A thrilling chapter of secret war history will be related in McClure's magazine for March by General John M. Thayer, formerly United States senator from Nebraska. It is an account of a night passed alone with Secretary Stanton in the war office when the latter was expecting that President Johnson would attempt to dispossess him of his office by force of arms.

There are some people who are never positive in anything. It is always, "I don't know," or "I guess so." There is a world of such people, and it is refreshing sometimes to hear a person speak as one having convictions, like Mr. Chas. F. Sick-poison is a poison which makes you sick. It comes from the stomach. The stomach makes it out of undigested food.

The blood gets it and taints the whole body with it. That's the way of it. The way to be rid of it is to look after your digestion.

If your food is all properly digested, there will be none left in the stomach to make sick-poison out of.

If your stomach is too weak to see to this properly by itself, help it along with a few doses of Shaker Digestive Cordial.

That's the cure for it.

Shaker Digestive Cordial is a delicious healthful, tonic cordial, made of pure medicinal plants, herbs and wine.

It positively cures indigestion and prevents the formation of sick-poison.

"How can Schilling's Best tea cost so little and be so good?"

Easy. It is roasted every day in San Francisco—like fresh coffee and peanuts.

Other tea is roasted once a year in Japan, etc—like stale coffee and stale peanuts.

THE BAL MASQUE.

The Leading Social Event of the Season.

The crowning social event of the season was the grand bal masque given at the armory last Tuesday evening under the patronage of Me-dames Holman, Clark, Miller and Huntley. At least fifty couples, representing the cream of Oregon City's social circles, gathered at the hall and indulged in the pleasures of the terpsichorean art. Every detail of preparation had been looked after in a manner that assured success. The hall was beautifully decorated with flags, festoons of bunting, ferns and Oregon grape and flowers, transforming the room into a perfect bower of beauty and loveliness. Light refreshments, nicely arranged, were served during the evening in the reception room. The music by Parson's orchestra was perfect and the merry masquers correspondingly happy. The scene presented when the dancing begun was one of great brilliancy, king, prince, duke, Indian chief, coachman, monk, colonial dame, cowboy, all mingling together and keeping time to the enchanting music.

Below is appended a partial list of those present:

Progressive Heart Party.

The Misses Cochran entertained about 20 of their young lady friends last Monday evening in a most charming manner. A penny guessing contest was the first feature in which several persons answered the same number of questions. Upon drawing, Miss Florence Morey captured the prize. Miss Amy Kelly propped the unlucky one in this game and received the consolation prize. Neatly decorated hearts were then distributed from which partners were selected and four tables of progressive hearts were made up. At each progression a grab bag was passed in which numerous packages were stowed. These contained a variety of favors, both dainty and amusing. At the conclusion it was found that Miss Nora Conyers had the least number of hearts, receiving prize number one and as Miss Ednetta Chase had the greatest number, she took number two. After this a delicious lunch was served. Among the cakes was one which contained the mystical ring, thimble, money and a button. These were received respectfully by Miss Ednetta Chase, Mrs. Lovett, Miss Lura

Miller and Miss Hixon. The rooms were prettily decorated with traceries of smilax and bouquets of violets. Those present were Me-dames J. P. Lovett, F. R. Charman, F. T. Griffith, Misses Ednetta and Sade Chase, Florence Morey, May and Amy Kelly, Winona Williams, Nettie Hixon, Mary and Nora Conyers, Vera Pilbury, Neita McCarver, Louise Rice, Imogene Harding, Lora Miller, Misses Cochran.

Probate Court.

The will of Robert Thompson, who died at Marquam, February 11, 1897, was admitted to probate Monday. The will was executed November 27, 1894, and it bequeaths to the widow $900 in cash and the home property at Marquam.

If she should leave the place or marry again, the home would go to the son, Charles D. The two two daughters, Mary J. and Rosanna Robbins, are given $500 each, and a third daughter, is released from the obligation to pay $2250 which she had had from her father, as her part of the estate. By a codicil, executed July 20, 1895, the household furniture and effects are bestowed upon the widow, on the same conditions as the other property, and $1700 is given to the son, Wade. Deeds to the other children already executed and to be delivered at the death of the testator are to take the place of the other bequests.

The estate consists of real property valued at $800 and personal property worth $3000. Charles D. Thompson is named as executor without bond, and letters were issued accordingly.

Music in Schools.

Vocal and instrumental music has come to be such a part in the exercises in all public schools that a musical instrument is absolutely a necessity in a school building. In all the larger towns the district furnishes the organ as it does the other appliances for the school. The Parkplace-Gladstone school having no musical instrument in their school have determined to purchase an organ and to that end the scholars for some time past have been making every effort to raise the money required and now have some $30 in their organ fund.

To raise the remainder of the money needed they will give an entertainment at the school house on Saturday evening March 13 at which that most laughable comic drama, "The Old Hickory Farm" will be given. The talent who will handle the various characters are among the brightest boys and girls of that place, which is sufficient to insure that the play will be well rendered. The musical part of the program both vocal and instrumental will be first-class. The admission will be 20 cents for adults and 10 cents for children.

Died.

McCue—In this city on Sunday, February 28, 1897, Mrs. Sarah McCue, aged 77 years and 3 months.

Mrs. McCue was a native of Ohio and a pioneer of 1847, in which year she came to Oregon City, making her home most of the time on Molalla avenue, where she died. She was a devout member of the Congregational church. The funeral took place from the family residence Tuesday, conducted by Dr. J. W. Cowan. The interment was in the Masonic cemetery.

Concert Given by the Treble Clef Double Quartet.

Oregon City people were treated to an evening of unalloyed pleasure at the concert given by the Treble Clef quartet, under the leadership of Mrs. E. E. Williams at Shively's opera house last Friday, and the large and critical audience manifested its hearty approval of the exercises by enthusiastic applause.

The concert opened with two selections by the quartet, which were very well received. W. H. Burghardt's fine baritone voice was then heard to advantage in "Good Bye Sweet Day," and he was obliged to respond to an encore.

The Misses Draper's rendition of Liszt's second Hungarian Rhapsodie, No. 2, called forth prolonged applause and the audience would not be contented until they responded with another equally well rendered selection. Mrs. Gordon E. Hayes' full, rich contralto voice in her solo, "O Wondrous Youth," blended harmoniously with the violin obligato played by Miss Mattie Draper, and she was heartily thanked by the audience.

Miss Ragland, Oregon City's favorite soprano, displayed the power and compass of her voice in the solo entitled an "Invitation to Dance," and responded graciously to the demands of the audience with another equally well rendered selection.

The quartet received well earned applause in the opening of the second part of the program with "Jack and Jill" and "The Old Oaken Bucket" and responded to the spirited applause with their catchy and taking "Bumble Bee" song. The violin solo by Anton Zilm, of Portland, was exquisitely rendered to the evident delectation of the audience when he responded with another pleasing selection. Prof. Zilm is by far the finest violinist that has ever appeared in Oregon City and his numbers will long be remembered as very pleasing. James Meikle's tenor solo received such appreciation that brought him out again with another selection. Six scenes of black statuary, three representing the duellists and three the wrestlers, and the parallel bar work was well rendered and duly appreciated.

The entertainment closed with the grand old cantata, "The Old Clock on the Stairs" by the quartet assisted by Messrs. Nicholas Michels, James Meikle, Henry Pusey, G. W. Bestow, S. Gibson, E. E. Williams, F. A. Miller, W. H. Burghardt and Williams Wright. The ladies wore white caps and aprons and the gentlemen white wigs, all wearing costumes of black.

The concert was given for the benefit of the Y. M. C. A. and netted a neat sum for that worthy institution.

Mrs. Williams and her popular quartet have again demonstrated their ability to render classical music with a touch of the masters themselves and are sure to be greeted with a large audience whenever they appear.
