STREET CARS COLLIDE.

An Accident Near Milwaukee on the East Side Railway.

Tuesday evening about 5 o'clock two electric cars on the East Side railway line collided just north of the Orchard switch, between Milwaukee and Sellwood. No serious damage was done other than smashing in the vestibules of the cars. It seems that all the cars on the line were some fifteen minutes late owing to the temporary lack of power. The Olive, with Max Howell, conductor and Pat McGrath, motorman, had arrived at Orchard switch, and being unable to call up the train dispatcher at Portland, owing to a break in the telephone wire, waited the seven minutes that the rules of the company prescribed where no definite orders are received, and then pulled out for the next switch. They had proceeded but a short distance when they saw the Helen with Jas. Oliver, conductor and G. Keller, motorman, coming down the long grade from Sellwood, where they had waited and not being able to receive any orders, had started to make the Orchard switch. Both motormen instantly reversed their motors. The Olive being on level ground, was brought to a standstill by Motorman McGrath, while the Helen, coming down the grade, could not be stopped so quickly and slid into the other car with her wheels spinning backwards.

Both motormen stood heroically at their posts to the last, Mr. McGrath escaping without a scratch, while Mr. Keller was badly cut about the face with broken glass.

The men were all laid off according to fixed rule of the company, pending investigation, the result of which has not yet been made public.

The damaged cars were immediately run into the car barn at Milwaukee and the badly frightened, though unhurt passengers transferred to other cars and taken to their destinations.

The accident was one of those unavoidable affairs in which no one seems to have been to blame. Both conductors and motormen are among the oldest, most careful, painstaking and trustworthy men on the line. It was due simply to the fact that the telephone line failed to work.

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVORERS.

Third Annual Session Held in Oregon City Last Week.

The Christian Endeavor societies of Clackamas county, convened in their third annual session in the Baptist church in this city on Friday evening at 7:30 o'clock. Mr. Chas. H. Dye, of this city delivered the address of welcome, which was responded to by Mr. W. S. Runyan, of Clackamas. The address of the evening was delivered by Rev. E. E. W. Ackerman, of the Portland First Congregational church. It was an earnest and scholarly appeal for the improvement of the opportunities that come to us in youth.

Rev. A. J. Montgomery, the president gave an expository talk on the 2nd chapter of 2d Timothy, mentioning seven points in the chapter as containing the special lessons for endeavorers for the ensuing year.

Miss Marguerite Wall's paper "Side Tracking the Pledge," was so greatly appreciated that it was read by request at the union service Sunday evening.

Rev. Ray Palmer, of the Portland Second Baptist church, gave an earnest, practical, evangelical sermon Saturday evening on the "Need of the Holy Spirit."

Rev. M. L. Rugg delivered an eloquent and forceful address on "Danger Signals," emphasizing the various tendencies of the present day that were evidences of great danger and unless the signals were heeded would lead us into grave errors.

Dr. J. W. Cowan gave a very practical, interesting and helpful talk on "Bible Study and its Advantages."

The Sunday afternoon Junior rally conducted by Mrs. Driggs was very interesting and largely attended considering the inclemency of the weather.

The closing evangelistic service was a very interesting meeting. Evangelist Holdridge delivered a plain, pointed and pungent sermon on the theme of "Testing Times."

The very stormy weather that prevailed during the sessions of the convention kept the attendance much lower than was expected. The following officers were chosen for the ensuing year: G. H. Bestow, president; Fred Myers, recording secretary; B. M. Fish, of Milwaukee, corresponding secretary; Mrs. W. B. Wiggins, treasurer.

Probate Court.

The will of the late P. A. Weiss admitted to probate. He makes disposition of his property as follows: All income above expenses to go to his brother Francois, of Illinois, during his life and at his death to be divided between Sarah E. Miller, Emma Bieher and Mrs. Aggie Thayer, who are also to receive balance of property. To Wm Thayer is bequeathed 40 acres of land at the mouth of the Tualatin and to S S Thayer a $1000 loan without security. H. L. Frazier and Geo. W. Swope are named as executors without bonds. Schuyler Rue, Henry Blankenship and Mr. Davis were appointed appraisers.

Final report of S. C. Perdue, executor of the estate of J. F. Perdue, deceased, filed and January 4, 1897, set as time for final hearing.

Final distribution of Joseph Hodges estate ordered.

Sale of eight acres of real estate of Angie Kellog for $300 by J. T. Apperson as guardian, confirmed.

Semi-annual report of George Lazelle and Thomas Ducon as executors of the estate of J. K. Bingham, filed.

Report of Henry Miley, as special administrator of Geo. Fretz estate filed and Chas. Henz appointed administrator of estate.

Mrs. Isabella McElsander died last July and will Mrs. Gardner, of Damascus, her house and several acres of land, valued at $1000, leaving her husband a life interest only in the estate. McElsander contested the will on the ground that his wife was incompetent to make a will at the time she made it, only a few days prior to her death. Judge Hayes confirmed McElsander objections and declared the will null and void.

CLACKAMAS COUNTY.

Summary of the Assessment Roll as Compiled by the Assessor.

County Assessor Bradley has completed the footings of the assessment roll for Clackamas county and compiled the following summary.

Table with 2 columns: Description and Amount. Includes 65,505 acres tillable land, 358,272 acres non-tillable land, improvements on deeded lands, town and city lots, improvements on town and city lots, improvements on land not deeded or patented, miles of railroad bed, railroad rolling stock, merchandise and stock in trade, farming implement, wagons, carriages, etc., steamboats, sailboats, stationary engines, etc., money, notes and accounts, 454 shares of stock, household furniture, watches, jewelry, etc., 3629 horses and mules, 8087 head of cattle, 11,000 sheep and goats, 4496 hogs.

Gross value of all property, $4,824,744. Exemptious, 57,797.

Total taxable property, $4,486,977.

This is the assessment passed the county equalization board. Last year the total as equalized by the county was $5,107,722, and as fixed by the state board of equalization, $4,644,809, the latter amount being $477,892 less than the summary this year.

Pigskin Puncters.

Thanksgiving day the First Oregon City foot ball team, styling themselves the "Tigers," will meet the Second eleven, known as the "Bears," in one of the hottest contested games of the season. The boys have been training nearly every day for the past month and are in good, hard condition. The "Bears" are a younger and somewhat lighter team than the "Tigers" but as they are quicker and have been training harder the odds are in their favor, but the outcome is by no means certain. The teams will line up as follows:

Interest is petty evenly divided between the teams and each one will have a large crowd of rooters to cheer their good plays. The "Tigers" cry is: Ra, ra, ra, zip, boom, ba! Ha, ha, ha, who are we. We are Tigers don't you see, Ra, ra, ra, whoop a la!

While the Bears will be greeted with ear splitting Boom a lac, boom a lac, Zip, ba, boom. Boom a lac, boom a lac, Give us room. Bears we are, zip, ba, boom.

The game will be called promptly at 10:30 so as not to interfere with Thanksgiving dinners and also to give those who desire it an opportunity to see the home game and the Multnomah-Eugene game at 3 o'clock in Portland.

Ladies at the Y. M. C. A. Gymnasium.

A young ladies class has been formed at the Y. M. C. A. gymnasium with Mr. Levi Johnson as instructor. Some of the class have been at work for several weeks, but a permanent organization was not effected until Wednesday of this week when Miss Winnie Graham was elected president, Miss May Kelly secretary and Miss Annie Bebb assistant secretary. Wednesday and Friday afternoons will be ladies days and on these days neither gentlemen nor spectators will be allowed to visit the gymnasium hall. There are now 25 members enrolled which is the limit for class work owing to lack of room. An active interest is already shown in all of the work as it is felt that the exercise is beneficial to all and almost a necessity to those confined in school rooms and in offices.

LOCAL LAND OFFICE MATTERS.

Secretary's Letter Regarding Indemnity School Lands in Oregon City District.

The Oregon City land office is in receipt of a letter in reference to the state's indemnity school selections, the list presented for approval last January being particularly considered. That list was submitted January 7, but Land Agent Dayenport was obliged to wait his turn in the line of applicants, and when he presented his list it was found to be in conflict with filings made before he got a hearing. Register Miller was asked to approve the part of the list that was not in conflict, but he declined to do so, saying that the list as a whole must stand or fall as presented, and that he had no right to alter it in any respect. The next day an amended list was offered by the state, but it was not free from conflict with previous entries and was rejected. Three days later the governor asked the register to note on his maps as state land the tracts not in conflict, but the register responded that he had no authority to do so. Then he sent one of the triplicate lists back to the governor, with the statement that other filings had been allowed since it had been rejected.

The secretary's letter contains no comfort for the state, because the state did not appeal in regular form, and because it allowed six months to pass instead of attempting an appeal within the 30 days prescribed for such proceedings. "Failure to appeal within the prescribed period from the rejection of an application defeats the right of the applicant to be heard in the presence of an intervening adverse claim." However, the action of the local office is not unqualifiedly approved. The letter says: "Your action in rejecting the list presented January 8, was proper. When, however, the Governor, three days later, waived the state's claim to land previously entered you should have approved the list, and under no circumstance should you have allowed an entry for any land covered by said list during the 30 days within which the state had the right of appeal from your action. An application however, could have been received and noted, but held in abeyance pending final action on the state's list by submitting a new list January 20, the state did not lose any rights it had under the list filed January 8."

The reason Register Miller allowed the entries to be made was in order to save the people, who were making a homestead the expense a contest. This ruling makes it possible for the state to hold up land for an indefinite period, while it is settling upon its indemnity lists, though it has no effect on lists already dealt with.

Obituary.

DIED—At his home in Parkplace on Saturday, November 14, 1896, Andrew J. Washburn, aged 64 years, 2 months and 17 days.

Mr. Washburn came to Oregon fifteen years ago from New York after living in East Portland and Eastern Oregon for some years he moved with his family to Parkplace in 1890 and engaged with his son-in-law Geo. Hamilton in general merchandise business. He was a man of strict integrity and one who made friends with all who came to know him. He leaves a wife and one daughter, Mrs. Geo. Hamilton, to mourn the loss of a devoted husband and kind father.

The funeral services took place Sunday at 11 a. m. in the hall of Multnomah lodge No. 1, A. F. and A. M. of which order the deceased was an honored member.

The services opened with a beautiful song, rendered by a choir of the leading singers of Oregon City, after which Miss Mabel Haglan sang that wonderfully sympathetic song, "One Sweetly Solemn Thought."

The remains were inclosed in a handsome casket and on being brought into the room were placed in the center of the hall where the casket was covered with many appropriate offerings of flowers. In addition to the members of the lodge and of the family, there were present a number of friends who had come to show their regard for the family and the memory of the deceased.

A brief address was then delivered by Rev. Henderson of Portland, in which he touched on the noble character of the deceased and the patriotism he had displayed in going to the defense of his country in the days of '61.

Then followed the grand and impressive burial rites of the Masonic order, conducted under the direction of Worshipful Master J. H. Walker. With the close of the services the pall bearers, Capt. J. T. Apperson, E. E. Williams, A. F. Parker, Jos. Lvnch, Sidney Smyth and W. H. H. Samson bore the casket to the hearse whence it was taken to the Masonic cemetery where the closing rites of the order were rendered.
