PRIMARY ELECTIONS,-Now that the time for holding primary elections is near at hand there is, as usual, general inquiry relative to the law regulating subject there is in Oregon absolutely no next Sunday at 2 p. m. law whatever except in cities of 2,500 inhabitants-and that law is as good as none. In all except city precincts there are no regulations. Usage has made the only primary election law there is in Orhours as the committees in charge may determine. Judges and clerks are likewise appointed or elected by the electors present at the opening of the polls; or, if than by ballot, there are of course no be entitled to vote at the general election good interest and attendance. next following are supposed to take part in the primaries, and then the supposition is that they will offer their suffrage at only the primaries conducted by the political party of their preference. But so far as the law is concerned, democrats and populists could vote at republican primaries (and vice versa), provided the judges of election would accept their ballots. However, the inborn honesty of the human race has heretolore asserted itself so prominently at Oregon primary elections that opposing political parties have not sought to capture the primaries

Worth Saving.

The people of Belgium evidently believe in training their children in habits of economy. Possibly no better method of convincing the young folks of the wisdom of looking after small Arrangements are being made to have things could have been found than that resorted to in the public schools of Brussels. The Outlook gives the result of the experiment:

Some time ago the children were requested by their teachers to gather up all the waste and apparently useless articles that they could find on their way to and from school and to deliver them to their respective teachers.

For eight months the work of collection went on. Such objects as tin foil, tin cans, paint tubes, bottle capsules and refuse metal were especially looked after. The result was astonishing. Nineteen hundred and twenty-five pounds of tin foil rewarded the children's efforts, together with 1,200 pounds of metal scraps, 4,400 pounds of bottle capsules and old paint tubes that in the aggregate weighed 220 pounds.

But it was when the articles were disposed of and the money applied to useful objects that the full force of this economy was manifest. The proceeds completely clothed 500 poor children and sent 90 invalid children to recuperation colonies, and there was a goodly balance left to be distributed among the sick poor of the city.

The Movable Carriage Wheel Guard.

Movable carriage wheel guards are made chiefly for use with light carriages that are not equipped with fixed guards. The movable guard is of willow basket work. In its general outlines it is something like a coat or cloak hauger. It is made to fit over a section of the rim of the wheel. The carriage guard is carried in the carriage, and when required for use to protect the gown of a woman getting in or out it is simply held on the wheel.-Exchange.
