Y. M. C. A. Work. In taking charge of the Oregon City Young Men's Christian Association, our purpose is to see that the good fellowship and cheer which characterize the building of Young Men's Christian Associations throughout the country shall take possession of our new building at the corner of Main and Eleventh streets. The new gymnasium will afford an opportunity for every man to secure a systematic, health-giving course of training, designed to affect the vital functions of respiration, circulation, digestion, and prevent degeneration and disease. Younger persons can, by judicious exercise, lay the foundation for a life of physical vigor, which those of indolent habits can never enjoy; while those of riper years, and even the aged, can keep the body in good condition. But to the business and professional man we especially call attention to the system of our work, which we call the "busy man's system". On entering the classes each member is given a thorough examination—the purpose of which is to ascertain the exact physical condition of the subject, in order that he may be directed aright in his exercises. These examinations will be given by one of the leading physicians of the city. For further information address or call on A. M. Grilley, Gen'l. Sec'y, Y. M. C. A. The free reading room will contain the leading dailies of the state, together with a large number of weekly and semi-weekly papers. There will also be on file a good selection of religious and secular weeklies and monthlies. Sunday at 4 o'clock, Men's Gospel meeting, good singing, short address. All are cordially invited to attend. A. M. GRILLEY, Gen'l Sec'y.
