The Bicycle a Political Power. Nowadays the world may easily be divided into people who wheel and people who do not; the former class seem to hold the balance of power, possessing camera. as they do the solidarity due to this sinassociation, the League of American Wheelmen, successfully fights the great railroads and is hearkened to by municipal and state legislatures. When the wheelmen of Chicago wanted to visit a far Western meeting they insisted that their fares should be at one-half price and the tailroads were terrorized into submission by the threat of having 150,-000 wheelmen solidly arrayed against them. The transporation lines in many states have been forced to do away with express charges on bicycles and treat them as checkable baggage. In several localities the local bicycle associations mave decided that owners of wheels ought to be generally taxed $1 a head for the sake of obtaining better cycling roads, and forthwith the legislative powers bowed before them. In the streets of New York City sprinkling-carts made amcomfortable riding, and an ordinance was at once obtained obliging the watercart owners to leave a strip of unsprineach curbing Legislators are busy with given would if purchased in the regular expert testimony on the question of carrying small children on bicycle handlebars. The League of American Wheelmen is an institution which any presidential candidate would be loath to offend -From "The World's Sporting Impulse," by Charles D. Lanier, in Review of Rewiews for July.
