Promptly at 1:30 to the strains of Tanhauser, played by Miss Beatrice Barlow, of this city, the bridal procession, led by Miss Dolly Pratt and Master Howard Strickler each bearing garlands of green, proceeded to the temporary altar at one end of the spacious parlors where they were met by the groom and best man, Captain von Egloffstein. Then followed the ushers, Messrs Samuel Luders and Robert Catlin, of Portland; the charming bridesmaids, Miss Grace Welsh of Stockton, Cal. and Miss Bertha Barin of Portland; the beautiful maid of honor, Miss Florence Morey of this city; and lastly, leaning on the arm of her father, the bride, certainly one of the fairest. She was daintily gowned in white organdie with tulle veil and carried a bouquet of bride roses.

I was seriously afflicted with a cough for several years, and last fall had a more severe cough than ever before. I have used many remedies without receiving much relief, and being recommended to try a bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, by a friend, who, knowing me to be a poor widow, gave it to me I tried it, and with the most gratifying results. The first bottle relieved me very much and the second bottle has absolutely cured me. I have not had as good health for twenty years. Respectfully, Mrs Mary A. Beard, Claremore, Ark. Sold by Geo. A. Harding.

The bridesmaids' dresses were as follows: Miss Welsh, green and white figured organdie; Miss Barin, white Swiss over green organdie and Miss Morey, green organdie with moire ribbons. After the ceremony refreshments were served, at which time the members of the Aylci club, to which the bride belongs, and her most intimate friends, assisted. The room where the bride's cake, containing the ring, was distributed, was a creation in red, white and blue; flags were artistically draped and red and white roses, blue bachelor buttons and other flowers of the above named colors were ingeniously arranged. As the legend runs, the one who secures this circled band, she it is who next will do the wedding garments. The young lady whose fate is sealed is the bride's sister, Miss Hazel Phillips.

Clackamas County People Write from Afar. THREE ENTERTAINING LETTERS

Bustling New York, Tragedy from Skagway, and Hot Shot from the Oregon.

An Interesting Letter From New York New York, May 7.—It may be of interest to some of your readers that the writer, having resided in Oregon City several months should give a little account of himself, and incidentally, speak of some things of interest in this, the greatest city on our continent. Should any resident of the Falls City seek us, we may be found residing near Morning-side Park, within a block of Columbia University, in full view of Grant's tomb. Our church is that of the Holy Apostles, corner of West Twenty-eighth street and Ninth avenue when, during the hot months of July and August, all services are suspended, except the morning service and sermon at 10:45. They will hear the same voice heard in St. Paul's and, they may listen to the same sermon. This city is one of overwhelming magnitude. It resembles more and more, London, the metropolis of the world. Its increasing size impresses us. But it is a city of extremes and excesses; so are all cities. There is splendor and squalor, intensity and illness, virtue and vice, infidelity and faith, horror and happiness, hell and heaven. But, upon the whole, Christianity has an immense and increasing influence here. All demonstrations are alert and earnest. The Episcopal church is, as an army with banners, mighty and Christlike. At times we have been able to get away from our own church to visit and observe the workings of others. Some are marked for simplicity of service, others for beauty, others for practical work, and all alike for their earnest desire to bless mankind. If a kind Providence shall give us the opportunity, we shall be glad to visit these things from the chance of St. Paul's some day. Up to the first of June the weather, for two months, has been as disagreeable as it was unusual. Out of seventy consecutive days only eleven were without snow or rain. We have known, for years, that the rainfall, per annum, was the same in Philadelphia, Davenport, Iowa, and Portland, Oregon; but, this being the first spring in the East in 11 years, we were not quite prepared for so much snow and rain. We had forgotten the variable and sudden turning of the weather. Discerning business men say to me that the entire Pacific Coast is on the eve of a tremendous commercial uplift. That if we annex Hawaii, and hold the Philippines, the center of trade will perceptibly shift to that region. This may be optimistic; but there is no doubting that ships of commerce will take the place of ships of war, and, like shuttles, back and forth between the coast and the isles of the ocean, construct ties that shall bind peoples and enterprises to the enrichment of the individual and the welfare of the whole. Shall not Portland as well as San Francisco share in the commerce of the seas? Shall not the splendid Willamette river, with its un-explored opportunities for industrial enterprises, have a large part in supplying Honolulu, Apia, and Manila with manufactured fabrics? Without neglecting cereals and fruits, why not increase, in quantity and variety, all sorts of manufactures? Not so much the farm as the factory, not so much produce as products have enriched England, New England and the Eastern States. The farmer is honest, the manufacturer is inventive. The farmer develops the ground beneath his feet, the latter brings riches from afar. The farmer supports the manufacturer, but without the latter, the former would simply subsist, having scarcely money enough to pay taxes. If, as business men predict, we must henceforth have a navy that shall rise to second place, and a standing army quadrupled, and with new and large markets upon the Pacific and in the Orient, why not Oregon City and the major half of the valley share in the coming prosperity? Why not young men and strong men combine to manufacture? Why—almost anything, from a patent medicine to a battleship.

A Letter From the Far North. SKAGWAY, Alaska—A few lines from this place may not be unwelcome. The weather is all that can be desired, warm and pleasant, no sickness to speak of, nor has there been for some time. Several of the doctors who have been here during the winter and spring have left, notably Dr. Cornelius; and the fine new Red Cross hospital is almost unoccupied. Packing, which was almost suspended while the winter trail was breaking up, is again going forward, the wagon road being of great assistance. Times, which were dull, comparatively, while the packing was stopped, are lively again especially since the railroad boom struck the town. This road, which was doubtful for awhile, is now an assured fact, and is being pushed rapidly, rights of way being secured, and the sound of pick and shovel being heard constantly. Property is rising in value every day.

A fire carelessly set in a brush heap, and left to its own devices, spread and burned eight houses, some of the houses contained large outfits which the owners intended starting for Dawson with soon. Decoration Day was duly observed here by exercises in the Royal Theatre building by the school children after a parade headed by the band playing suitable music.

A Negro woman was found murdered in her room a few days ago, and the murderer has not as yet been apprehended. I find that a great many, owing to the heading of Skagway to the items detailing the news of the avalanche on the Chilcoot trail, are under the impression that it occurred on this trail, which is a mistake. The Chilcoot is the Dyea trail. This is the White Pass, or Skagway trail, and is safe.

War news is eagerly looked for, and is had here in papers four to five days old from Seattle. Fine fishing is had here in the lakes for trout and also in the bay for various salt-water fish. Strawberries and cherries are in market, also various kinds of vegetables, brought here in cold storage. Some nice gardens are being put in here, and there is no doubt but what they will do well. Streets have been gravelled in the town, and look very nice.

Mr. McIntyre may possibly go into the interior soon. His friends may be glad to know that his health has greatly improved since his residence here and he is so fat and hearty they would hardly know him. He sends greeting to his friends and wishes for success to the Republican party.

Mrs W. M. McINTYRE.

Fred Nelson on the Battleship Oregon. U. S. N. OREGON, OFF SANTIAGO DE CUBA, June 2, 1898. Dear Sister.—I am going to keep a sort of diary now and write each day until I get a chance to send it. The Oregon is with Sampson and part of Schley's fleet blockading this port. This afternoon at 12:15 the lookout saw a smoke and the Oregon gave chase for 2 1/2 hours. Was run under forced draught, making 16.25 knots an hour, almost as much as she made on her trial trip, 16.79. So you see she is not much damaged by the long trip, overtook the tug at 2:30; Proved to be newspaper tug. Lieutenant Ewell boarded the tug and reprimanded the captain for running away.

June 3.—Last night three men volunteered to take an old coal steamer and sink her in the entrance to the harbor which is very shallow, so that the Spanish ships which are in there could not get out. It is known that ships are in the harbor but they do not know how many. They sunk the steamer all right but have not yet returned. The fort is at the entrance to the harbor and it is feared that they are captured or killed. At 3:30 a Spanish tug came out and steered for the flagship, New York and informed the admiral that men from the coal steamer were captured, two being slightly wounded the fort has fired a few at us but they are such poor marksmen that I don't consider we have been under fire, the nearest shot was about 300 yards away. At 11:30 general quarters sounded and we started to chase something, presumably a torpedo boat. The New York, New Orleans and Dolphin fired at it but the Oregon being stationed farther out did not get there in time to fire. It is believed the New Orleans sunk her. The forts fired a few shots but they were so wide of the mark that they caused no excitement.

June 4.—The cable-boat cut the cable last night, so the Spanish have no communication with the outside world. The torpedo boat Panther picked up two 15-foot torpedoes that were floating about. They were fired by the torpedo boat that we chased last night. The Spanish have a poor eye for shooting for they have about 19 ships to shoot at and they missed all of them. At 4:25 the fort fired a shot at the Massachusetts and the Texas returned the fire; fired one shot. General quarters sounded on the Oregon and we loaded all the guns and waited. The fort would not fire again, so we didn't, as we are waiting for troops to hold the town after we capture it, 10,000 are expected tonight when they arrive look out for a squall. Cuba seems to be covered with Morro castles but I think it will go up in smoke tomorrow. We learned today that the poor fellows from the Merrimac are confined in the fort, so if we bombard the place we must kill them. We cannot see the town, for it is behind a strip of land. The bay is so narrow and so situated that a ship might pass and never see it. We have been within 4,800 yards of the fort today but they wouldn't shoot at us. The Oregon has been cheered every place we have been, except by the Spanish and they don't know a good thing when they see it.

We feel the heat a great deal here but otherwise suffer no inconvenience; have plenty ofhardtack, flour and canned meats and vegetables. I am dressed mostly in a small towel sitting under a ventilator while I write. Everyone is impatient to begin fighting, but as we can't, we smoke Key West cigars and wait. They sold us about 10,000 ancient eggs at Ket West and for days most of the crew held their noses. It looked funny to see the boys hold their noses with one hand and crack an egg with the other. I don't like eggs myself. I like to collect relics but ancient eggs are not in my line. Well, I guess I will quit for this time. FRED NELSON.

Emil Lund, a Swede of Oswego, while laboring under temporary insanity slashed his throat three times cutting the jugular vein and trachea. Lund had been working for Mr. Morey on the ranch and the distressing accident occurred about 8 o'clock in the morning while his wife was getting breakfast. There is small chance for recovery as he has become very weak from loss of blood and the trachea is so cut it is hard to close up. That Lemme Neck can be cured with Dr. Miles' NERVE PLASTER. From Extreme Nervousness.

THAT no one remedy can contain the elements necessary to cure all diseases, is a fact well known to everyone. Dr. Miles' System of Restorative Remedies consists of seven distinctively different preparations, each for its own purpose. Mrs. L. C. Bramley, 37 Henry St., St. Catharines, Ontario, writes: "For years I suffered from extreme nervousness and annoying constipation, developing into palpitation and weakness of the heart. I was unable to sleep, suffered much from headache, pain in my left side, palpitation and a constant feeling of weakness and prostration. I began using Dr. Miles' Nervine, Heart Cure and Nerve and Liver Pills and the Anti-Pain Pills to relieve sudden paroxysms of pain and headache. I soon felt much improved and the pains and aches and weariness left me. I then took Dr. Miles' Restorative Tonic and am now restored to my former good health." Dr. Miles' Remedies are sold by all druggists under a positive guarantee, first bottle benefits or money refunded. Book on diseases of the heart and nerves free. Address, DR. MILES MEDICAL CO., Elkhart, Ind. All pain banished by Dr. Miles' Pain Pills.
