NOW LOOKING FOR GOLD.—Martin Quinn, superintendent of streetcleaning in Portland and ex-candidate for congress on the populist free-silver ticket has resigned his position and will take the next steamer for Alaska to dig gold. One would naturally think he would go in search of silver. He has been succeeded by M. Freeman as superintendent of streetcleaning.

AN OREGON KLONDIKE.—Last week a telegraphic dispatch from Cottage Grove announced that a very rich strike had been made in the Bohemia mining district, a ledge ten feet wide having been found, the ore in one of the same going $30,000 to the ton, and the remainder $500 to the ton, says the Eugene Guard. A day or two later the Guard was in receipt of a letter from H. J. Day confirming the report and saying the strike is bona fide and one of the richest ever made in the state.

HERE'S ANOTHER.—There has been considerable controversy over the question as to who was the youngest soldier in the rebellion. The point has not yet been satisfactorily settled; but the writer of this has personal knowledge of ample proof that Major John Clem, quartermaster at Vancouver, is entitled to that distinction. He enlisted as drummer boy at the age of 9 years. At the age of 12 he participated in the battle of Chickamauga, where he did eminent service, killing a colonel in the retreating forces. This claim is fully sustained by the record and it accords to Major Clem the honor of being the youngest soldier in active service in the war.

POPULISTS FORSEE DEFEAT.—It begins to look as though Bryan had had his day says the Nebraska Courier, (pop). Richard Crocker and the leading democrats of the East have undertaken the task of reorganizing the democratic party under the gold standard banner and whether successful or not on this line will so reduce the silver wing of the party as to make it an impotent factor in dictating terms for the free silver forces in 1900. In the event of the national democrats getting control of the next convention the populists and prohibitionists will be the only national parties advocating free coinage of silver. Again the populists will never again give Bryan the support they gave him one year ago until, at least, he embraces more of the principles of populism than free silver and opposition to trusts and courts by injunction. The next nominee of the populist party must be a believer in government ownership of railroads, telephones and telegraphs, and must be in favor of the initiative and referendum and must also oppose land monopolies. Another Sewall episode will never again be tolerated by the populist party.

MAILS TO THE KLONDIKE.—It appears that out of six United States mails sent into the Yukon from the head of Lynn canal since July 6 last only two have reached their destination, and that no Canadian mails have got through at all. In view of the fact that people are coming and going constantly, this seems an extraordinary thing. We are told that many persons who have been sent into the Yukon by people contemplating investment there find themselves completely at a standstill for lack of their correspondence and that the persons they represent are equally at a loss to know what to do. In addition to this there is naturally very much disappointment and anxiety on the part of the families of the people who are in the Yukon country, due to the failure of the mail-carriers to get through with the letters in their charge. We think everyone will agree with us in saying that this matter needs to be looked into at once. Men are coming out from Dawson nearly every day. The only people who do not seem able to come through are those who have a contract with the government to do so. The postal authorities ought to investigate this and try to discover some means of inducing the mail carriers to do what they have undertaken to do.

THE PRESIDENT AND CUBA.—The action of the administration in sending the battleship Maine to Havana has added to the public confidence already so clearly expressed in favor of President McKinley's attitude on the Cuba question. His course ever since he came to the White House has been one which the public has commended, beginning with steps which resulted in the prompt release of all American prisoners in Spanish prisons in Cuba, following with demands upon the Spanish government for a cessation of the cruelties in Cuba, resulting in the proposals for autonomy, now being tested. Should that prove unsuccessful there is good reason to believe that further action, equally satisfactory to the people of the United States, will be taken by the President and his Cabinet. And this fact is leading a large majority of the people of the United States, irrespective of party, to a public and vigorous condemnation of the course of the democratic members of the house of Representatives who have recently insisted upon an attempt to force upon the president a line of policy different from that which he has so successfully pursued up to this time.

THIS CLIMATE OF OURS.—Thus far, the present winter is probably about the mildest on record says, the Oregonian. Of course, "there are others," but persons who have lived here many years cannot remember any which have been so continuously and constantly mild as this. Pussy willows are in bloom, which does not mean that they have merely pushed forth the velvety catkins which give them their name, but that the blossoms on these catkins are fully expanded. Daffodils have pushed up leaves four or five inches above ground, and if the weather continues as favorable as it has been, will soon display their yellow blossoms. Buds are seen on rosebushes everywhere, but a lack of sunshine prevents them from developing into blossoms. There has been no cold to interfere with the growth of anything, and rosebushes and other plants which have been wrapped in bits of carpet or protected with brush are uncomfortably warm. It is barely possible that old Bores may make trouble yet before gentle spring really assumes control, for an old, very old, resident asserts that he has often seen "six weeks" sleighing in February, right here in Oregon. Of course, there is no disputing such a statement, and it can be only hoped that this sort of thing will not be allowed to recur again.

A DIFFERENCE OF OPINION.—There are two widely diverse opinions as to whether the lakes and sloughs on Saucy's island will ever again be stocked with wapatoes. One is the opinion of certain sportsmen who insist that the wapatoes were buried by the sediment deposited by consecutive floods in the Willamette and Columbia, and who assert that a new crop has started from seed carried by the waters from patches of wapatoes which had not been buried. These say that the new crop will soon have fully-developed tubers, and that the canvas backs will presumably be coming back to their old feed-grounds as numerous as ever. The other is the opinion of old settlers on the island who insist that the wapatoes were destroyed by carp, with the exception of a patch here and there, the seed from which has been scattered around by high water and has started a new crop. This crop, they maintain, will soon be destroyed by the terrible carp, and that, they say, will be the end of the wapatoes, and then good-bye to canvas back ducks. The sportsmen "know" they are right, as by digging down through the deposit of dirt which smothered the wapatoes the roots can be found, while the old settlers say that no such roots are there. Time will tell which is right.

Deafness Cannot be Cured
by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portions of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube gets inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

THE GRAND CONCERT

At The Congregational Church Last Friday Evening.

The concert given at the Congregational church last Friday evening by Mrs. E. E. Charman and Mrs. C. D. Latourette was a decided success, entertainingly speaking. Financially we are not prepared to render an opinion, only to say the house was well filled. The solos, duets and choruses rendered, together with selections by the orchestra, were all appreciated. Each separate number possessed so much of merit that space will not permit of special mention of each, but the "Ladies' Tea" must not be overlooked when remembering the especially interesting features of the evening, nor would the program have been complete without the piano solo by Miss Ora Spangler, the vocal solo by Mrs. W. B. Wiggins, cello solo by Mr. Sarrhne and the vocal solo by Miss Kate Ward.

The Halsey chorus "Old Folks at Home" was charmingly rendered as was also the selection by the ladies' quartette, composed of Mrs. Caulfield, Miss Ward, Mrs. Charman and Miss Monroe.

Confer brothers' duet "Dusky Maid" came in for a good round of applause as did the Lime Kiln quartette composed of Messrs Rinearson, Norris Hickman and Strybnie.

During the entertainment one thing was demonstrated, and that was that those who go upon the stage in Oregon City should have an extra selection in reserve to respond to an encore. Oregon City audiences appreciate merit.

DON'T TALK OF YOUR ILLS.

People Are More Interested in the Pleasant Side of Life.

"Every one of us has his and her own ailments," writes Edward W. Bok in The Ladies' Home Journal, decrying the unpleasant habit many people have of discussing their bodily ills. "It is enough for us all to keep well ourselves. To be compelled to listen to the ailments of others does not make that task any easier. Besides all this, these unnecessary narratives of personal ailments are positively injurious to ourselves. Physicians all agree that many of the slight illnesses, of which some people make so much, could be cured if they would but take their minds from themselves. Too many people work themselves into illnesses or prevent themselves from getting well by talking about a petty ailment which, if forgotten, would right itself.

"I will not say that women, more than men, are prone to this evil, but as the majority of women have more leisure than the majority of men they are more likely to let their minds dwell upon every little ill that assails them and talk about it. It seems to me that one of the most important lessons we can all learn with the close of the year is to refrain from inflicting upon others what is purely personal to ourselves. Let us cease this tiresome, this inconsiderate, this unnecessary talk about our ailments. Cold and hard as it may seem, the fact is nevertheless true, and will ever remain so, that the vast majority of people are interested in what is pleasant in our lives, but not in what is unpleasant. Pains and sorrows are elements in our lives which are sacred and interesting only to ourselves."

Von Moltke.

Von Moltke was originally an officer in the Danish army. At the age of 9 years he was entered as a royal cadet—i. e., he was to be educated at the expense of the king, Frederick VI, in the Copenhagen Military academy—and, having taken his examinations, he wore the Danish uniform until he, as a sub-lieutenant at the age of 27, petitioned the king for three years' leave to proceed to the continent to study the military art, as he says in his petition, "to be able on his return to employ his acquirements for the good of his country." This petition was granted, but the count also asked to be allowed to retain his pay, and as the king refused this he took his discharge and entered the Prussian army, a recruit whom that organization has every reason to hold in enduring memory.

Papa Is Excused.

Here is the latest of an infant terrible who lords it over the home of a politician in this city, says the Toledo Blade: The minister came to the house the other day and the kid entertained him for a short time.

"I say, I'm awful 'fraid of the dark," was his first remark.

"You should not be," admonished the visitor, "for God takes care of you everywhere."

"I know it, and I say my prayers every night, but pap he don't have to, as he don't get home till 'most morning."

Tablets said to contain the "concentrated essence of wine" find a ready sale in France. Two of them cost about 3 shillings and will produce three quarts of so called claret.

Retained.

"When is Professor Frizby going on his expedition to the north pole?"

"I can't say. It has been indefinitely postponed. The professor isn't in condition for the undertaking."

"What is the trouble?"

"He took a drink of ice water and it made him sick."—Washington Star.

By the old Saxon law a maiden and a widow were of different value. The latter could be bought for one-half the sum which the guardian of maid was entitled to demand. A man, therefore, who could not afford to buy a maiden might perhaps be able to purchase a widow.

Married in Two Counties.

A wedding ceremony where the bride and groom were in one county and the officiating minister in the next was performed near Raleigh, N. C., a few days ago. K. P. Stewart was the officiant. He was engaged to get married, and the wedding day was drawing near.

His bride-elect who lived in Harnett county, a beautiful and determined young woman, with soul as full of romance as a veritable Juliet, learning of her lover's dangerous illness determined to hasten to his bedside and marry him at all hazards.

When she arrived on the scene she made haste to declare her intentions and would listen to no proposals or suggestions as to procrastinating the consummation so devoutly wished. The license was procured and the preacher was brought in right speedily, but another serious difficulty when it was ascertained that the license was for Harnett county and the residence of the bride-groom was across the line. The preacher said he could not perform the ceremony outside of Harnett county, was about to leave the disappointed couple when suddenly the bride, after inquiry, declared she had mastered this obstacle.

The county line was just in front of this house, so the couple stood on the porch, and the minister was placed across the line, where he loudly shouted the marriage vows and listened while the assented echoes came back to him.

Immigrant Bill Passed.

The immigrant bill has passed. It provides that all immigrants physically capable, and over 16 years of age, shall be able to read or write the English language or some other language; but a person not able to read or write, who is over fifty years of age, and is the parent or grandparent of a qualified immigrant over 21 years of age, capable of supporting such a parent or grandparent, may accompany the immigrant, or the parent or grandparent may be sent for, and come to join the family of the child, or grandchild over 21 years of age who is qualified under the law, and the wife or a minor child not able to read or write may accompany or be sent for and come and join the husband or parent who is qualified.

The Marketing Point OF CLACKAMAS COUNTY

The factory towns of the East are noted for affording the best market to the neighboring farmers and gardeners in proportion to the population of any of the towns in that section. The reason for this is that the people of these towns have a fixed income upon which they can always depend, and, as a consequence, they are liberal buyers, paying cash for all their purchases.

As the Great Manufacturing Center of the Pacific Coast

OREGON CITY..

Is Coming to be One of the Best Marketing Town in the State

This is proven every day by the number of farmers, who are to be seen on its streets selling their produce, who, until just the last few years, sought the markets of other towns. The system of macadamized roads that is being built into all parts of Clackamas county, will enable all the people of this county to share in the profitable market that Oregon City affords. If, as it is sure to do, the demands of Oregon City increase in the next five years as it has in the past five years, this city will rank next to Portland as a market place for
