CHURCH.—In this city, on Sunday, February 27, 1898, Harriet Louise, only daughter of Mina and Wheeler Church, aged 12 years, 3 months and 16 days. Death, with its unflinching impartiality, has again invaded a happy home circle and called from the land of sorrow to the brighter spirit world, the loveliest and most tender bloom of that household. Hattie was sick only four weeks, having been taken with tonsillitis from which she had about recovered and was thought to be out of danger, when she was stricken with heart failure, which caused her death. She was a bright, winsome girl, universally loved, and respected and the idol of her home, and in whom the best hopes of her bereaved parents were centered. She was a pupil in the sixth grade of the public schools and a member of both the Baptist and Presbyterian Sunday schools. Touchingly beautiful were the funeral services conducted at the family residence on Seventh street Tuesday morning at 10 o'clock by Rev. M. L. Rugg, of the Baptist church assisted by Rev. A. J. Montgomery, of the Presbyterian church. A large number of the deceased's classmates being in attendance. Many exquisite floral offerings told more eloquently than words the love of school-mate and friend.

When the funeral procession passed the Eastham school on the way to consign the precious form to its last resting place in Mountain View cemetery, the teachers and pupils were lined up in a body to pay the last tribute of respect to one they had loved, but who "had heard the summons and passed on." Miss Church was the youngest girl who ever made the ascent of Mt. Hood, having climbed to its snowy summit three years ago. Death is sad under any circumstances, but doubly so when it claims for its own the maiden just unfolding into the beautiful mysteries of life, and whose death breaks our hearts and spoils our lives. How blessed then the hope that in that undiscovered country, the heavenly land, we shall meet our loved ones to be separated no more forever. "There is no death! What seems so is transition: This life of mortal breath. Is but a suburb of the life Elysian, Whose portal we call death!"

Mr. and Mrs. Church and family desire to thank all their friends who rendered assistance in their hour of trouble; that their many acts of love and words of sympathy will tend to lighten their burden of sorrow. Mrs. Amelia Cahill, of New Era last Monday morning. She was in her 48th year and for over 20 years had been a resident of this county. She was a leader in the community and will be long missed by her many friends. Her husband, Mr. Eos Cahill, and three children survive her.

As to their moral and intellectual characteristics, these vary not only according to their native district, but also according to their social station. Between the prosperous shepherds the mountains of Pistoja, imbued with the proverbial courtesy of the Tuscan, speaking the purest Italian, acute, intelligent, a fluent story teller, and often an extempore poetizer, down to the wretchedly poor, brutalized peasant from the Romagna, clad from head to foot in filthy sheepskins, and who, with difficulty, keeps body and soul together with the proceeds of his small flock of half starved sheep, whose only pasture is on the pathways and byways or furtively dropped from forbidden ground, between such two extremes the gradations are numberless, but notwithstanding certain traits of character are common to all. Common to all is the life they lead, solitary and wandering, now on the lonely heights of the Apennines, now on the still lonelier plains of the Maremma. They are hardly ever seen even in the larger villages, and it is only from some lofty hilltop that they have a distant glimpse of the towns, those modern Babels, on which they gaze with mixed feelings of curiosity and aversion.

Always alone, they necessarily become taciturn, and, therefore, meditative. Their life out of doors, without manual labor or fixed application, leads them to apply their minds to study the phenomena of nature, the habits of animals, the properties of plants or the course of the stars. The necessities of their nomadic existences teach them to apply this knowledge, and they become terrible poachers, clever veterinarians, tanners, herbalists, basket makers, stocking knitters, sometimes excellent joiners and shoemakers.—Good Words.

The Discovery of The Day. Aug. J. Bogel, the leading druggist of Shreveport, La., says "Dr. King's Discovery is the only thing that cures my cough, and it is the best seller I have." J. F. Campbell, merchant of Safford, Ariz., writes: Dr. King's New Discovery is all that is claimed for it; it never fails, and is a sure cure for Consumption, Coughs and Colds. I cannot say enough for its merits." Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Coughs and Colds is not an experiment. It has been tried for a quarter of a century, and to-day stands at the head. It never disappoints. Free trial bottles at Charman & Co.'s Drug Store. GOLD DEMOCRATS. They Would Sacrifice the Country at the Behest of the Money Changers. Senator Chandler of New Hampshire, referring to the recent utterances of Cleveland and Carlisle, says: "Cleveland's speech was characteristic, but Mr. Carlisle's remarks were especially important, because they indicate that the gold Democrats have entirely gone over to the money power. They are in favor of gold monometallism to the last degree and will not listen to even a suggestion of the remonetization of silver by an international agreement. I believe that the maintenance of the single gold standard means ruin, and I earnestly desire to see bimetallicism secured. These gold Democrats apparently have no concern for the welfare of the country, but would sacrifice everything to the interests of the money changers. The more that they unfold their plans the less will be their chance of adding to their numbers."

For the Campaign Only. The gold Democrats are beginning to worry over the mysterious disappearance of the gold Republicans of last year. The gold Republicans, it appears, were for campaign purposes only.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 26.—During the greater part of the senate's session today, the right of Henry W. Corbett to a seat from the state of Oregon was under discussion. Thurston, in an extended speech, opposed the admission of Corbett, while Foraker, Kyle and Mantle supported Corbett's claim. The vote on the case, it has been agreed, will be taken next Monday at 3 p. m. The pension calendar was cleared by the passage of several private pension bills. A few bills of a general character were also passed. The house did not complete the consideration of the sundry bill today, but Chairman Cannon held the floor with it until adjournment, refusing to yield to Boutelle, the chairman of the naval committee, who was anxious to secure consideration of the bill reported by his committee for the relief of the victims and survivors of the Maine disaster. About 20 pages of sundry civil bill were disposed of today. Many efforts were made by different members to inject river and harbor items into the bill, three of them being successful. Amendments appropriating $300,000 for Cleveland harbor; $200,000 for Wilmington, Del., and increasing the appropriation for Boston harbor from $100,000 to $250,000 were adopted. As contracts for this work were authorized, they were in order under the rules. Representative Tongue made a hard fight for the appropriation for Yaquina bay today, but the efforts of Dockery and the vote of the democrats prevented it from going through. The fact that the contract has not yet been let also had some influence in the matter. Chairman Cannon, of the appropriations committee, will approve of this appropriation in the short session, but thinks it premature at this date. WASHINGTON, Feb. 28.—Hon. H. W. Corbett was today denied admission to the senate as a senator from Oregon on the appointment by the governor, by the decisive vote of 50 to 19. Speeches were made today against the admission of Corbett by Bacon (Ga.) and Burrows (Mich.) and in favor of his admission by Morgan (Ala.) After disposing of the Corbett case, the senate began the consideration of the Alaska homestead and railway right of way bill, and had not concluded when it adjourned. WASHINGTON, Feb. 28.—Representative Bromwell (rep. O.) today introduced in the house the following resolution: "That the secretary of the navy be and is hereby authorized, whenever in his judgment it shall become expedient for the best interests of the country to do so, to secure options upon and consummate the purchase of such battle-ships, cruisers, rams, torpedo-boats or other form of naval vessels as are of the most modern type, and ready for immediate use, together with the necessary armament and equipment for the same, as in his judgment are necessary to place the naval strength of the country upon a proper footing for immediate hostilities with any foreign power with which the same may be threatened, and for the purpose of consummating such purchases there is hereby appropriated the sum of $20,000,000, to be immediately available." The resolution was referred to the naval committee. Free! Free! Free! Graphophone given away to our customers. Free ticket with each 25c cash purchase at Huntley's. FERROL, Spain, Feb. 27.—The work of naval construction armament is being pushed by the government with the greatest activity at the arsenals and dockyards. A Translation. It is related that a sophomore one commencement day was crossing the campus of Emory college, Oxford, Ga., with his sweetheart, who stopped to read the inscription upon the stone to the memory of Ignatius Few, the first president. "What does that mean?" she asked, pointing to the line, "Vivit—non mortuus est." Proud of his ability to translate Latin, the student explained: "He lives. No, he don't; he's dead." —New York Christian Advocate. English in Japan. Here are some attempts at English to be seen on the signboards in the streets of Tokyo: "Wine, beer and other medicines."
