fare. It seems that the Electric Company has been permitting certain woodchoppers to ride to and from their work, without paying fare. Mr. Mass, however, contended that Snider had forfeited his right to ride over the road without paying fare, and when he continued to persist in riding over the road without paying anything for the privilege, the conductor used forcible measures to get him off the car. Hence, the trouble. It was proved that Snider went on board the car at the time the trouble occurred, with a revolver in his pocket, and the jury brought in a verdict of not guilty. G. B. Dimick appeared for the prosecution, and Hedges & Griffith, for Mass.

ALASKA NEWSPAPERS.—Through the courtesy of Mr. Dan O'Neill, formerly of this city but now in the United States custom office at Mary's Island the port of entry for Alaska, THE ENTERPRISE is in receipt of late copies of the Alaska News and Alaska Searchlight, two newspapers published at Juneau. Editorially and typographically these papers will compare well with papers published in the most progressive towns on the coast. A perusal of the advertising column shows that in that far-off northern city all the trades and professions are as fully represented as in the larger towns of this state. Juneau is experiencing a boom equal to our mining towns in their palmy days and with the great gold districts tributary to it is destined to become a city of considerable importance.

NEW GRANGE FORMED.—Clackamas county now has 13 granges, all healthy and prospering, the latest addition to the list being Central grange, so named from the fact that it is almost in the geographical center of Clackamas county.
This grange was instituted last week by Dr. J. Casto, state organizer, who states that it is composed of the very best of farmers and their wives of that neighborhood and bids fair to soon become one of the largest granges in the county.
Frank Jaggar was elected master and William Grisenthwaite secretary.

FOR MINERS.—The necessary blanks for filing on a mining claim can be had at the ENTERPRISE office, as well as blanks for all other needs. Portland prices duplicated.

TEACHERS TO MEET.—On Saturday of this week the regular meeting of the Teachers' Association will be held at Milwaukee. The committee having that matter in hand have prepared a program that is fully equal, and they think in some respects better than that rendered at the recent successful meetings of the associations, and promise a treat to all who attend. The people of Milwaukee are making extensive preparations to entertain their visitors, and they propose to make all teachers and others interested in educational work welcome.

Resolution Passed.

At a regular meeting of Falls City Lodge No. 59, A. O. U. W., held at Oregon City, May 16th, 1896, the following resolution was unanimously passed:

Resolved, We the members of Falls City Lodge, No. 59, A. O. U. W., extend our heartfelt thanks to the management of the Crown Paper company, Willamette Pulp and Paper company and Portland General Electric company for their kindness in closing their works, and for their painstaking and earnest assistance rendered in the search for the body of Brother Adam Strange.

Resolved, That a copy of this resolution be forwarded to the Crown Paper Company, Willamette Pulp & Paper Company, Portland General Electric Company, and published in the papers of Oregon City.
