

TEACHERS' MEETING.

An Interesting Session Held at Redland Saturday, June 26, 1899.

The regular monthly meeting of the Clackamas County Teachers' Association was held in the school building at Redland, Saturday, June 24, 1899.

Called to order at 11 a. m. by Supt. N. W. Bowland. The minutes of the previous meeting were read and approved.

The regular program was opened by singing "Bringing in the Sheaves," Miss Stone acting as organist.

Charles Rutherford delivered an address of welcome to the teachers, after which the pupils of the school sang a "Greeting Song."

"Measurements" was the subject assigned to H. S. Gibson, who made a very interesting talk on the same. He emphasized the importance of teaching principles understandingly.

Miss Maud Stone recited "Three Brothers" and was given a hearty encore. A recess of one hour was taken, to discuss an excellent lunch prepared by the Library Association.

Afternoon Session.

Called to order at 1:30 p. m. by N. W. Bowland.

Robert Gunther sang a solo, which called forth an enthusiastic encore.

A recitation was rendered in a very pleasing manner by Master Arthur Funk.

O. H. Byland delivered a very instructive address on the "Mexican War." In speaking of the causes which led to this war, the "slave party" was arraigned. He traced the cause of slavery through the history of our government, showing the great influence it exerted upon the country.

"Number in Nature" was the subject of a very able address by Rev. A. J. Montgomery. "The foundation of all Nature is number. The stars in their courses move with mathematical precision and accuracy. In studying botany we find the leaves of simplest flower arranged with absolute conformity to number. Three things that predominate with the human being, are 'thoughts, words, action.'"

"The Relation of Good Newspapers to Our Public Schools," was the subject of a carefully prepared and well read paper by K. H. Gabbert. "Pupils find aid in every study, from a good newspaper. They obtain broader and more comprehensive ideas of geography, composition and history. Of course it is not absolutely necessary for pupils to have the newspapers in school, but it is well to do so, as the teacher has an opportunity to guide the reading, to train pupils to read, or not to read certain paragraphs."

Mr. Rutherford's class gave an exhibition of club-swinging.

Misses Maud Stone and Mahala Gill were elected to membership in the Association.

It was decided to omit the July and August meetings of the Association. The next regular meeting will be held at Springwater, the last Saturday in September, 1899.

BERTHA M. GIBSON.

OUR LETTER FROM MANILA.

Rea Norris Writes an Interesting Letter to Clark Greenman.

MANILA, May 15th., 1899.

MR. CLARK GREENMAN. My Dear Friend—This, I will acknowledge, is a rather late answer to your letter, but the old saying, "better late than never," always holds good.

We boys have had some very hard fighting since you last heard from me, the account of which you have no doubt read in the papers, but I will give you some of the experiences of a kid, which may interest you. We left the Cuartel de Espano the 12th. of March, and marched to San Pedro Macoti, a distance of nine miles, where we pitched camp. The night was very disagreeable, as it rained nearly four hours, but we were up and had breakfast by 4:30.

We marched across the rice field and took position in the rear of the Washington regiment, where we remained all day acting as a reserve. That night we camped within two miles of Pasig river and had a skirmish with the natives, driving them across San Mateo river. Dodson, Oregonian reporter, and Oleon, of Co. E, were wounded. We then recrossed the river, and after supper all went to bed tired out. The next morning we again crossed the river and marched two miles when we were ordered to halt. The colonel sent out scouts, who returned and reported no enemy in sight. We again moved forward, but had not gone more than 500 yards when the "dagos" opened fire. We were in a corn patch and two seconds after the first volley there was not a man to be seen—every one was keeping as close to mother earth as possible, but we soon crawled to where we could get a shot, and if we didn't give it to those fellows no one ever did. It soon got so warm for them that they began to run like deer, but we chased them for a mile, then left them to the mercy of the Washingtons.

Lieut. Campbell then took eight of us across the river, where we secured a rifle piece and went back just in time to join our company, which was on its way to camp, where we stayed until the evening of the 18th., when we joined Co. M, which was situated a mile above. The next morning we started with the Washingtons and Twenty-Second regulars for Laguna de Bay. We marched over very rough country all day, making in all a trip of 30 miles. Co. D lost two men killed and a few wounded.

The next morning we marched to Manila and pitched camp on the Luneta, where we stayed until the morning of the 24th., when we started for the Calocan trenches. I was on guard all that night and could hear the native bugler, see the flash of the old cast-iron cannon, and hear the whir of the Mauser balls as they flew over head.

The next morning the Utah battery opened fire, which was soon taken up by the boys and answered by the natives. We were soon ordered out of our trenches and had advanced 400 yards when we were ordered to charge. The boys let out a yell and away we went, everybody crazy to be the first one there. Lieut. Brazee was shot through the arm before we had gone 200 yards and young Adams through the breast. We came to a line of trees growing on a rice paddy, and were ordered to halt, but we never ceased firing. We had been there nearly ten minutes, when Gantenbein was shot and another man lost a thumb. We remained there for 20 minutes, and again the order to "charge" was given. We had not gone 50 yards before Holland and Blasser were shot. Holland was in Co. I, and was not 14 feet away from me. He never said a word. Flickman and I carried him back a short distance and went on. We soon came to a small river, but the bridge had been blown out, and we could not cross, so we got in the ruins of an old church and had target practice. The natives were not more than 100 yards distant. They killed one man and wounded three. The Oregonians lost in all 64 men.

Next morning we crossed the river on a bamboo bridge which was built under cover of darkness and started for Polo. On our way we saw a great many new graves, which looked as though they had been made in a hurry as we could see a foot or an arm sticking out here and there.

We marched nearly a mile in sets of fours then deployed as skirmishers going directly towards Polo. We had not gone far before the "Dagons" opened fire which we returned with a will. They retreated to Polo and were ordered to join the Twenty-Second regulars, who were nearly a mile to our right. To do this, we had to march back half a mile and cross a bridge, which we did, arriving in Malinta just as Col. Egbert was killed. Our part of the line did not advance again that day.

We remained in Malinta until the 11th. of April doing guard duty, when we joined Co. M, which was stationed in Mariloo doing guard. They had lost three men during a night attack on the 10th. The morning of the 12th., we were given four hard tack for 48 hours' rations and started for Santa Maria with the Thirteenth Minnesota on our right. They were nearly a mile ahead of us when we started, but we passed them and had to wait nearly half an hour for them to come up. It was here that Gen. Wheaton called us the "Oregon greyhounds." He sent one of his aides to the colonel of the Minnesota with orders to keep his men up with us and used that name. We took Santa Maria with very little trouble and marched to camp in the afternoon arriving there about 6 o'clock.

The next morning we boarded the train and went back to Malinta, where the regiment stayed until the 21st., when they started for the front. They are now 14 miles above Calumpit and 48 miles east of the railroad. I strained myself on the 20th., and the major would not let me go on, so I had to go to Manila, where I am at the present time. Gantenbein is nearly well, and expects to be out within a week.

Theodore Miller was sent in from the front day before yesterday with fever. I don't know how sick he is, as I have not seen him. The other boys are well and are crazy to go home.

Your Sincere Friend,
REA NORRIS.

Married.

McARTHUR-POLLARD—At Grange hall in New Era June 24, 1899, Miss Almina Pollard and Mr. Bert McArthur, Rev. Meyer of Canby, officiating.

Promptly at 12 o'clock Prof. Ogle seated himself at the organ and as the beautiful strains of Mendelssohn's wedding march filled the air, the bridal party entered the hall, preceded by little Mae Brown, who carried a large bouquet of carnations. Miss Isabelle McArthur was bridesmaid and Mr. Frank McArthur best man. Rev. Meyer, of Canby met them at the arch of evergreens and roses, where they took the solemn vow of matrimony.

The bride was beautifully attired in white organdie, trimmed in Valenciennes lace and ribbon and carried a bouquet of bridal roses. The groom wore the customary black and looked as though he had gained his long wished-for prize.

They received many beautiful and useful presents. They left amid the good wishes and hearty congratulations of their many friends for a short wedding trip. They will be at home to their friends after July 1st, at their farm near New Era.

Died.

HAWLEY—After a brief illness, Mrs. E. M. Hawley died at her home near Logan, Clackamas county June, 22, 1899.

Emma Mary Pressy was born May 29, 1839, in the state of Michigan, and was married to B. C. Hawley, August 9, 1860. They came to Portland, Oregon, in 1864 and made that city their home for a period of five years. Since that time they have lived in the vicinity of Logan.

Mrs. Hawley was a charter member of Harding Grange No. 122, and has been an active member ever since its organization more than 25 years ago. She has held many prominent positions in the in the Grange and at the time of her death was librarian.

She was a woman whom to know was to love. Her bright and cheerful disposition made life happier and healthier for all with whom she came in contact. Her kindly heart seemed always searching for some one to help and befriend.

Mrs. Hawley leaves a husband, one daughter, (Mrs. Sprague, of Logan) two sons, seven grandchildren and many friends to mourn her loss.

Deafness Cannot be Cured

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portions of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube gets inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

OVERWHELMING PROOF.

Of the Superiority of Electricity Over Drugs in the Treatment of Chronic Diseases—Three Notable Cases.

To the Editor—For the past 20 years I have been sorely afflicted with bleeding and itching piles. Large tumors protruded. For years I had been unable to work for weeks at a time. Dr. Darrin has treated me the past two months and now I can say I am perfectly cured and able to work. The cure was performed with electricity and a slight operation. Before closing I wish to say that my sister, Mrs. Abbie Warrham, was cured 11 years ago by Dr. Darrin, of epilepsy, which she had been afflicted with for 26 years. She has never had a sign of epilepsy since 10 years ago. We reside together in Montavilla, Or., and can be seen to verify the above statement.
