"A word to the wise is sufficient" and a word from the wise should be sufficient but you ask, who are the wise? Those who know. The oft repeated experience of trustworthy persons may be taken for knowledge. Mr. W. M. Terry says Chamberlain's Cough Remedy gives better satisfaction than any other in the market. He has been in the drug business at Elkton, Ky., for twelve years; has sold hundreds of bottles of this remedy and nearly all other cough medicines manufactured, which shows conclusively that Chamberlain's is the most satisfactory to the people, and is the best. Evangelist Miller. The Chicago Evangelist, E. F. Miller, delivered his farewell address, at the Methodist Church last Friday evening. Even if the people did not respond with the hearty "Amen," he has evidently been accustomed to, as frequently as he might have wished, they showed their appreciation for his splendid addresses by at least turning out to hear him. At every meeting the church was crowded.

Mr. Miller is not a regularly ordained minister. He preaches simply as a layman, but for a number of years has devoted his entire time to the work. He was formerly a mechanic, and is doubtless a self educated man. His voice, both for singing and speaking, is above the ordinary, being musical, clear and powerful. That he possesses the courage of his convictions is beyond doubt. His delivery is natural rather than acquired, and it is very effective. He believes that we should be judged for what we are and express contempt for the man who allows himself to be used as a tool. He is a man who evidently enjoys good health, and often takes occasion to impress on his hearers the duty of self-preservation from a physical standpoint—the importance of abstaining from the gratification of any appetite that must necessarily be detrimental to the physical body. He is practical. The subject of one of his best addresses was: "May Christians Dance?"

Yellow Jaundice Cured. Suffering humanity should be supplied with every means possible for its relief. It is with pleasure we publish the following: "This is to certify that I was a terrible sufferer from Yellow Jaundice for over six months, and was treated by some of the best physicians in our city and all to no avail. I now take great pleasure in recommending them to any person suffering from this terrible malady. I am gratefully yours, M. A. Hogarty, Lexington, Ky." Sold by Charman & Co. druggists.

The Lines of the Hand. They were out driving and had come upon a fine stretch of shady country road. "Do you believe in palmistry," he asked—"the reading of one's fortune by the lines in one's hand?" "I believe," she said, "that if I could see the lines in only one of your hands I could foretell that we would have a very pleasant drive."

He immediately caught on and grasped the reins with one hand and the situation with the other.—Comic Out.

A Convincing Example. The other day a south side teacher was discoursing to her pupils about the evils of becoming addicted to slang, when she paused and asked them to give her an example of a slang phrase. The school went into convulsions when a youngster in knee pants yelled promptly: "You're not so hot. There are other babies on the pile."

THREE-PLY PARTY

Meet in Convention—Monday Spent in Fusing.

Offices Distributed—County Ticket Very Weak—Populists Predict Its Defeat—Sorry They Fused.

The County Convention of the People's Party met at Weinhard's Hall in Oregon City Monday morning at 11 o'clock and continued in session until the afternoon of Tuesday. The Conventions of the Silver Democrat and Silver Republican were in session at the same time with the Populists, the Democrats meeting at Pope's Hall and the Republicans in Justice Schuebel's Court rooms.

The object of these Conventions, meeting as they did simultaneously, was to enable the three Fusion parties to come together—thus forming what is now generally known in Clackamas County as the "Three-PLY" Party—and nominate what it pleases them to term a "union" County Ticket, and to adopt a "union" Platform.

All the Precincts in the County were represented in the Populist Convention which consisted of 155 delegates. The Democratic Convention consisted of 115 delegates and represented all the Precincts with the exception of three. The Silver Republican Convention was composed of only 7 delegates.

The forenoon of Monday was taken up in the appointing of two committees on conference, one on Platform and the other on Offices, each to be composed of five members from each of the three respective parties.

The Committee on Platform was as follows:

- Populists—W. W. Myers, R. Schuebel, Clyde Evans, G. E. Hargreaves, J. C. Wolgamot, Silver Democrats—T. F. Cowing, T. L. Turner, Albert Gribble, H. W. Gard, J. R. Sever, J. K. Sever, Silver Republicans—Wm. Barlow, George Knight, S. W. Morgan, Thomas Pusey, J. Irvine.

And the following was the Committee on Offices:

- Populists—E. E. Gleason, M. V. Thomas, George Lazell, S. F. Baker, Steve Hutchinson, Silver Democrats—V. R. Hyde, H. L. Vaughn, W. F. Young, Charles Waite, D. L. Prettyman, Silver Republicans—Wm. Barlow, George Knight, S. W. Morgan, Thomas Pusey, J. Irwin.

The two Committees were then closed and the Convention adjourned until four o'clock to await their report. But at four o'clock no report came, so another recess was taken until 5:30 P. M.; but still no report from the Conference Committees. Then the Populist Convention adjourned until 7:30; but, upon reassembling was disappointed again; neither the report on Offices or Platform could be heard from—it didn't make so much difference about the Platform, but they would not be kept in longer suspense concerning the distribution of offices; one fellow going so far as to make a motion that if the Committees were not heard from within ten minutes that the Convention would appoint him to break down the doors, if necessary, and drag them out of their secret closets, and the excitement had arisen to such a high pitch that the motion would certainly have been passed had not Mr. U'Ren suddenly appeared on the scene. At the wave of his hand all was calm. Even the ordinarily stern looking Joseph Casto, Chairman of the Convention, looked relieved. Mr. U'Ren then offered to amend the motion made by the would-be Herr Most to the effect that if the Committee was not heard from within another hour it should be instructed to report progress. The amendment was carried.

This hour soon passed by, for besides entertaining speeches from Mr. U'Ren, George Ogle, W. W. Austin of Logan, who appeared as though he might be a disciple of Most, a poem from George R. H. Miller, the audience had the pleasure of an unexpected outburst from Editor Charles A. Fitch. Naturally the Convention had grown a little tired and when Mr. Fitch began seemed somewhat lacking in enthusiasm, which of course was a little embarrassing to Mr. Fitch and caused him to sway a little, like a pendulum, back and forth. But gradually he overcame everything, and when he commenced telling about how he had read history some last winter, a little English history, a little French history and a little history about the Italian peoples, and how he had learned about the common rabble, that it pleased Harvie Scott to term such fellows as himself, rising up and cutting off the heads of the Aristocrats, their wives and beautiful daughters, the entire Convention burst out in approving applause.

Then, when Mr. Fitch had taken his seat, Mr. Suter, of Eagle Creek arose and demanded of Fitch that he explain how it was that he had stated publicly to the State Convention in Portland that "the country people did not know what they wanted?" Such statements, Mr. Suter claimed, were too "aristocratic" to come from a Populist. So Mr. Fitch, returning to the platform humbly apologized to the gentleman from Eagle Creek, stating that he (Fitch) had been imposed upon, that what he had said was that the grammatical construction of a sentence in the article referred to was such that he was afraid it would convey a different meaning from the one intended. And then he explained how he had worked on a railroad, and been brought up back in old Kansas on a farm, and how any such utterance as Joe Suter made reference to was entirely foreign to his make-up. Mr. Fitch concluded his remarks with the prediction that the time was not far off when this country would be under the rule of Socialism which in his opinion was the only ideal form of government.

At half past eight, the announcement was made that the report of the Committee on Offices would be heard from in ten minutes. It was 9 o'clock however before the report was brought in. It was as follows:

Report of Committee on Officers. Populist—Senator Two Representatives County Judge Assessor Clerk Recorder School Superintendent. Silver Democrats—One Representative Commissioner Sheriff Coroner Surveyor. Silver Republicans—Treasurer.

The report met with more objection evidently than was anticipated, chiefly on account of the proposed change of Treasurer, which resulted in an hour or more of lively debate. T. B. Hankins went up on the platform and addressing the Convention at considerable length finally concluded with much force and

Her Health Restored. THE misery of sleeplessness can only be realized by those who have experienced it. Nervousness, sleeplessness, headaches, neuralgia, that miserable feeling of unrest, can surely be cured by Dr. Miles' Restorative Nervine. So certain is Dr. Miles of this fact that all druggists are authorized to refund price paid for the first bottle tried, providing it does not benefit. Mrs. Henry Brun, wife of the well known blacksmith at Grand Junction, Iowa, says: "I was troubled with sleeplessness, nervousness, headache and irregular menstruation; suffering untold misery for years. I used various advertised remedies for female complaints besides being under the care of local physicians, without help. I noticed in Dr. Miles' advertisement the testimonial of a lady cured of ailments similar to mine, and I shall never cease to thank that lady. Her testimonial induced me to use Dr. Miles' Nervine and Nerve and Liver Pills, which restored me to health. I cannot say enough for Dr. Miles' Remedies."

wild gesticulations that if the report were adopted as read the Populist Ticket would be defeated from top to bottom. W. S. U'Ren claimed that he was opposed to taking the Treasurership from Jacob Shade, and under no circumstances would he vote for the proposed change. Secretary Hamilton stated that the proportion of Populists to Silver Democrats was about 6 to 1 and that he thought they should be satisfied with that proportion of the officers; that "old Grandpa Shade" was a poor man with others depending on him for support, that he had filled the place of Treasurer creditably, that there was not a more honest man in Clackamas county, that he had secured his fifty thousand dollar bond without difficulty, men willingly signing it irrespective of political creed, and that he for one was unwilling that the old man should be turned down. Finally William Barlow, ascending the platform, as Chairman of the Republican Committee, stated that they would give back the Treasurership to the Populists, that his party was not there for office; what they wanted was harmony: whereupon the Convention stood up and gave three hearty cheers for William Barlow and the Republican Party. But alas for poor George Knight, he sat on the steps with fingers twitching nervously and head bent down; for twenty long years he had been vainly striving for political office, and now when the Treasurership of Clackamas County was fairly within his grasp he had allowed it to slip away. He had left the Republican Party because they had refused to honor him (Continued on page 6.)
