LETTER FROM ROUMANIA, EUROPE Mr. E A. Sterns, Formerly of Marmot,

This county, Writes of His Trip.

BUKAREST, Oct. 21 .- As per request I will begin my first installment for the description of my trip to Europe, also of the different cities I visited, that especially of Roumania, which is not so very often visited and described, notwithstanding that it may be the most their ways, dress, habits etc.

On the 26th day of August, at 8:15 p. m I left South Bend, Indiana, and after an all-night ride I reached Hamilton, Ont., Canada, where I remained three days on a visit before proceeding on my long sea voyage. The hand baggage was examined at Port Huron at midnight by the Canadian officials. Hamilton, of 72 000 population is built on an elevation facing Lake Ontario, and makes a very beautiful appearance. Its depot is very encely built of brick, has a pretty garden alongside, sloping, and the "Hamitlon" imbedded beautifully with large letters painted white, occupping a space of at Zeast 30 feet; electric street railroads runming all over the city, as well as outekists, fine large brick buildings, principally The Hamilton Bank, Waldorf House, the Canadian Pacific depot, located in the center of the city and enany others too numerous to mention. The streets are nice and clean and the business streets are paved with bituminous rock (asphalt.) A ride on the efectric railroad to Grimsby Park a garden at 10 miles from the city will cepay one for the trouble taken to visit Orchards on either side of the track, and as background, the chain of hills, and as foreground, the lake, one feels delighted when riding.

The market in the center of the city for the accommodation of the farmers to dispose of their ware as well as for the citizens to buy fresh stuff from the Carmers every day, is an example which every city should follow. It is a followed by the bride, leaning on the night worth seeing; early in the morning when every available space is eccupied by the farmers with all kinds of meats, fewls, breads, cheese and thousands of and best man, William Parker; then other articles. Everything is quiet and followed the bridesmaids. Miss Ella orderly.

After a 3 days very pleasant stay I Seft Hamilton for Montreal via Toronto. At 7. a. m. arrived at Toronto, at 8:45 changed cars and proceeded on our courney, which was mostly alongside the take, passed the Toronto fair grounds, which were to open that day. Orchards and farms ornamented the sides of the callroad and the scenery was grand. At 6 p. m. Montreal was reached and soon afterwards I boarded the steamer which was to take me to Liverpool.

First day on steamer-At daybreak the next morning the steamer left the dock and steamed its way down the St. Lawrence river. The weather was cloudy, but the beautiful scenery on the woad made us forget the unpleasant weather. About 11:30 a. m. a call of "man overboard" was heard and the captain ordered the boat lowered and the steamer stopped, which was done, but before the life boat was lowered it was found out to be a mistake. The children of some passengers were playing hide and seek on the salon deck and as one of the children could not be found his little sister came to the conclusion RHOADES.—On Saturday, Nov. 12, '98, that he had fallen overboard, and caused at the home of his daughter, Mrs. the scare. Of course the steamer was stopped and the trained sailors were already on band, taking the canvas off of the life boat, but it was soon discovered, and the child gotten out from under a seat in the smoking room and the steamer puffed again down the river. Al 6 p. m. we stopped at Quebec for a few hours and then proceeded again on our voyage.

Second day-All went smooth, at 2:30 p. m. we stopped, passing Rimonsky, and Consumption; used through the and waited for the Canadian mail for world for half a century, has cured in-England and Ireland which was brought | numerable cases of incipient consumptiby a small river boat and also a few on and relieved many inadvanced stages. passengers that day and after taking If you are not satisfied with the results years on this guarantee. Third day-We were in the Gulf of St. Lawrence and enjoyed another fine day's ride and stored away the usual four eneals that day. In the evening we were treated to a fine display of the Aurora Borealis, which is a treat not easily forgotten. Moonlight also added to our pleasure. I had as companion in my cabin, a Catholic priest, Rev. Chas. Drees, who was going to Belgium, an Evangelical pastor, Rev. Wm. Hunter, who was going to England, and a Presbyterian old gentleman who went to make his yearly visit to his daughter in London

Fourth day-We were passing the to take their two last meals, and turned white race; in and out, as it was necessary. I reserved my fourth meal for some other time, not that I was sick, but as a prevention.

Fifth day-Being Sunday we had church and the captain offered Rev. Hunter the pleasure to officiate, which he did very creditably. He is a young married man, very well learned and of a very liberal feeling, his acquaintance is figure is 330 pounds. a gain, and not a loss to a person, as he is a good and just scholar. A fog came more and more rapidly until the weakup in the forenoon and stayed with us ness of old age is reached. It is not pos only an hour or so and left us, but not sible to give statistics of the decline of without leaving a cold wind in its stead, which brought clouds, but no rain. Nearly one half of the people sick.

Sixth day-Windy all day and rain at intervals, I stored away only three meals that day

Seventh day-Foggy and north wind all forenoon and to pass away the time of the unpleasant weather we played interesting to read about, its inhabitants, several games of pedro. The wind continued all day but the steamer behaved well and did not rock very beavy.

Eighth day-Cloudy again all day and not at all pleasant. A loyer of sport When they talked of their Raphaels, Correg would have given all he had though to see the unique races we saw about 5:30 that afternoon. It was a porpoise (fish) race. They were about four feet in length, very fat and with longish noses. It was a beautiful and rare treat to see them jump several feet out of the water trying to out-run one another. There were only a few that day and the race lasted several minutes. About 8 p. m. we passed a collier, it was quite a distance from us and could'nt make it out. (Continued next week.)

Married.

Pope-Warde-In Oregon City, November, 16, 1898, Miss Kathryn La-Tourette Warde to Mr. Charles Wesley Pope, Rev. T. W. Butler officiating. One of the prettiest home weddings of the season took place at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Charles LaTourette, this city, Wednesday evening, when their niece Miss Kathryn LaTourette Warde was united in marriage to Mr. Charles Wesley Pope, in the presence of about 70 invited guests. The house was a bower of beauty, so elaborate were the floral decorations.

Promptly at 7 o'clock p. m. to the strains of "Midsummer Night's Dream" played by Miss Spangler, the bridal procession entered the drawing-room, led by Miss Ina Chase, as maid of honor, arm of her uncle, Mr. Charles LaTourette, and proceeded to the temporary Batley and Miss Scott, of Portland, and the ushers, Mr. Charles Wilson and William Lewthwaite, of this city.

The bride was charmingly attired in a gown of white organdie over silk, with tulle veil and she carried a beautiful boquet of white roses.

After the ceremony and congratulations, the wedding party and guests repaired to the dining-room where an elegant luncheon awaited them, being presided over by Miss Sade Chase,

Miss Warde has always resided in Oregon City and is a general favorite among the young people here, while Mr Pope is the junior partner in the Pope Hardware Company and is a young man of much ability and promise.

Many beautiful and costly presents were given the young couple. The happy couple left on the 9:15 car where they will spend their honeymoon. On their return Mr. and Mrs. Pope will ing the winter.

At these dinner parties, according to Malone, though the wine and the dishes were of the best, there seemed to be a tacit agreement that mind should predominate over body. The table, we are told, though set only for seven or eight, often had to accommodate double that number. There was usually a deficiency of knives, forks and glasses, and the guests had to bawk for more supplies, while the host calmly left every one to shift for himself, though he lost not s word, if he could help it, of the converation. - Loudon Telegraph.

How to Find Out.

Fill a bottle or common glass with your water and let it stand twenty four hours: a sediment or settling indicates an unhealthy condition of the kidneys; if it stains your linen it is evidence of kidney trouble; too frequent desire to pass it or pain in the back is also convincing proof that the kidneys and bladder are out of order.

WHAT TO DO.

There is comfort in the knowledge so often expressed, that Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney remedy fulfills every wish in curing rheumatism. pain in the back, kidneys, liver, bladder and every part of the urinary passages. It corrects inability to hold water and scalding pain in passing it, or bad effects following use of liquor, wine or beer, and overcomes that uppleasant necessity of being compelled to go often alter where they were met by the groom during the day, and to get up many times during the night. The mild and the extraordinary effect of Swamp-Root is soon realized. It stands the highest for its wonderful cures of the most ditressing cases. #### The Innocence of Childhood.

As the tour de force of an entertainment once given at an English country house it was arranged that the children should present an original play, to be entirely written and acted by themselves. The play turned out to be surprisingly well written and would have won much praise but for the ending. This was the story of the play:

A gallant knight joined the brave King Richard in one of his crusades in Palestine. Nothing having been heard from him for more than seven years, the conviction was forced on his faithful wife that he was dead. The villain came to her and wanted her to marry him, but at the critical moment the knight reappeared and clasped in his arms his lady, who had never ceased to love him. Then explanations came, and be told of his many noble achievements. "In short, dear wife," said he, "I have never been idle an instant."

"And I, too, my lord, have not been idle," she said with pride, "See!" And here she led out before the electrified audience four lovely children to be presepted for the first time to their father. -San Francisco Argonaut.

Valuable Record.

When the furniture of Charles James Fox, the famous English orator and statesman, was sold by auction, there was among the books a copy of the first volume of Gibbon's Roman history.

It appeared by the title page that the book had been presented by the author to Fox, but no considerations of sentiment deterred the recipient from writing or the fly leaf this anecdote:

'The author at Brookes' said there was no salvation for this country until six heads of the principal persons in administration were laid on the table. Eleven days after this same gentleman accepted a place of lord of trade, under those very ministers, and has acted with them ever since."

Such was the avidity of bidders anxing and composition of the famous owner of the copy that owing to the addi--Youth's Companion.

A jolly old boy from the Midlands entered into one of the hotels at the seaside and seeing on the slab on the right a crab dressed on the shell with legs, claws and parsley ranged round, said to the landlord:

"What d'ye call that?" "Crab," was the answer. "Looks good. I'll have un, and gie us a pint of ale."

Bread and butter was added and the diner left to his dinner. In about an hour the genial landlord entered the getting on all right. He found him chawing up the last claw, the chawer red in the face, but beaming.
