Oregon City Boys in Manila.

Captain Leonard L. Pickens, Company I, has finally concluded to resign the command of his company, owing to sickness. He has been confined to his room much of the time during the past three months, and in fact ever since reaching the islands. He will proceed to the United States by the first transport leaving Manila. The order for promotions in the company are: First Lieutenant, M. D. Phillips to be captain; Second Lieutenant James U. Campbell for first lieutenant, and First Sergeant George W. Martin to be second lieutenant. Lieutenant Campbell was recently promoted from the first sergeantcy to the office he now holds, which makes his rise in the regiment extremely rapid. (M. D. Phillips is of Albany.)

Sergeant Major James Rintoul, Jr., received by the last mail a discharge from the service. He will leave for Hong Kong today, intending to take the steamer sailing from there for 'Frisco on the 13th. Colonel Summers speaks in high terms of the service performed by the sergeant-major during his connection with the Second Oregon regiment. He filled the same office for some time in the First regiment, O. N. G., being appointed from that position to the one he just leaves—Oregonian.

St. Paul's Guild.

The annual meeting of St. Paul's Guild was held in St. Paul's church on Easter Monday. The following officers were elected for the ensuing year: President, Mrs. H. L. Kelly; vice-president, Miss M. L. Holmes; secretary, Mrs. Fannie L. Cochran; treasurer, Mrs. Theo. Fouts.

St. Paul's Guild was organized on Easter Monday, 1874 during the rectorship of the Rev. John W. Sellwood at this place, and during all the changes which have taken place in this parish have maintained their organization, and accomplished much good. There still remains upon the roll three names placed there twenty-five years ago, viz Mrs. E. D. Kelly, Mrs. Fannie L. Cochran and Mrs. H. L. Kelly. The present membership of the Guild is twenty.

Faithful to His Duty.

Lieutenant Campbell's numerous friends in this city will be pleased to know of his faithful work in the army at Manila. The following is an extract from W. D. Dodson's letter in "How Oregon Volunteers Fought at Manila." "Desperate work was required in dozens of instances, and skilled engineers to operate the few serviceable pieces of fire apparatus were asked for. Oregon was equal to the emergency anywhere. Lieutenant Teller manned a steam engine out of the ranks of one section. Captain Wells directed another section in a prolonged struggle, in which ultimate success was only possible by quick, courageous work. Lieutenant Campbell used the men of Company I with good effect."
