The work of Great Britain in Egypt forms an impressive object lesson in Anglo-Saxon rule well worthy of careful study at the present moment, as perhaps illustrating the kind of service the United States may be destined to render to any semi-civilized peoples who may come under their protection. In an article entitled "What Britain Has Done in Egypt," in the "North American Review" for July, Ralph Richardson, Honorary Secretary of the Royal Scottish Geographical Society, enters exhaustively into the subject, dwelling upon the benefits conferred upon the country since the British occupation in 1882, the many wise reforms introduced under their administration, and the progress achieved in wealth, commerce and industry by her inhabitants.

About two years ago a traveling salesman kindly gave me a small bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea remedy. Much to my surprise and delight its effects were immediate. The Excursion.

The excursion to Latourette falls, on Monday, under the auspices of the Methodist church, was a very pleasant affair, and although the number in attendance was not as large as hoped for it fully made up in quality what little it may have lacked in quantity. After leaving Oregon City two stops were made for passengers, at Oswego and Portland, at both of which places several came aboard, making the number in attendance about two hundred. The day was an ideal one, the sky being sufficiently cloudy to give an invigorating freshness to the river breezes, making it especially pleasant for young and old, to occupy seats on the upper and lower decks. One of the agreeable features of the occasion was the band music, which was furnished by ten young men, under the efficient leadership of Mr. Randall. They rendered 32 selections in a very creditable manner, which all enjoyed. Everybody realized that the Fourth of July came but once a year, and entered into the spirit of the day with a surprising vim. Old and young, with one accord seemed to catch the inspiration of the occasion, for laughter and merriment reigned supreme, and when upon reaching Portland the news of Sampson's great victory became known, additional enthusiasm fairly shook the boat in cheers for old glory, and the splendid victory achieved. The falls were reached about 2.30, and all left the boat to view this awe inspiring scene. Everybody was greatly impressed with the grandeur of this beautiful sight and returned to the boat declaring that it surpassed all description.

The homeward trip was no less pleasant than that of the morning, its chief feature being the following well-rendered programme:

Solo, Prof. Heritage; recitation, Miss Dollie Cross; solo, Harvey Heritage; recitation, Miss Leo Williams; solo, Prof. Heritage; recitation, Miss Florence Petty; recitation, Miss Yetta Millstone; solo, Miss Mary Bluhm; solo, Miss Mae Case.

After this all joined very heartily in singing national airs and sacred music, during which Prof. Heritage and his son Harvey rendered several mirth-provoking songs, which all enjoyed.

The boat reached home about nine o'clock, and no one expressed themselves dissatisfied with the day.

League Social.

One of the most pleasant lawn socials that has been given in the city for some time was that of the Epworth League's a few days ago on Mr. Oberg's lawn. Chinese lanterns lighted up the yard and a large number of young and old gathered to enjoy the pleasures of the evening. The election of officers of the League occurred first. This proceeding taking place under the spreading branches of the historic apple tree that has stood so long on the church property. The officers chosen were: President, C. A. Williams, first vice, Mamie Aldrich; second vice, Mrs. G. Osborn; third vice, Nora Williams, fourth vice, L. Scott, secretary, J. W. Swafford, treasurer; Mrs. E. E. Martin; organist, Mrs. Oberg. The McBride-Mason Wedding.

There was a pretty wedding at Warrentown, Oregon, on Wednesday, July 7, 1898, when Miss Lena Mason was married to Mr. George M. McBride, the ceremony being performed by the father of the groom, Judge Thomas A. McBride. The bride is the charming daughter of Editor Mason, of the Warrentown Tribune, a highly respected citizen of that place. The groom is claimed by Oregon City as one of her brightest young men, having always resided here, up to two years ago, and can number his friends by the score. Mr. and Mrs. McBride will reside in Astoria where they have a neat cottage ready for occupancy, Mr. McBride being employed in the custom house in that city. Many friends extend congratulations and best wishes to the young couple for a long and happy journey through life.

Patriotic Service.

The Sunday evening service at the Methodist church was an especially interesting one, as it was a patriotic nature. Mr. A. S. Dresser and Mr. — Moores were the orators of the evening, and entertained the large audience with well-prepared addresses; Mr. Dresser presenting in an able manner the thought that we as a people underestimate the privileges which we enjoy in times of peace, and need to be brought to a realization of their great value by occasionally being forced to defend them. Mr. Moores ably reviewed the history of our country, eloquently showing that ours is the greatest nation in the world, having 30 times as much railroad as Spain, and closed by paying old glory a tribute. Prof. Heritage sang two solos appropriate to the occasion, both of which met with the hearty appreciation of the audience.
