Terms of the Agreement Between The United States and Spain.

The text of the protocol signed between Spain and the United States is as follows:

"His excellency, M. Cambon, ambassador extraordinary and minister plenipotentiary of the French republic at Washington, and Mr. William R. Day, secretary of state of the United States, having received respectively to that effect plenary powers from the Spanish government and the government of the United States, have established and signed the articles which define the terms on which the two governments have agreed with regard to the questions enumerated below, and of which the object is the establishment of peace by the countries, namely:

— "Article I—Spain will renounce all claim to all sovereignty over and all her rights over the island of Cuba.

Article II—Spain will cede to the United States the island of Porto Rico and the other islands which are at present under the sovereignty of Spain in the Antilles, as well as an island in the Ladronne archipelago, to be chosen by the United States.

"Article III—The United States will retain the city and bay of Manila pending the conclusion of a treaty of peace, which shall determine the control and form of government of the Philippines.

"Article IV—Spain will immediately evacuate Cuba, Porto Rico and the other islands now under Spanish sovereignty in the Antilles. To this effect, each of the two governments will appoint commissioners within 10 days after the signing of the protocol, and these commissioners shall meet at Havana within 30 days after the signing of this protocol, with the object of coming to an agreement regarding the carrying out of the details of the aforesaid evacuation of Cuba and other adjacent Spanish islands, and each of the two governments shall likewise appoint within 10 days after the signature of this protocol other commissioners, who shall meet at San Juan de Porto Rico within 30 days after the signature of this protocol, to agree upon the details of the evacuation of Porto Rico and the other islands now under Spanish sovereignty in the Antilles.

"Article V—Spain and the United States shall appoint to treat for peace five commissioners at the most for either country. The commissioners shall meet in Paris, October 1 at the latest, to proceed to negotiations and the conclusion of a treaty of peace. This treaty shall be ratified in conformity with the constitutional laws of each of the two countries.

"Article VI—Once this protocol is concluded and signed, hostilities shall be suspended, and to that effect in the two countries orders shall be given by either government to the commanders of its land and sea forces as speedily as possible.

"Done in duplicate in Washington, read in French and in English by the undersigned, who affix at the foot of the document their signatures and seals August 12, 1898."

THE PRESIDENT'S PROCLAMATION.

WASHINGTON, August 12.—The president issued the following proclamation:

"By the President of the United States of America—A proclamation:

"Whereas, By a protocol concluded and signed August 12, 1898, by William R. Day, secretary of state of the United States, and his excellency Jules Cambon, ambassador extraordinary and minister plenipotentiary of France at Washington, respectively representing for this purpose the government of the United States and the government of Spain, the United States and Spain have formally agreed upon the terms on which the negotiations for the establishment of peace between the two countries shall be undertaken; and

"Whereas, It is in said protocol agreed that upon its concession and signature hostilities between the two countries shall be suspended; and notice to that effect shall be given as soon as possible by each government to the commanders of the military and naval forces,

"Now, therefore, I, William McKinley, president of the United States, do, in accordance with stipulations of the protocol, declare and proclaim on the part of the United States a suspension of hostilities, and do hereby command that orders be at once given through the proper channels to the commanders of military and naval forces of the United States to abstain from all acts inconsistent with this proclamation.

"In witness whereof I have hereunto set my hand and caused the seal of the United States to be affixed.

"Done at the city of Washington, this the 22th day of August, in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and ninety-eight, and the independence of the United States the one hundred and twenty-third.

WILLIAM MCKINLEY, President.
WILLIAM R. DAY, Secretary of State.
