Thanks to the Band Boys.
 We would like to thank the Parkplace band boys for their kindness and respect shown in the serenade on Monday night. They marched to our house and played three or four pieces, after which they were invited into the house, when they again played some very nice music. We beg to say that they, knowing us to belong to the folds of God's army, called the Salvation Army, they asked for no liquors and we hope they enjoyed themselves as well as we did. For their farewell time they played "God be with you 'till we meet again." We respect this by asking God's blessing to be bestowed upon the band boys of Parkplace. With our kindest respects and best wishes, we remain

COLONIAL DELICACIES.

Thanksgiving Dishes That Ticked the Palates of Our Forefathers.

In later days, when the colonies had just finished the war of the Revolution, the Thanksgiving dinner was not confined to a consumption of turkey. There were other dainties considered to be finer than turkey. The royal roast goose was a great favorite with the colonial dames who prided themselves upon their cookery.

Epicures of the modern school all know that the delicate flavor of the prize canvasback duck is due to the fact that it feeds largely upon juniper berries, and the colonial ladies displayed rare knowledge when they flavored the dressing of the goose with these berries. Another Thanksgiving dish highly prized by colonial epicures was ham baked in cider, and if the same delicacy were prepared today it might make the fortune of some ambitious chef. This is the way it was done a hundred years ago:

Wipe a whole ham clean and put in a baking pan, skin side down and over the flesh side sprinkle one-half a teaspoonful each of pepper, cloves and allspice and one-quarter of a teaspoonful of juice and cover all with a little onion juice. Into the bottom of the pan put a sprig of celery, two bay leaves and a slice of onion. Put a cup of flour in a bowl and add sufficient water to make a paste, cover the ham with the paste as far down as the skin and then turn into the pan two quarts of cider. Put in a hot oven and cook for 3 1/2 hours, basting every 15 minutes. When cooked, take off the crust, turn over and take off the skin and put in another pan with the fat side up. Brush over with a beaten egg, sprinkle with chopped parsley and bread crumbs and bake in a hot oven for one hour, when it will be ready to serve.—San Francisco Examiner.

Dr. Dewey Favors Southern Cooking.

Chauncey Dewey actually licked his chops when asked about his Thanksgiving dinner. "Give me," he said, "a bird from my Hudson river farm cooked by an old mammy from Virginia. No one but a southern dandy can cook a turkey. A colored woman knows how to spice up the animal until it tastes like a drop of sweet nectar, and she understands getting it rich and done. Give me old mammy's cooking every time. We used to have an old mammy so lazy she wouldn't move, but when it came to Thanksgiving time she'd rouse herself and cook a turkey to the taste of the queen, or to my own taste—quite as critical a one."—Selected.

A Reminder of the Fathers.

Thanksgiving day comes with its annual reminder of the fathers, who in the midst of their poverty and distress thanked God for their blessings and had hope for the future. It is the self sacrifice of one generation that constitutes the prosperity of the next. The rock of Plymouth is no stony boulder to be shielded from rough contact by a marble canopy. It is rather a sure faith in the supreme obligations of duty and of personal character as the main element of durable success.—Independent.

Thanksgiving Bonny.

One of the benign results of the observance of Thanksgiving day is the encouragement it gives to public benevolence. While it is a day set apart for the acknowledgment of national, family and personal blessings, every American is taught from childhood that on this day he must share the loaf, feed the hungry and give ear to the cry of distress. The significance of the day is lost to those who appropriate it solely for personal gratification and selfish enjoyment.—Exchange.

A Thanksgiving Thought.

There is something lacking in the sincerity of the man who goes into the temple on Thanksgiving day to acknowledge the good gifts of Providence to him if he has done nothing through the year or on this day to uplift his fellows, to bring sunshine into sunless hearts and to distribute in some measure the benefactions which we all hold in trust for the benefit of the helpless sons and daughters of men.—Selected.

Chestnut Sauce For Boiled Turkey.

Shell and blanch three dozen French chestnuts. Boil in water enough to cover them for 30 minutes. Drain off the water and pound the nuts to a paste. Add a tablespoonful of salt and a dash of cayenne pepper. Stir gradually into the paste a pint of milk. Rub the mixture through a coarse puree sieve and place over the fire in a double boiler to cook for half an hour.—Selected.

New England Pumpkin Pie.

Take a firm pumpkin, pare, cut up and stew until dry. To a quart of stewed pumpkin add a cup of molasses, a cup of sugar, the beaten yolks of 6 eggs, half a cup of butter, a pint of milk, half a teaspoonful each of ground ginger and cinnamon, with a pinch of salt. Mix well and pour into deep pie pans lined with puff paste. Bake in a well heated oven.—Eliza R. Roper.

Inappropriate Dishes.

Mince pie and plum pudding, wrapped in blue flames, find places on some tables. Really they do not belong there. By right they should be relegated to Christmas, with the fruit cake just a year old, for if there is a New England dish it is the golden pumpkin pie.—Exchange.

Mrs. W. B. Meek, who resides at Campionville, Cal., says her daughter was for several years troubled at times with severe cramps in the stomach, and would be in such agony that it was necessary to call in a physician. Having read about Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy she concluded to try it. She found that it always gave prompt relief. It was seldom necessary to give the second dose. "It has not only saved us lots of worry and time," she says, but also doctor bills. It is my opinion that every family should have a bottle of this remedy in the house." For sale by Geo. A. Harding, druggist.

Sick-poison is a poison which makes you sick. It comes from the stomach. The stomach makes it out of undigested food.

The blood gets it and taints the whole body with it. That's the way of it.

The way to be rid of it is to look after your digestion.

If your stomach is to weak to see to this properly by itself, help it along with a few doses of Shaker Digestive Cordial. That's the cure of it.

It positively cures indigestion and prevents the formation of sick-poison. At druggists. Trial bottles 10 cents.

A thorough course will be given in decorative art, painting on china, silk, velvet, mole skin etc. A specialty of drawing and painting from life and still life. The course for those who wish to become teachers is the same as the best French art schools.
