SALEM, Jan. 5 .- The state tax levy for 1899 will be 57-10 mills, against 316 mills for 1898. This decision was reached by the governor, secretary of state and state treasurer at a meeting held today, when they inspected the summaries of assessment rolls of all the counties in the state, which they obtained at the secretary of state's office. The amount expected to be raised has

The increase in this year's levy over that of last lear is due to unexpected items in the general appropriation bill passed at the special session of the legislature, including $41,000 for the legislature of 1897, which did not organize; $33,600 for the purchase of the branch asylum site at Union; $25,000 for the replacing of the burned 1-uildings of the state agricultural college at Corvallis, and $15,000 for the expense of the Oregon commission at the Omaha exposition.

adered in line with that policy.

It was a happy looking, intelligent and, to every appearance, a well-mean-to ing body of men that assembled in both houses yesterday. A different feeling was evident among them than has been noticeable for several sessions. There was no barrier to obstruct free and consky was clear, and the atmosphere free from the missma of political wire-working. The greetings were cordial and the determination for earnest, united work were genuine. Under such favorable auspices the regular session was inaugurated and the people of the state have every reason to be hopeful of good results. The work of organization was of short duration. The officers of senate and house during the extra session were reelected at once, except in the case of the sergeant-at-arms of the house, where the dictates of propriety demanded a change, and to this place Benjamin S. Worsley, of Astoria, was elected.

The grestest question so far apparent is how to handle the question of committee clerks, which is as far from being settled as it ever was. The number of men, women, boys and girls seeking such places is as large as it has ever been, and members are importuned to an extent that is terribly annoying and difficult to meet. There is a sincere desire upon the part of a majority of the members to lessen the evil of the committee clerk graft, but the political precsure is wonderful and the question is just where to draw the line. Every member has some friend or friends seeking these jobs and feels bound to help them, so he is willing to let "the other fellow" do the reform |act so long as his
