GREAT GATHERING

Willamette Valley Chautauqua Association Meets.

THE FOURTH ANNUAL ASSEMBLY.

Gladstone Park Filled With a Happy Throng of People on Education and Pleasure Bent.

Tuesday morning, July 13, the fourth annual assembly of the Willamette Valley Chautauqua assembly was opened at Gladstone Park. The weather was all that could be desired and the outlook was very auspicious for the most successful assembly yet held by the association. The grounds had been put in splendid shape, the water service had been made perfect, while the many electric lights gave to the beautiful grove a most enchanting appearance at night. Every officer was on hand and the work of the association was taken up with scarcely any delay or confusion.

The program opened at 11 o'clock, a. m. with music by the Chemawa Indian band. An address of welcome by the president, Col. R. A. Miller, extending a hearty welcome to his fellow Chautauquans followed. The address was responded to by W. C. Hawley, president of Willamette university, after which the several professors who are to have charge of the different departments, made their appointments.

After dinner the program opened with a selection by the Chemawa Indian band. Edward Page Gaston, of Chicago was then introduced and delivered his interesting lecture on "Mexico." He told of the existing conditions of currency in Mexico, saying that a dollar of American money was worth 20 Mexican ones, that the wages of the working class was from 25 to 50 cents a day, but that about six cents per day was all that was required to feed a Mexican laborer. He told of the non-progressiveness of the Mexicans, of their conservatism, and adherence to old Mexican customs. He closed with an account of his climb to the summit of Popocatepetl.

At 4 o'clock, a game of base-ball between the Chemawa Indian boys and a team which was made up from players who could be picked up on the grounds, was played, the score resulted 13 to 8, in favor of the Chemawa boys.

At 5 o'clock short speeches were had at the round table under the direction of Dean Van Scoy, of Portland university. The following program was rendered:

Music—Multnomah quartet.
Short address—Rev. Dr. Fisher, editor of the Pacific Christian Advocate, who spoke of his impressions of Mexico.
Music—Multnomah quartet.
Address—Rev. Edward Page Gaston, of Chicago, on "Citizenship."

In the evening a musical program had been arranged, and was rendered to the great delight of the audience. Following is the program:

Music—Chemawa band.
Solo—Prof. R. A. Heritage.
Music—Multnomah quartet.
Violin solo—Reginald L. Hidden, of Vancouver, accompanied by Prof. E. E. Coursen.
Vocal solo—Mrs. Susie Hert-Mark, of San Francisco.
Piano solo—Mrs. Anna Evenden, of Portland.
Vocal solo—Mrs. H. E. Holland, of Salem, with violin obligato by Prof. Hidden.
Paper—"Conspiracy of Cataline," Mrs. F. A. Kinney, of Portland.
"Scene from Cataline"—Reproduced by 20 young men from Portland, with William Rasmus as Cicero.
Vocal solo—Mrs. Cassius U. Barlow, Barlow.
Music—Cardinal ladies' quartet, Salem.
Solo—Mrs. J. H. Strickler, Oregon City.
Music—Hateyon chorus, Oregon City.

The evening's program had the one defect of being too long. The music was, however, all of a high grade character, and the management is to be congratulated upon the success of the first night's concert.

On Wednesday morning after the class work, Chaplain C. C. Bateman of the United States army, delivered a lecture on the subject, "The Soldier a Factor in Civilization." Dr. Bateman, in a brief introductory, told some short stories of garrison life which were highly amusing. During his address, he spoke of the popular impression that a vast number of Indians have been killed in conflict with the whites. On the contrary not more than 6,000 Indians have perished at the hands of the white man, while many more atrocities have been committed on the part of the Indian, and while he has lifted more scalps than we, yet we have been more expert in knocking him down with a bottle. At no previous period in the history of nations, has there been so large standing armies, and so many threatening warships and nations are continuing to arm themselves. He spoke of the prospects of a universal peace which should herald the dawn of the millennium. He said that the stimulus given to the inventive mind by improvement in instruments of warfare may lead to a peace, merely from an economic standpoint. He said that the soldier must be disarmed as the ages advance, and it was only a question of time when the people would not permit the maintenance of a large standing army.

In the afternoon at two o'clock, Mrs. Susie Hert-Mark, the sweet singer of California, rendered another of her delightful solos.
Following this, was a recitation of Les Miserables, by Miss, Ida Benley, of New York. Miss Benley is rightly represented as being a professional story teller. Her rendition of Hugo's great masterpiece was exceedingly entertaining, and the interest of the audience was sustained throughout, as Miss Benley reproduced the humorous and pathetic elements of the world's great novel.

The athletics which had been announced for this afternoon at four o'clock, was postponed to a later date.

At the round, table short talks were made by Mrs. E. W. Allen, of Portland; President Boardman, of McMinnville college, and Chaplain C. C. Bateman, of the U. S. army.

A feature of the program was two catchy recitations, by Miss. Blanch George of the State normal school at Monmouth.

In the evening at 8:15, Mrs. Hert-Mark of San Francisco, sang another of her pleasing solos.
After a skillfully executed violin solo by Professor Hidden, Miss. Anna Bebb of Oregon City, gave an exceedingly clever exhibition of fancy club swinging. So delighted was the audience, that she was forced to respond to an encore.

Edward Page Gaston, the Chicago journalist and explorer, then stepped to the front of the platform, and delivered his justly celebrated lecture on Cuba. After giving a description of the island of Cuba, and its people, he described a Cuban bull fight, as it is carried on on the island. His talk was very thrilling as he described the methods of battle between man and beast. He then spoke of the insurgent cause in Cuba tracing its growth from its beginning to its present position, giving their prospects for success which to him appear most favorable. Mr. Gaston was repeatedly cheered as he voiced the popular sentiments for Cuban independence. Mr. Gaston's lecture was one of intense interest, and one of the most popular which has yet been delivered on the Chautauqua platform.

Wednesday the classes met at their respective places, for first time. Following is a list of the instructors, and the department of which they have charge.

Mrs. Alice Hamill-Handcock, of Chicago, elocution.

Prof. R. A. Heritage, of Salem, voice culture.

Prof. Reginald L. Hidden, of Berlin, violin instructor.

Prof. J. H. Goodell, of Oakland, Calif. Bible study.

Mrs. E. W. Allen, Portland, junior Bible study.

President W. C. Hawley, Salem, American history.

Prof. Irving M. Glen, McMinnville, English literature.

Prof. E. E. Babcomb, state normal, natural history.

Mrs. Caroline Dunlap, Portland, kindergarten work.

Prof. Edward E. Green, Seattle, physical training.

Prof. W. F. Rollins, Portland, art.

Mrs. Martha Rebendorf, French and German.

Prof. W. N. Ferrin, Pacific university, astronomy.

Prof. Moses Craig, State Agricultural college, botany.

Prof. A. B. Cordly, State Agricultural college, entomology.

Mrs. Annie Evenden, Portland, piano instructor.

The following institutions have established headquarters on the grounds: Pacific College, Newberg. Oregon State Normal, Monmouth. Equal Suffrage Association, under the direction of Mrs. A. S. Duniway of Portland.

The Portland Hospital. The State Agricultural College, Corvallis. McMinnville College, Seventh Day Adventists. Portland University, and University Extension Society.
A postoffice has been arranged on the grounds where mail will be delivered to all campers.
The Chautauqua chorus, under the directions of Prof. R. A. Heritage, is practicing daily at the auditorium at 10 o'clock A. M., and 5 o'clock P. M. The chorus now numbers 70 voices and promises to render some pleasing music for the audience.
The auditorium has been decorated with evergreens, flags, and bunting, until the national colors are displayed on every hand, making it look particularly gay and beautiful—"Where every prospect pleases, and not even man is vile."

The great base ball game of the week occurs Saturday afternoon at Gladstone Park between the McMinnville team and the Chemawas. This is the first time these teams have met this season, they are both training and are avowedly two of the best teams in the valley. Great interest attaches to the event. This game begins at 4:00 o'clock sharp.

The Oregonian is represented at the assembly this year by Mr. W. B. Dodson, who is among the brightest young newspaper men of Portland. His reports of each day's events are very full and fair, and the public spirit of the Oregonian in giving so much space to the assembly proceedings, is fully appreciated by the officers and those in attendance, as well as those who are unable to attend and wish to know what is being done.

The tents of all the campers have been numbered this year. This was done for convenience in locating people who were camping, for the tents had become so numerous that it was impossible to direct a stranger how to find a friend upon the grounds. The tent numbering is also a great convenience the deliverymen for the stores and other supply houses, for it is to them the same as street numbers in town.

Manager Cowing of the Oregon City office has opened a branch office for the Western Union Telegraph Company in the park, a convenience which is greatly appreciated by those attending the assembly. Telephone connection is also had with Portland and Oregon City.

A first class restaurant furnishes meals at all hours at very reasonable prices, while several stands supply the demand for candies and light refreshments.

The transportation service is much better this year than heretofore. The Southern Pacific has special rates and stops all of its trains at Gladstone station. The East Side Railway company has given much better service with its electric cars than at former assemblies. The company's car dispatcher William Schambreau has changed his office from Portland to the park so that he is better able to handle the cars, as he is thus able to know when and where the cars are most needed and to his skill and close attention is due the absence of confusion and delay that is so annoying in handling crowds such as are each evening to be transported to Portland and Oregon City.
