An Oregon City Visitor.

Mrs. E. E. Chaiman was very agreeably surprised by a visit from her cousin Hon. Thos. S. Hague, an alderman and cotton manufacturer of Olderham, Eng. It has been over 20 years since Mrs. Charman was in England, but she recognized her cousin as soon as she saw him. Mr. Hague is also a cousin to Mrs. G H. Wishart and Mrs. N O. Walden, He is making a tour of the United States and Canada for pleasure and general information. He says England and the United States understand themselves, and that the United States is capable of settling any question that comes before her. He admits that the United States is far ahead of England in rapid transit, electric lines, electric lights and tele phones and labor saving machinery, but England has better sanitary regulations and especially clean streets. Broadminded men like Mr. Hague are not only welcome to their relatives, but welcome to Oregon City.

A Pleasant Surprise.

The home of Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Charman was the scene of a very pleasant members of the Congregational church choir, both of the past and present, to possession of the elegant home, as an eyidence of good will and appreciation of Mrs. Charman's faithful and efficient work with the choir for many years. After general bandshaking and visit, games were introduced, and heartily enjoyed when elegant refreshments were served. A most enjoyable evening was spent and the company broke up about midnight, having greatly strengthened the musical as well as social ties, that unite the singers and musicians of the church.

To Nominate a Cadet.

Hillsborg, Oregon, Nov. 11, 1898. To THE EDITOR :- Kindly permit me to say through the columns of your paper that it will become my duty to nominate a cadet of the United States Military Academy at West Point, who will take an examination at Vancouver Barracks, Washington, on the first Monday of March, 1899. An examination of the physical and mental qualities of all applicants for such appointment will be made by President W. C. Hawley of the Willamette University, and Dr. J. A. Richardson at Salem, on Saturday the 7th day of January, 1899. Each applicant must also submit proof that he is of good moral character, devoted to the best interests of his country, and obedient to its laws and constituted authorities. The applicant who open examination proves to be the best qualified physically, mentally and morally will receive the appointment. No one is eligible except a resident of the First Congressional District, between 17 and THOS. H. TONGUE.

The Book Wonderful.

The palm of victory should by all means be given to Mr. Charles Dudley Warner. His latest achievement in book production is truly the grandest work of the century. The "Library of the World's Best Literture," as it is happily called, might also well be termed the crowning of the world's best efforts in the making of the books. It is an embodiment of modern taste, judgment and scholarship applied to the creation of a treasure for both practical use and supreme literary enjoyment.

To describe this magnificent "Library" in a brief notice is simply impossible, The great magazines of our time have Second-We have visited the county vied with each other in attempting it, and again, yet still leave much unsaid drink what should I sav?" both of praise and description. Let us try to imagine in one vast work the his- back, sir, and say, 'It gives me great tory and analysis of all great books and pleasure, sir, to drink with you. literatures, the lives of all distinguised writers, orators and thinkers, the critical review and interpretation of the master spirits of the past by the most competent living judges and specialialists, and finally a complete library of the choicest literary creations that have been given cover that idea."-Cincinnati Enquirer. to the world in all land and times.

The mind is simply amazed at the scope and magnitude of such unique work. And yet it was not made for scholars alone. It is thoroughly useful and practical to all who can read. It is helpful to the inexperienced. It is enjoyable to the most cultured and refined. It is inexhaustibly entertaining even to the mere idler. It rejoices and satisfies every mood and tense of thought, "from grave to gay, from lively to severe," so far as this may be done by the poetry, prose, history, essays, biography, orawisdom of all ages and nations. The mechanical leatures of the work are in harmony with its noble plan. Over a thousand portraits of authors embellish its pages. It is besides a yery marvel of typographic beauty The introductory edition of the "Library" is now obtainable through the Harper's Weekly Club at special prices and terms, so as to place some missionary sets in each locality. We strongly advise all who desire to secure this treasure to send name and address on a postal card for particulars to W. G. Gilbert, 59 McKay Building, Portland, Oregon.

The Pulse of New York.

On Friday evening that famous comedy dramatic success, The Pulse of New York will be seen at Shivel's opera house for the first time here. The piece is now on its eight successful tour, and is ever improving. The play is in three acts and is what may be termed a cycloramic vivid picture of daily life in a big city. The cast which numbers fifteen is headed by Miss Emyline Barr, a sparkling star soubrette. Twelve big specialties are presented in the second act, seats on sale at the post office.

Growing a Grandmother.

He was a wee little man, only 3 years complaining, more courageous and uncomp ing than any one knew, for though he was only a baby he had trials to bear. The family had gone to a new country in the far west, the mamma, this little man, and the sister, a little older. It was a very new country, very different from the city in the east where they had left many friends, relatives and, nearest of all, a dear old grandmother. The mamma was so busy in her new home that she had little time for the babies except to see that they were clean and well fed. So they were lonesome, sometimes, as mamma found out one day in a way that brought the tears to her eyes.

The little 3-year-old had been very busy and very quiet making a big hole in the ground with such earnestness of purpose that she went to see what was

The hole was completed when she reached the spot and in it had been placed something that she took out and examined with wondering curiosity. It was the strangest thing to go into a hole in the ground-an old daguerreotype, a picture of the dear grandmamma "Why, baby," exclaimed mamma,

"what are you doing with this?"
"I fought," said the little man with a quivering lip and all the pent up loneliness and homestokness in his voice, "I fought, maybe, if I planted it annozzer grandma would grow."-New York

Where Kentucky Language Runs Out Baron Cassiers, one of the best known Frenchmen of this city, when he first came here made a trip to Lexington on behalf of a friend of his in Paris who asked him to secure a very fine horse. While in Lexington he was treated most hospitably. Although he did not speak the very best of English, he found himself getting along very handsomely with the Kentuckians.
