The way to build up Oregon City is to give Oregon City People your Patronage.

The president has the right idea when he says he will recommend that the Philippine troops have a medal.

The nearer the next campaign gets the more evident it becomes that the money question will be a large factor in the campaign.

AND NOW there is talk of putting Morgan at the head of the ticket in place of Bryan. This talk of different candidates shows that Bryan is losing his hold.

THE BOYS of the Second Oregon arrived in San Francisco without any casualties and all are expected to return as soon as they are mustered out. Co. I has not lost a man. An enviable record.

THE O. R. & N. road has gone under control of the Short Line and will hereafter be operated in the interest of the Union Pacific rather than that of the Great Northern or Northern Pacific.

GENERAL WHEELER says that this is the peoples war and while a few copperheads may make trouble and delay the settlement of the question there is no doubt of the outcome. The general has a level head on this question as well as some others.

ALGER has been forced to resign. It has taken a long time to convince this man that he was not wanted, but after getting the cold shoulder from the administration and most of his power taken away he has seen the inevitable and resigned. It is well.

THE Ky. democrats after fighting for a week nominated a ticket. Now a meeting is called by the ones that were left out to fight the ticket nominated. Harmony and brotherly love always prevail in the blue grass country.

THE G. A. R. committee that has been investigating the question of pensions has found that the pension officials have given all applicants fair treatment. This administration has given the old soldiers treatment that is not subject to adverse criticism.

THE officers of the Second Oregon express the opinion that the only way to pacify Luzon is to crush Aguinaldo. He will have twice the respect for us when he has been thoroughly whipped. Trying to treat with these people as one civilized nation would with another is a waste of time.

THE WILLAMETTE VALLEY CHAUTAUQUA ASSOCIATION opened this week at Gladstone Park and if the whole meeting is as successful as the opening indicates the association will surpass all previous efforts. Matters of this kind bring the people together so that they can see and hear some of the brightest men of the country. These meetings tend to educate and broaden the people and are worthy of all support. We predict a very successful meeting of the association this year.

THE Second Oregon on its arrival in San Francisco found that the clothing worn in a tropical climate was not suitable to San Francisco where an overcoat is needed at this time of the year. San Francisco at this season of the year is a good place to get pneumonia and the boys coming from the tropics should have heavy clothing. The war department should have provided for these troops and others that are to follow in this respect.

It would have given the people of the state a great deal of pleasure to have had the Second Oregon come home in a body. Never in the history of the state has there been more unanimity on a question than on a welcome that the boys should be given. They have made a record that every citizen is proud of and the patriotic people of this state have waited for weeks to show the boys what they thought of them and if they had returned in a body it would have been a red letter day for the state. The people are disappointed that they cannot show the boys how proud they are of them in a public reception. The verdict is that the regiment is made up of heroes to a man and the good people of the state want a chance to show it in a public way. The Second Oregon will always have a warm spot in the hearts of the people of the state.

A happy introduction.
 An Englishman who is an enthusiastic Alpine climber came in one night to carry a friend off to a lecture which the veteran mountaineer Whympy was giving at Westminster on his pet theme, "Twenty Thousand Feet Above the Sea." The friend could not go, for he was otherwise engaged, but Whympy's name reminded him of a story of Sir James Linton, the late president of the Royal Institution of Painters in Water Colors. He had to introduce the well known artist E. M. Wimperis to the Alpinist, and he did it in the following fashion: "I want to make two distinguished men known to each other. The one is Mr. Whympy, the other Mr. Wimperis." For an impromptu this is not bad.

A Naughtly Reply.
 A story about William Pitt I read or heard somewhere many years ago. It is to be feared, is not authentic, as I cannot find it in Lord Stanhope's or Lord Rosebery's book. It represented a noble mediocrity as assuring the great statesman with some condescension that he might fairly expect an earldom for his magnificent services.
 "I an earl!" was the haughty reply
 "I make dukes."—Macmillan's

Limits of Heat and Cold.
 Extremes of heat and cold can be produced artificially to such intense extents nowadays that it is a physical impossibility to measure them with absolute accuracy. "We cannot measure the infinitesimal," says Charles Whiting Baker, editor of Engineering News. "The best we can do is to make careful estimates. The greatest heat produced artificially is that of an electric arc furnace, the kind that is used in the production of artificial diamonds, calcium carbide, etc. It is so intense that nothing exists with which to record it. It is estimated, however, to be of about 4,000 degrees F.
 "The coldest known temperature is that of liquid air, which freezes alcohol and mercury and distances all means of measuring. It is claimed for it that with it a temperature of 400 degrees below zero Fahrenheit is reached. The present limits of heat and cold are therefore represented by the arc furnace and the liquid air."

His New Coat.
 They had been chums for so long that when the one gave a chafing dish party to some of his more intimate feminine acquaintances the other made a point of returning early from the theater in order to be present. Chum No. 2 had hardly made his appearance before chum No. 1, in his anxiety to chatter nonsense with the prettiest girl in the room, managed to upset a basin of beaten egg yolks down the front of his new Tuxedo. Chum No. 1 was much distressed apparently, and chum No. 2 hastened to his assistance.
 "Go into my room and take mine," he adjured his friend generously. "I've a brand new one; just came home today."
 Chum No. 1 smiled queerly. "I know it, old boy," was what he said, grinning in a rather forced fashion. "Fact is—well—my own looked a little shabby this evening and I've got yours on."—Chicago Inter Ocean.

Its Meaning.
 "Oh, yes," said Miss Fylype. "Mr. Gayson is a nice enough fellow, but he ought to have his clothes made by a tailor."
 "How do you know he doesn't?" asked young Throggins.
 "How do I know? I can tell hand me down on anybody by the way they fit."
 "That means," bitterly soliloquized young Throggins as he wended his way homeward an hour later, "that I'll have to pay $85 instead of $15 for my next suit."—Chicago Tribune.

How Coffee Grows.
 This is how coffee leaves and berries look at about the time for the harvest; The coffee tree is an evergreen plant, growing 10 or 12 feet high. Its leaves are a dark, shiny green on the upper side and paler underneath. They are five or six inches long and from two to three inches wide. Flowers come in fragrant white clusters and give place to berries which when ready for gathering are a deep red. It takes from four to seven years to bring a plant to bearing.

The Ruling Passion.
 Customer—What is the price of this calico?
 Salesman—Sixteen cents a yard.
 Customer—Sixteen cents! I'll give you 15.
 Salesman—You misunderstand me, I said 6 cents, not 16.
 Customer—Six cents a yard! I'm! I'll give you 5.—Boston Transcript.

In the northwest provinces of India goats frequently eat without any ill effect the leaves and green stems of the "akana" or "madar" (Asclepias, or Salotropis gigantea), the milky juice of which is an acrid poison for human beings.

WASHINGTON IRVING.

He Was an Utter Failure as an After Dinner Speaker.

Washington Irving was not a ready after dinner speaker. The author of "American Bookman" says that he shunned public appearances. Yet when Dickens came to New York, in 1842, Irving could not escape presiding at the great dinner in his honor. They had already become friends through correspondence, for Irving's delight in Little Nell had been expressed in a letter to the author, and Dickens, in his enthusiastic response, had said: "Diedrich Knickerbocker! I have worn to death in my pocket, and yet I should show you his mutilated carcass with a joy beyond expression."
 The night of the public dinner came, and Irving's dread of the introductory speech kept him murmuring throughout the repast. "I shall certainly break down."
 At the proper time he rose to his feet, began bravely, but could only utter a few sentences, and ended by taking refuge in the announcement of the toast.
 "Charles Dickens, the guest of the nation."
 The applause was generous, and Irving took his seat.
 "There!" he said. "I told you I should break down, and I have done it!"
 Later, while on his way to Madrid, he found himself called upon at the dinner of the Literary fund in London to respond to the toast, "Washington Irving and American literature." All he could say in acknowledgment of an enthusiastic reception was:
 "I beg to return you my very sincere thanks."
 One Englishman at the table was heard to make the laconic comment, "Brief!"
 "Yes," said another beside him, "but you can tell the gentleman in the very tone of his voice."

The wolf of a far vacation howls at the doors of thousands of men who are well to do and surrounded by plenty. Ill-health, in the majority of cases, is starvation, pure and simple. It means that body, brain, nerve, bone and sinew are improperly or insufficiently nourished. Improper, insufficient nourishment is starvation.
 When a man's head aches it is because the tissues of the brain do not receive sufficient nourishment from the blood, or receive impure and unhealthy nourishment. When a man gets nervous and sleepless, it means that the blood is not properly nourishing the nerves. When his skin breaks out with blotches and pimples and eruptions, it means that the skin is being fed upon the impurities of the blood. Almost every known disease is primarily due to improper nourishment through the blood, which is the life-stream. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery is the greatest of all blood-purifiers and restorers. It gives edge to the appetite, corrects all disorders of the digestion, makes the assimilation of the life-giving elements of the food perfect, invigorates the liver, promotes secretion and excretion, and vitalizes the whole body. It makes firm, muscular flesh, but does not make corpulent people more corpulent. It cures 75 per cent. of all cases of lingering coughs, bronchitis, throat and kindred affections, which, if neglected, lead up to consumption. It is the best of all nerve tonics and restoratives. Kept by all medicine dealers.
 "I was taken ill in February, 1894, with headache and pain in my back, writes H. Gaddis, 722, of 313 South 1 street, Tacoma, Wash. I called in a doctor and he came three times. He said I was bilious but I kept getting worse. I took a cough so that I could not sleep, only by being propped up in bed. My lungs hurt me, and I got so poor that I was just skin and bone. I thought I was going to die. I used two bottles of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and it made me sound and well. It saved my life."
 No remedy relieves constipation so quickly and effectively as Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets. They never gripe.

A Minister's Mistake.
 A city minister was recently handed a notice to be read from his pulpit. Accompanying it was a clipping from a newspaper bearing upon the matter. The clergyman started to read the extract and found that it began: "Take Kemp's Balsam, the best Cough Cure." This was hardly what he had expected and, after a moment's hesitation, he turned it over, and found on the other side the matter intended for the reading.

For Young Men and Young Women.

There is nothing that will arouse the ire of a young man or woman so quick as to have inferior laundry work put off on them. They may dress ever so well, but if their shirt front or shirt waist is mussed their neat appearance is spoiled. The Troy laundry makes a specialty of ladies' and gentlemen's fine work. There can be no better work than is done at the Troy. Leave your orders at Johnson's barber shop.
