It Is to Always Look Pleasant and Do Ne

"What is the first duty of a good traveler?" asked a young lady who was about to start from New York on an extended European tour.

"To look pleasant and never to grumwas the answer of a veteran wanderer who had crossed the ocean 20 times and gone twice around the world.

It was a good prescription and will Nuggets of Gold and Wooden Slugs Used belp to make a good traveler of any novice. The fatigue of the longest journey can be patiently endured if one can only be amiable and avoid the weariness that comes from fretting over what is unavoidable and worrying over trifles.

An American girl not long ago spoiled the pleasure of a party of tourists by complaining of everything on sea and en land. The ship was a dreadful roller, the cabins were badly ventilated, the cooking was abominable, the service was shocking, the officers were uncivil, and the passengers were disagreeable and stupid! Nothing suited her, and she had not a good word for anybody. Every member of the party was indignant over her want of amiability.

"It makes me almost seasick merely to look at ber!" exclaimed one of the

"Perhaps she will cheer up," was the charitable response, "when she reaches

But she was as unhappy on land as she had been at sea. She was angry with the customs officers and told them that they had mauled and ruined her best gown. She found fault with the lovely rural scenery between Southampton and London. She pronounced English cooking to be utterly vile. She inveighed bitterly against the weather and the climate. She was not interested in cathedrals, castles, palaces, pictures, colleges, ruins or country roads. She was bored by everything she saw.

One night she received a round robin signed by every other member of the party, expressing regret that she was not enjoying her journey and offering their sympathies in her vexations and discomforts. It was a bold stroke on the part of her friends, who were worn out by her tiresome peevishness. Fortunately it was not unsuccessful. Not another word of complaint was heard from her during the remainder of the tour.

A pleasant, cheerful face and manper that express kindliness and good will make the best passport which a traveler can carry into a foreign country. They insure civility and courtesy from officials, fellow travelers and strangers and are an unfailing resource whenever there is any misadventure .-Youth's Companion.

TO BUILD A ROAD.

Experience Necessary to Overcome the Many Problems.

Waterbury American, in an article on the building of a piece of road in that town, has this scintillating jewel of fact:

ous ones have carried out their own were diametrically opposed to each other, we never were blessed with many good roads,"

Nor will the roads of the country ever be classified as "good," to say nothing of "fair" or "tolerable," until the farmers are taken off the roads and regular roadbuilders employed, for it is as certain as anything can be that hauling mud on the roads, mixing it with clods of turf and sand, will never road repairing is a science, a trade. Every Tom, Dick and Harry cannot make a good road. It is a work which requires study, and a road must be built on a regular plan. Roads differ in construction as in situation. The matter of location-dry and sandy soil or wet and clayey soil-has everything to do with the permanence of the read. As that well known advocate of good roads, G. W. Bradley of Newtown, says, "You can't make a good road by hauling loam on to loam or sand on to sand." Yet that is what many farmers who make zoads do and are surprised because travelers over the roads find fault.

There is just one way, and only one, to build a good road, and that is to hire a man who knows how, who has put some thought into the subject, who has had experience and is not too anxious to "work out his taxes."-Ansonia (Conn. ) Sentinel.

PRAIRIE ROADWAYS.

When Properly Drained, They Keep In

Fairly Good Condition. The dry weather of the last three years has taught us this lesson, that if the road is only dry it will be fairly good, writes James Yuill in Cedar Rapids Gazette. Indeed the only enemy to our dirt road is water, and the secret of keeping these roads in the best condition is to take care of the water in the soil by drainage, by having the surface of the road well rounded and keeping it in that shape, and prevent washing by keeping the surface smooth and the ruts filled up. To keep the roads in the proper condition it is necessary to do work at intervals during the whole season. A great amount of work is not required, but it must be done at the right time. No depression must be permitted to remain and hold water, but low places filled up as soon as discovered, and after every rain, as soon as the soil is stiff enough, the grader should be used to smooth the surface and fill up the ruts. But the grader should never be used when the soil is too dry to pack, as it makes a ridge of dust which the first rain changes into mud.

One feature in our road system, always overlooked when our roads are compared with those of eastern states or foreign countries, is the number we are required to maintain. We have more than twice as many roads in the same space as can be found in the old and thickly populated districts of France and England, with the added disadvantage of having always to follow a straight line. But, despite of all drawbacks, our roads can be kept fairly good if intelligently cared for, and to bring about that condition it is absolutely necessary that the payment of the property road tax in labor should be abol-

QUEER BULLETS.

by Hunters In Emergencies.

When a hunter in the old days lost all his bullets or hadn't any to shoot with, he usually devised substitutes F N Elliott to C R Noblet, Jan 11. that on occasion served the purpose well. All sorts of things have been fired at game or Indians, as the case might be. Old Hank Ellison, living up in Jefferson county, N. Y., told to his dying day how he was cooped up by Indians out west once with a little lead, lots of powder, a belt full of gold nuggets, a fine rifle and a bullet mold. It was on the top of a knoll where his log cabin had been built, and he had a barrel of water and a lot of wood for emergencies. The Indians kept just out of range, dashing in once in awhile to draw his fire. He soon used his bullets up and then used the gold. He fired nearly half his fortune at the redskins before they left him.

Many a hunter has used a pebble in the hope of getting a close deadly shot. Jackknives and ramrods have served their time as missiles. Forest and Stream tells about a hunter who had only a single bullet, but lets of powder. The bullet shot the horn of a big buck off, and the buck charged the man, who took to a tree top. He spent half an B Nalley to J L Love, Feb 7, '56, W hour whittling off two inch lengths of branches and putting them into his rifle. Then he rammed them down on the powder and fired at the maddened deer. His partner came along after awhile Peter H Hatch to W L Adams, Oct with a belt full of bullets and, making a run for the tree, gave a bullet to the shooter, who quickly killed the deer.-New York Sun.
