OUR LETTER FROM EUROPE.

Home grown hemp. In summer time you will see the farmer wearing a pair of wide trousers and short tailed shirt over them tied at the waist with a belt and he looks like the wearer of pajamas. The women folks are also light dressed, but a little more than the men. The men's headgear is mostly for all the year around a sheepskin cap which they call "Cachinla" but written Caciola and sometimes they wear in summertime a large brimmed stiff felt hat of a brown or black color. They are working from early dawn till dark. The tools they are using in the field are very heavy and clumsy and not like our American tools improved for the facility of the farmers and every man's work.

On large farms they are using machinery of Hungarian, English and American make. The mowers, binders and threshers are all improved style and it seems that the English and American manufacture are taking the lead above all other manufactures. American sewing machines, American make of bicycles, American lead pencils and from what I understand, America is trying to compete with her paper and I am sure she will succeed. It is surprising how enterprising the Americans are, almost at the other end of the world they compete with home manufactured goods. Labor is much cheaper here. A common laborer, if he earns two fics or 40 cents per day, he is doing well exceedingly well. A policeman gets 65 fics or $13 per month; and a poor lot they are too. The night policeman has to blow his whistle every five minutes from the time of his going on duty at six p. m. until six a. m. The population of nearly all over Roumania is classified into several classes and make a distinction between each of them—one very seldom mingles with the other socially. The common division of the people are the working class. The merchants, the trades people and the others which do not belong to the above, being the rich classes. And even these common classifications do not mingle socially with one another or even contract marriages among them. The working class, farmers, and the majority of the people with trades, are of the rough element and 95 per cent are uneducated.

There is no law to compel education and notwithstanding this, they have not enough schools to accommodate all the children that want to go to school. Foreigners are taxed 40 fics or $8 per year for boys and 60 fics for girls or $12 and that only when all the Roumanian scholars have been given room the foreigners are then admitted. The schools are separate for boys and girls. What Roumania has mostly for such a small country of 5,000,000 population is a standing army of 100,000 which is eating its head off. The politics are as corrupt as can be, the other day they had an election of officials for all over the country and it was a sight to see those ruffians clubbing those that would not do as they wanted them to. The Governmentals who are in power now would not very well leave their chairs so they did all in their power by buying votes and fooling others under all kinds of threats so that they were elected and the result is as usual—lots of broken bones and heads, and the Liberals are left once more behind.

Roumania is a fine fruit, grain and wine country and does a lot of exporting. A few years ago Filoxera got into their vineyards and destroyed all the vines so that they had to import American vines, which thrive very well. The grain and fruit crops have yielded good returns this year and the people all over the country are overjoyed. Business has revived considerably and everything looks lively.

The climate this year is also exceptionally fine—a long and dry autumn, but cold. The working class and peasants are known by the clothes they wear as they are of a different style cloth and make from the merchants and better class of people. The latter wear the latest fashions and best clothes made. It is a great country for the sale of foreign manufacture and American goods seem to take the lead so far and I hope in a short time will export its manufactures and other products in large quantities all over the country. The farmers of Roumania are most all of them poor. The taxes they have to pay for every little trifle takes all they can scrape together and the savings of the year, and their huts are very poorly built and their daily life a hard one, their bread is made of corn flour boiled down and mixed with a little salt and stirred until thick and with this and a piece of cheese or once in awhile boiled salt fish or other such cheap articles consist their meals. Yet they are healthy and when Sunday comes you will see them gathered at the liquor houses which they call carciuma and drink wine with the women and the young men and girls dance to the national dance music played by a gypsy or two with a violin and a tambala and so while away the afternoons and evenings of all the holidays.

The Roumanians are like the Russians in belief, which is the Greek Catholic religion, and being an ignorant class they are made to believe almost anything the priest says. The priests wear beards and long hair which they plaid occasionally. Their apparel is almost the same as that of the Roman Catholic priest the cap they wear being the only difference it is a stiff tall cap covered with black cloth. The Bishops Archbishops and Mitropolit wear tall straight stiff plush caps red, dark blue and black in color. In church they are wearing their regular paraphernalia and use only the gregorian chant at their services Sunday and holidays. The priests marry except the Mitropolit and metropolit they being the highest priests and as a general rule are old by the time they reach that position. The insides of the churches are gaily decorated with all the saints they could think of and fortunes are spent on that only for which the best artists are employed. There are churches in some parts of Roumania whose steeples are gilded and silvered and many a church costs millions of francs to build. Their architecture is altogether different from any churches I have seen in other countries.

There are quite a number of factories in Roumania namely sugar, cloth, cheese, paper, matches, Linseed oil, acid tartaric and a lot more than I can think of at present. It is a good producing country but the corrupt political government is eating up all of it and pockets all the money they can steal. The King not being a native of this country does not take its welfare to heart and lets things take their own course as long as he is left alone to do what he wants. From what I can gather, the King has interests in several factories which bring him a very good income. There are quite a good many necessities of life taxed pretty heavy and are under the monopoly of the government. I will try to give you the names of a few which I had to find out from experience, cigars, tobacco, matches, salt, liquors, telegrams, receipts, bills and several others too numerous to mention. The country is far from being much advanced in improvements if it had not been for foreign labor and talent the country would be 50 years behind, as it is, the foreigners have put up fine buildings built railroads introduced electricity, telephone and machinery and have brought it to a decent standing.

EM A. STERN.

F. S. Kelly Promoted. The friends of Capt. Kelly, which includes everybody in Oregon City, are more than pleased that he has been given command of a company. The American Soldier, published in Manila, November 3, contains the following: "Lieutenant Kelly formerly adjutant of the First battalion, has been appointed to the lieutenant and command of company A. He was once captain in the O. N. G., but not commanding a company at the opening of the late war, he did not get a captaincy in the volunteers. However, he meant business, and was willing to come along, as any old thing, and he came. That is the kind of officers we all like, and we are glad he has been appointed to company A. The boys are looking eagerly forward to the day when they can again salute "Captain Kelly."

Beware of Ointments for Catarrh that Contain Mercury.

As mercury will surely destroy the sense of smell and completely derange the whole system when entering it through the mucous surfaces. Such articles should never be used except on prescriptions from reputable physicians, as the damage they will do is ten fold to the good you can possibly derive from them. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, O., contains no mercury, and is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. In buying Hall's Catarrh Cure be sure you get the genuine. It is taken internally, and made in Toledo, Ohio, by F. J. Cheney & Co. Testimonials free. Sold by Druggists, price 75 cents per bottle. Hall's Family Pills are the best.

Regardless Of Age.

The kidneys are responsible for more sickness, suffering, and deaths than any other organs of the body.

A majority of the ills afflicting people today is traceable to kidney trouble. It pervades all classes of society, in all climates, regardless of age, sex or condition.

The symptoms of kidney trouble are unmistakable, such as rheumatism, neuralgia, sleeplessness, pain or dull ache in the back, a desire to urinate often day or night, profuse or scanty supply. Uric acid, or brick-dust deposit in urine are signs of clogged kidneys, causing poisoned and germ-filled blood. Sometimes the heart acts badly, and tube casts (wasting of the kidneys) are found in the urine, which if neglected will result in Bright's Disease, the most dangerous form of kidney trouble.

All these symptoms and conditions are promptly removed under the influence of Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root. It has a world-wide reputation for its wonderful cures of the most distressing cases.

No one need be long without it as it is so easy to get at it any drug store at fifty cents or one dollar. You can have a sample bottle of this wonderful discovery Swamp-Root, and a book telling all about it, both sent absolutely free by mail. Send your address to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y. and kindly mention that you read this liberal offer in the Oregon City Enterprise.

Death of an Oregon Pioneer.

John Hancock Zumalt died at his home in Wilsonville, 12 miles above Oregon City on the Willamette river, Saturday, December 10, at the age of 81 years and 26 days.

John H. Zumalt was born in Philadelphia Nov. 14, 1817 and moved with his parents to Missouri at an early age, and at the age of 20 was united in marriage to Sarah M. Russell in Bolevia, Mo. by the Rev. M. Michiel, and 12 years later came to Oregon with emigrant train, arriving at Oregon City November 15, 1849, and about one year later they settled on a donation land claim of 640 acres, a part of which he now leaves. To this union was born 10 children, the sons: are A., Robert, Cap. and John D. Zumalt, of Oregon; the daughters, Mrs. M. C. Graham, of Newberg, Mrs. T. S. Riggs, of Nescotca, Oregon, Mrs. Cap. W. P. Short, now of Wilsonville and Mrs. W. P. Short, of B. C., Mrs. J. S. Epler, of Wilsonville and C. O. Davis, of Portland. Mrs. Frankie Eranklin, Henry and Jackson having died several years ago.

Zumalt ago last April, Mr. and Mrs. Zumalt with their children, grandchildren, great-grandchildren and scores of friends celebrated their golden wedding at the old homestead and six years ago the 10th of last March the wife died. The funeral took place Monday, Dec. 12, at 2 o'clock, p. m. at the Pleasant Hill cemetery, conducted by Rev. A. Brady, of Hood View.

THE HIGHEST INTERPRETATION.

The world of literature is so vast that no one man can nowadays claim intimate acquaintance with all the best of its products or even all its principal workers. The work of Shakespeare alone has engaged from time to time the almost exclusive study of many ripe scholars. Such a poet as Robert Browning, or a prolific novelist like Dickens, is analyzed and debated in a legion of clubs. The question naturally arises as to how and where a reader become familiar with the spirit and works of those numerous great authors "whom not to know would argue oneself unknown."

Never was the difficulty so fully and satisfactorily met as in Charles Dudley Warner's "Library of the World's Best Literature." As a basis for judgment we have here assembled all the best fruits of literature, in every field, that authorship has given to us since the world began. To enable us understand and appreciate the spirit of authors we are furnished with interpretative and biographical essays relating to a thousand of the foremost and greatest. These are not mere treatises by pedantic scholars. They are graphic portraits and estimates by living masters of criticism, each of whom has made a special study of his theme. Here we find the historian Lecky giving his estimate of Gibbon; Leslie Stephen depicts for the reader his old friend Carlyle; Prof. Ray Lankester writes of his own science-masters, Darwin and Huxley, Henry James gives a critical monograph on Hawthorne; and so the series runs through all the list—as if artists mighty with the brush were guiding us through a gallery of great paintings—only that here the paintings are of men whose works are immortal. In the same manner all the world's chief literatures are sketched and interpreted for us by scholars who have studied and lectured on them as specialties in the highest universities. In every single instance it is more and better than mere interpretation—it is a resurrection of the author the work, or the literature.
