FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 6, 1906.

THE WEATHER.—What a prolific source of comfort or discomfort the weather is to us. We are continually praising or condemning it, wishing it would be cloudy or fair, stormy or calm, according to the mood we are in. There is nothing more uncertain to bet on than Oregon weather, unless it might be an election in Clackamas county. To say that the weather has been disagreeable the past week is putting it mildly, too mildly in fact. But all this is at an end. Appreciating our situation, B. S. Pague, who has charge of Jupiter Pluvius' business in Oregon and is incidentally connected with the U. S. Weather bureau, will open a station in the Western Union telegraph building the first of next week with Willie Logas in charge. He will inform you when to carry your umbrella and when it will be safe to loan it to your friend, or if that won't do he has promised to furnish weather to suit the most fastidious. In future don't kick at the weather, kick the manipulator of it.

A BRIVANIED CHINAMAN.—Bryan lost a vote last Tuesday by reason of the would-be voter being a Chinaman and consequently debarred from American citizenship. This intelligent populist goes by the name of Wing, and delivers vegetables around town from the Chinese gardens. A few days since while making his rounds delivering vegetables he found one of his best customers making preparation to leave the city. On learning that the family would locate in Arizona he began to make inquiries as to the country and asked the lady to send back word if it was a good country for he wanted to go into a place where he could "no workee much and catchee heap money." He was informed that it was hardly possible that Arizona was so highly favored a place, in fact most Americans had found that they had to work for all the money they got wherever they went, and he was referred to Secor, the leading gentleman of Oregon City, as to points on how to live with little work.

Y. M. C. A.—Messrs. Holdridge and Dickson, the evangelists, will commence a series of meetings for men only at the Y. M. C. A. next Sunday, beginning with a prayer service at 9 A. M. They will also conduct the 4 o'clock meeting. In the evening they will hold union services at the Presbyterian church at 6:15. Each day during the week they will conduct a noon day prayer service at 12:15 and evening services at 7:30. The educational classes will not meet next week.

"Mum Snow"—Lovers of the Japanese national flower, the chrysanthemum, will have an opportunity to feast their eyes on these beauties at the "num" show to be given at the Exposition building in Portland by the Oregon State Horticultural society on November 12, 13 and 14. Chrysanthemums are un-ally fine this year, and almost every grower is confident that he has prize winners. Only a year or two ago, in order to have a display out of the scanty local resources, it was necessary to offer a prize for California bloomers, but since that local florists have surpassed the best productions of that state and can even give the Japanese pointers on how to grow this national flower, Oregon City can boast of some as fine "mums" as can be found anywhere—sure winners if placed in competition with those grown elsewhere.

New Barracks.—Lieutenant Moore, of God's American Volunteers, was in the city last week soliciting funds to establish a barracks here. He met with a fair degree of success but not sufficient to justify opening a barracks at the present, though one will doubtless be established in the near future. The soldiers of this branch discard the British red shirt and wear a uniform similar to the one worn by the Union soldiers during the late war.

CITY ELECTION.—The city election will occur on the first Monday in next month, December 7, at which time a mayor and two councilmen from each ward will be elected. Those whose time of office expires in the First ward are Messrs. J. W. Moffitt and J. J. Cooke; in the Second ward, Messrs. J. L. Porter and Henry Meldrum.

A FURNISHED HOUSE.—Will be rented very reasonably to a family that will guarantee to take good care of the building and belongings. The house is new, plastered, of seven rooms and convenient of location. Apply at this office.

Good Reading for November.

As the autumn evenings grow longer one naturally turns from the out door pleasures, the evening walk, or ride, and seeks entertainment indoors, around the family table and by the fireside. For such a purpose one might go far and find nothing so good as the current November number of Demorest's Magazine. For variety of interest it certainly meets every need, as a glance at its most attractive table of contents will show: Among the descriptive articles we see "The Boston Public Library," "Life in the Tyrolean Mountains," "The Great Muir Glacier," and "The North Pole by Balloon." In fiction there is a capital little story by Clifton Ross called "The Pretty Wit of Captain Paul Jones," the last installment of Robert Louis Stevenson's latest novel, and "The Saving of the ' ' " by Mary Annable Fanton.

Of general interest are an exhaustive article on Women as Lawyers, one of Kate Jordan's sketches of Paris Painters and their Models," a biographical account of Aubrey Beardsley, and a lively symposium from five different points of view on "The Passing of the Small Waist."

In "Home Art" are beautiful patterns for linen embroidery and instruction in the making of hark-bark articles. In "Sanitarian" the cultivation of beauty is discussed. In "Household" some useful suggestions are given in an article on "The Model Hostess." "The World's Progress" keeps abreast of current topics of interest. "The World of Letters and Art" gives interesting bits of information in its department, and the Fashion department is suggestive and well illustrated.

In addition to this wealth of reading matter, there are pictures galore on nearly every page, more than a dozen full-page ones besides all that are necessary to fully illustrate every article capable of being illustrated.

For Young Men and Young Women

There is nothing that will arouse the ire of a young man or woman so quick as to have inferior laundry work put off on them. They may dress ever so well, but if their shirt front or shirt waist is mussed their neat appearance is spoiled. The Troy laundry makes a specialty of ladies' and gentlemen's fine work. There can be no better work than is done at the Troy. Leave your orders at Farnsworth's barber shop.

A Splendid Dinner Given.

To all who dine at the Portland restaurant, opposite the suspension bridge, the finest dinner to be had in Oregon City will be served. A specialty made of fine meats, fish and game. Try our Sunday chicken dinners. Clean table service and efficient help. A quiet place to bring your wife or lady friends. Meals 25 cents.

Best and Cheapest Insurance.

Save money on your insurance by calling on E. E. Martin, who represents the only Mutual doing business in Oregon City. You cannot afford to keep on throwing your money into policies and pay from 3 to 5 years premiums in advance and then have the company fail. The Oregon Fire Relief association will stand the closest investigation.

E. E. MARTIN, AGT.

Commercial Bank Block.

Cures Croup.

"My three children are all subject to croup; I telegraphed to San Francisco, got a half a dozen bottles of S. B. Cough Cure. It is a perfect remedy. God bless you for it. Yours, etc., J. H. Crozier, Grants Pass, Or." For sale by C. G. Huntley, druggist.

The U. S. Gov't Reports show Royal Baking Powder superior to all others.

Thanksgiving Ladies Home Journal.

Marriage is exhaustively discussed in the November Ladies' Home Journal by Mrs. A. D. T. Whitney, who tells her girl friends "The Truth About Marriage," and Dr. Parkhurst, who writes of "The Young Man and Marriage." Both papers, as may be inferred, are able and lucid presentations of the marriage question. The same issue contains the first of "Mr. Moody's Bible Class" articles, which the famous evangelist will contribute to the Journal in the future—as the leader of a great National Bible class.

The initial article of "Great Personal Events" series—in which the conspicuous occurrences of the past half century will be told by eye-witnesses—is also given. In it Hon. A. Oakey Hall recalls "When Jenny Lind Sang in Castle Garden," New York, in 1850, and tells of the unparalleled furor created by the "Swedish Nightingale." There are also two admirable, practical articles on singing, one by Madame Calve, who writes on the "Conquering Race in Music," Americans, and the other by Madame Melba, on the "Vocal Student." Each embodies the experience of its famous author, and details to students of vocal music how to successfully pursue their art. Of special artistic and timely interest is a page illustration by W. L. Taylor, delightfully portraying "Thanksgiving-time in the Colonies," and the cover by K. A. Bell, artistically typifying the season of Thanksgiving. A group of Kate Greenway's children, illustrating Laura E. Richard's poem, "The Picnic Tea," is another striking pictorial page feature. Ex-President Harrison, in his "This Country of Ours" contribution, expresses himself forcibly and with directness on pensions, talks of the civilization of the Indians, and tells of the work of the Secretary of Agriculture. Edward W. Bok, emphasizes the virtues and values of the bath, and deprecates the tendency of mothers to escape the responsibility and care of training their own children. In the line of fiction the November Journal presents the conclusion of Ian Maclaren's charmingly told story, "The Minister of St. Rede's," and a story of fascinating interest, "The Assistant Librarian pro tem," by Robert C. V. Meyers. Lillian Bell writes of "Other Girls" in her characteristically bright and crisp vein; Clifford Howard tells the "Origin of our Names;" Ruth Ashmore advises "The Girl Alone in the City," and J. Harry Adams describes how to make ornate and useful articles of household furniture. There are also contributions upon dress, the table, needlework, home games, and the usual departments. The Thanksgiving Journal is replete with interest and attractive artistically; it is the magazine that appeals to every home. By the Curtis Publishing Co., Philadelphia; one dollar per year; ten cents per copy.

McClure's Magazine for November.

The superior truth and delicacy of the old daguerreotype are made manifest in the November McClure's, where fine reproductions of daguerreotype portraits of Calhoun, Webster, Edward Everett, Dr. Holmes, Jenny Lind, and others, from rare collections still surviving, illustrate an entertaining paper, by Mrs. T. D. Davis, on the development of daguerreotyping in America. Soon after the discovery of the process American daguerreotypes became the finest in the world and there is a strong movement now toward a revival of the art. The paper is, therefore, timely as well as entertaining.

Another richly illustrated paper, in this number, is Ethel Mackenzie McKenna's intimate account of the English artist Alma-Tadema, in his luxurious London house and studio. But, inevitably, the reader's first curiosity will be for the widely announced long story of American life by Rudyard Kipling, of which the opening installment here appears. It opens on an Atlantic "liner," passes dramatically to a Gloucester fishing-schooner on the Grand Banks of Newfoundland, and begins a portrayal of the strange, romantic life of the Yankee fishermen, in the midst of their perilous employment, that promises to be as strong and fine as anything Kipling has done. The illustrations by I. W. Taber are very close to the real life, also.

The other fiction of the number is a clever story of a loss and a recovery of diamonds, with incidental detective exploits; a Thanksgiving love story; and two charming dialogues by Anthony Hope. Then there is one of Cy Warman's true railroad stories—the story of a fierce battle between snow-plows on top of the Rocky Mountains.

Elizabeth Stuart Phelps contributes reminiscences from her experience as a writer of novels and short stories, giving along with confidences regarding her own practice, a spirited statement of her theory of the story-writer's art. Miss Tarbell contributes a most interesting Lincoln paper—an account of Lincoln's nomination to the Presidency in 1860, embracing the personal reminiscences of Senator Palmer, Joseph Medell, Leonard Sweet, and others, through whose personal management the nomination was brought about. The paper is fully illustrated. The S. S. McClure Co., 141-155 East 25th street, New York City.

Many political speakers, clergymen, singers and others who use the voice excessively, rely upon One Minute Cough Cure to prevent hoarseness and laryngitis. Its value as a preventative is only equaled by its power to afford instantaneous relief. C. G. Huntley, druggist.

PURELY VEGETABLE.

BAD BREATH!
Nothing is so unpleasant, nothing so common, as bad breath, and in nearly every case it comes from the stomach, and can be so easily corrected if you will take SIMMONS' LIVER REGULATOR. Do not neglect to secure a remedy for this repulsive disorder. It will also improve your appetite, complexion and general health.

FILES!

How many suffer torture day after day, making life a burden and robbing existence of all pleasure, owing to the secret suffering from Piles. Yet relief is ready to the hand of almost any one who will use systematically the remedy that has permanently cured thousands. SIMMONS' LIVER REGULATOR is so drastic, violent purge, but a gentle assistant to nature.

CONSTIPATION

SHOULD not be regarded as a trifling ailment—in fact, nature demands the utmost regularity of the bowels, and any deviation from this demand paves the way often to serious danger. It is quite as necessary to remove impure accumulations from the bowels as it is to eat or sleep, and no health can be expected where a captive habit of body prevails.

SICK HEADACHE!

This distressing affliction occurs most frequently. The disturbance of the stomach, arising from the imperfectly digested contents, causes a severe pain in the head, accompanied with disagreeable nausea, and this constitutes what is popularly known as Sick Headache, for the relief of which TAKE SIMMONS' LIVER REGULATOR OR MEDICINE.
