YOUNG MEN'S CHRISTIAN ASSOCIATION.

The board of directors of the Young Men's Christian Association have leased the Graham building on Main street, three doors south of the postoffice for a term of years and the association is now fairly well settled in the new quarters, where they have a reading room and office 22x24 feet, an assembly room 24 by 26 feet, three shower baths and a large dressing room, all on the ground floor, also several small rooms for rent upstairs, suitable for bed rooms. The association is now better equipped to meet the needs of young men than ever before. It is the intention of the management to secure a piece of ground and build a gymnasium where basket ball, indoor base ball and other games can be played during the winter months, but this will depend on the support the work receives during the next three months. The income at present is not sufficient to warrant any additional expense being undertaken, the directors having been compelled to make up deficiencies in running expenses several times during the past six months. Announcements of the fall and winter work will soon be out and a membership contest started. The reading room will be made as attractive and helpful as possible. Games, such as chess, checkers and crokinole will be put in and a large, well assorted supply of reading matter will be kept on file, while a correspondence table, drinking fountain and information bureau are among the conveniences always found there. In the assembly room a literary society, vocal music class, bible class and Sunday afternoon men's gospel meeting, together with socials, concerts, etc., will furnish a pleasant and profitable place for young men and boys to spend their evenings. In the bath rooms hot water and clean towels will always be found on hand, free to members and only 10 cents to others. The Young Men's Christian Association is no longer an experiment, it has demonstrated its right to a place in the community and should receive the hearty support of everyone who is interested in the moral, mental and physical development of young men. It has already ministered to the welfare of a great many young men and is extending a kindly and helpful hand to all who come within its reach. Its aim is distinct from that of the Salvation Army and kindred organizations, seeking rather young men of good home training and moral standing, but who are strangers and homeless in the city, introducing them to the society of other worthy young men and helping them to take their proper places in the world.

HOMELESS WAIF.—Last Thursday two women in a buggy drove up to the residence of Frank Davidson who resides two miles south of Oswego and requested Mrs. Davidson to care for a little boy they had with them for an hour or so. She very kindly consented to do so, when the women went away but failed to return. On Friday Mr. Davidson brought the boy to Oregon City, went before County Judge Hayes and had him committed to the boys and girls' aid society at Portland. All that is known about the child was obtained from the lad himself. He is an unusually bright, fine looking little fellow about three years old, of a confident, loving nature and easy to get acquainted with. He is light complexioned and has long golden curls. He also has a scar on his left eye and temple resembling a powder burn, but the child said it was caused by falling against a stump. When questioned as to his home and parentage all that could be learned was that his mother had taken him to his grandmother's to live but he did not know when nor where. Attorney Hyde took quite an interest in the manly little waif and in conversing with him he discovered a campaign button on Mr. Hyde's coat and asked "Kinley button"? Mr. Hyde inquired: "What do you know about a McKinley button?" "Oh! we got Kinley button at home, up stairs." Kind hearted Mrs. Nehren cared for the child over night and her loving, mother heart completely won the affections of the child who called her "Mamma." Mrs. Nehren says the intelligence of the child, together with his clothing and manners shows him to be well bred and well raised. He was very polite at the table and used his napkin and ate with a fork as though he was "to the manor born." That there is a mystery connected with the desertion of the child is certain, but the real cause may never be known.

FREE STORAGE OF GRAIN.—The Portland Flouring Mills Company, of this city, will give farmers free storage for their wheat until May 1, 1898, and are prepared to store away about 250,000 bushels. Last year these mills received 22,000 bushels, delivered by the farmers of Clackamas county in their wagons, besides what came on the cars from Canby, Barlow, New Era and other places on the railroad. They are paying 73 cents per bushel for bulk wheat without sacks, which is equal to 78 cents per bushel for wheat delivered in Portland with the freight and sacks added. These mills are now receiving a general overhauling and are being put thoroughly in order for the season's run. The rolls have been reground and recorrugated, new silk added to the bolting machinery and quite an additional amount of new spouting put up. In fact no mills in the state are better prepared to handle the season's crop than are the Oregon City mills. The roads of Clackamas county, thanks to our cash road system, are getting in such excellent condition and the city as a marketing place offers such advantages that more wheat will probably be stored here this season than ever before.

THE GRAIN CROP.—Harvesting is now under way and some threshing has been done. The quality of the wheat was never better than it is this year, the berry being large and plump and millers say it will make very fine flour. The reports from the counties throughout the state show that the crop this year will be fully 25 per cent larger than the average, a number of crops having threshed 35 and 40 bushels per acre. The price has been steadily advancing lately and those who are in a position to know, say it will reach 80 cents, owing greatly to the general shortage of the crop in almost all other wheat growing countries of the world. Eighty cent wheat these times, with cheap labor and low prices for merchandise, is just as good or better than one dollar wheat was a few years ago. Clackamas county will produce about 125,000 bushels of wheat this year, which is an increase of some 25,000 bushels over last year's crop. Reports from the oat and barley crops show that they will be equally as good as the wheat crop.

THE WOOD PROBLEM.—People who used to think timber would always be a drug on the market and who burned up great quantities of it simply to get it out of the way are beginning to realize their mistake. Every year the timber is being cut off farther from the city and at the present rate it is disappearing it will not be five years until it will be scarce and demand a much higher price in this vicinity than it does now. The Portland General Electric Company has 6000 cords of wood ricked up on the west side of the river near the end of the suspension bridge, ready for use next winter when the roads get too bad to haul it from the timber. Oregon City consumes more wood than any other city in the state outside of Portland. The paper mills, woolen mills, private families, etc., in this city consume each year over 55,000 cords of wood, an amount which will very soon clear off all the land within convenient distance of this city.

OREGON'S NUT CROP.—Oregon has a great derth of native nut-bearing trees, only two, the oak and the hazel, being indigenous to this state, but they seem determined to make up in quantity this year what we lack in variety and consequently we have one of the largest crops of these two nuts ever known in the history of the state. The hazel nuts found here are not like the kind grown in the Eastern states but are akin to the English filbert. The hazel bushes here grow to be diminutive trees, attaining a height of 20 and 30 feet and oftentimes measure from four to six inches in diameter. The Indians have a legend that whenever there is an abundance of mast, the following winter is sure to be severe and we shall look for a verification of this legend during the coming winter.

COYOTES NUMEROUS.—Reports come from lower Beaver creek in New Era precinct that of late the coyotes have become quite numerous and are regaling themselves on spring lamb and chickens to the serious financial loss as well as disturbance of the peace of mind of the worthy farmers of that section. One day last week Robert Kelland shot a big wolf in his field who was attempting a raid upon his chickens and Mr. Kelland states that many more of these chicken thieves have been seen in his neighborhood. The mighty Nimrods of Oregon City should get out their great guns and dogs of long wind and gather these murdering beasts in and win both glory and the scalp reward given by the county.

EDUCATIONAL CONFERENCE.—Bishop Earl Cranston, of Portland, President Thomas Van Scoy, of the Portland University, Rev. S. A. Starr, of Forest Grove, and Rev. Gabriel Sykes, of Portland, comprising part of the educational committee appointed by the Oregon conference to unify the educational interests of the Methodist Episcopal church were in Oregon City Tuesday intending to hold a meeting in the M. E. church here but owing to the burning of the railroad bridge across the Santiam river the members from the southern part of the state were unable to be present. The overland train was sent on the west side by way of Corvallis to Portland, where the conference was held on Wednesday.

FREE METHODIST CAMPMEETING.—On next Thursday, August 13, the Free Methodist brethren will begin a district campmeeting in the grove on Molalla avenue, two blocks beyond the head of Seventh street. The meetings will be in charge of Rev. B. F. Smally, of Portland, district elder, who will be assisted by Prof. Shay, of Seattle college, and other prominent ministers of the denomination. Campers will be furnished with free wood and water and will find the location a decidedly pleasant one for an outing. Pasturage for teams convenient to the grounds can be had at reasonable rates.

It Is Greatly To Your Interest

To consider the wisdom of this little bit of plain advice we are going to give you about tea. Tea is as little understood by the average merchants as by the average consumer. He may charge you 75 cents for a tea worth 25 cents and still not make a large profit. He buys his teas like the consumer, from appearance solely. The fact is, the prettiest looking teas are artificially colored and have lead, terra-alba and other matter added to increase their weight. It's small wonder so many people prefer coffee and don't care for tea. A pound of pure tea will make from 200 to 250 cups. It is therefore not expensive. As it is the principal beverage of nearly three-quarters of the people of the earth it must be considered wholesome. Our stock is a feature of our business. We carry the largest stock and greatest variety. We can make you all tea drinkers if you'll give us a chance to find what suits your taste, and you will never regret it. Samples cost you nothing.

E. E. WILLIAMS,
The Grocer.

A Merchant's Chance.

Being compelled to change climate on account of ill health I will sell my stock of goods, store fixtures, etc. at Liberal. Goods all new and salable. No indebtedness of any kind on property and no credit business done. Location one of the best in Clackamas county, being in the midst of the famous Molalla country and 12 miles from Oregon City, by turnpike road. Will resign the postoffice which could be secured by the right person. Trade is steadily growing and the big crops which the farmers will have, make it still better with the opening of the fall trade. Will give the right person the best bargain ever offered in this section as I must leave Oregon before the rainy season sets in.

For 1897

SEVEN GREAT SERIALS

A New Life of Grant by Hamlin Garland. The first authoritative and adequate Life of Grant ever published. Lavishly illustrated. (Begins in December.)
Rudyard Kipling's first American serial, "Captains Courageous." (Begins in November.)
Robert Louis Stevenson's "St. Ives." The only novel of Stevenson's still unpublished. (Begins in May.)
Chas. A. Dana, "Recollections of Wartime." Mr. Dana was for three of the most critical years of the Civil War practically a member of Lincoln's Cabinet, and is probably better fitted than any other man living to give an authoritative history of this period from his recollections and correspondence.
Portraits of Great Americans. Many of them unpublished. In connection with this series of portraits it is intended to publish special biographical studies under the general title of MAKERS OF THE UNION from Washington to Lincoln.
Picture of Palestine. Specially taken under the editor's direction.
Stories of Adventure. A serial by CONAN DOYLE, in which he will use his extraordinary talent for mystery and ingenuity which have, in the "Sherlock Holmes" stories, given him a place beside Poe and Gaboriau.

TEN FAMOUS WRITERS

Ian Maclaren. All the fiction that he will write during the coming year, with the exception of two contributions to another publication which were engaged from him long ago, will appear in McCLURE'S MAGAZINE.
Joel Chandler Harris. A series of new animal stories in the same field as the "Brer Rabbit" and the "Little Mr. Thimblefinger" stories.
Rudyard Kipling. Besides "Captains Courageous," Kipling will contribute to McCLURE'S all of the short stories he will write during the coming year.
Octave Thanet is preparing for the MAGAZINE a series of short stories in which the same characters will appear, although each will be complete in itself.
Anthony Hope Bret Harte Robert Barr Frank R. Stockton Stanley Weyman Clark Russell will all have stories in McCLURE'S for the coming year.
 These are only a small fraction of the great and important features of McCLURE'S MAGAZINE for 1897, the subscription price of which is only
