

THE CHAUTAUQU.

The Sixth Annual Assembly Opens With Most Brilliant Prospects.

After weeks of hard and unremitting labor the management of the Gladstone Park Chautauqu were highly gratified at the numerous signs of complete success visible on every hand the opening day, Tuesday, July 18th. For several days previous parties from a distance had been arriving and pitching their camps, so that a small city was already established when the gates were thrown open to the general public. The grounds have been thoroughly overhauled and put in first class condition, the athletic grounds have been receiving attention and are in perfect form, the talent are all here, and by no means the least, the public has shown a disposition to turn out in a manner that causes the attendance at former sessions to appear insignificant.

Tuesday somewhat over 5,000 people passed through the gates, which for an opening day was a most gratifying attendance. Another pleasant feature is the fact that applications for stock in the association are coming in numerous. If the attendance for the balance of the season holds anywhere near as good as the days to date the association will be enabled to clear off their indebtedness and leave a neat balance in the treasury.

The different societies and orders having representatives on the ground all have their headquarters tents up and an attentive and intelligent attendant in charge to furnish information and assistance to visitors. The officers headquarters tent is just opposite the auditorium and Secretary Gray can be found there at all hours. Ground Manager Cross was a busy man during the opening day but succeeded in finding satisfactory camp locations for everybody, while President Miller is here, there, and everywhere with hardly a minute to call his own. The stands on the ground are more numerous than in former years and good lunches, fruits, etc. are convenient for all.

The program opened Tuesday morning with music by the Chemawa band, who are in camp for the season, and Pres. B. A. Miller spoke a few well chosen words of welcome which was responded to by Prof. E. R. Skipworth, of Eugene. The introduction of the staff teachers to their classes followed. The afternoon program was an excellent one and the auditorium contained about 1,200 delighted listeners. The program as published was carried out in full and in its entirety was of a high order. The round table conducted by the ministerial association and presided over by Rev. A. J. Montgomery was a source of pleasure to the more serious minded who in the discussions there found much food for thought.

Those interested in athletics found enjoyment in the base ball game between Portland and Oregon City's Jolly Fellows. The game was somewhat one-sided by reason of the Portland team substituting several players from the famous Torpedo nine and victory went to them on a score of 16 to 3. The Jolly Fellows played the game under protest, but rather than disappoint the large crowd entered against the handicap and for four innings succeeded in holding Portland even. The fifth inning proved a Waterloo however and the Portlanders had things their own way after that.

The teams were composed as follows: Portland. Oregon City. Leighton.....p.....Neizer Corliss.....c.....Wills Lawson.....1 b.....Randall Stevens.....2 b.....Chapman Black.....s s.....Kelly Raynard.....3 b.....Hedges Stutt.....1 f.....Marshall Gardner.....c f.....Goodfellow Ray.....c f.....Parker

Rev. Sam Jones, the biggest little man who has ever appeared before a Chautauqu audience, held his listeners attention Tuesday evening for over an hour on his talk on "Get There and Stay There." Gov. Geer opened the lecture program and told the vast audience who were gathered in the auditorium that the Oregon boys had done just right in asking to disband in Frisco, as many of them would need every dollar they could get to start life over again. President Miller then introduced Rev. Sam Jones, with a few neatly turned words. When the famous Georgian came upon the platform he received an ovation from the audience and as the band played Dixie a droll smile crossed the face of the great preacher and he seemed to appreciate the delicate musical compliment paid him.

Lacking space to give a full report of his remarks, a few nuggets culled from the great treasure box of Rev. Sam's possessions are given. "One of the most heart felt compliments I ever received was from an old colored woman, who weighed about 300 pounds dressed. She said 'Mistah Jones, you is got a white face but bress de Lord youah heart is black.' She meant kindly." "The Presbyterians and Methodists ought to appreciate the get there and stay there policy. The Methodists can beat the world getting there but they are back before breakfast. The Presbyterians are slow getting there but they are stayers when they do catch on."

"Theories are not worth their weight in wind. I know a man who was soused under in baptist theory. He was hung. When young I had my theories. I thought Daniel Webster was a fool and if Solomon had come along I would have consigned him to the insane asylum. This world is cursed by false theories."

"The biggest fool in Oregon is the man who will argue against a fact. Most of you will do it. If you don't understand me it is your own fault. God provides for children and fools."

"The Methodist idea is to pour water over the kid when he is little, the Baptist idea is to wait until he is big and then souse him under." "I like a man who lives right and pays his debts."

Speaking to the ladies he said: "Some of you think you have married a man and you have only got an old pair of breeches. I thank God for everything hat wears dresses and aprons, but not for the kind that wears bloomers. They cut off the top of their dresses for the ball room and the bottom for the bicycle."

"The world and church are cursed with little people."

"Some people mistake perspiration for inspiration." "A man or a chicken without sand in his craw is a failure. Back bone is necessary to success. I would rather be a rascal than a fool, for you can convert a rascal but a fool is liable to bob up anywhere."

"The idle boys of this land will ultimately swamp the country. If you don't breed up the people they will be worse than razor back hogs in four generations." The speaker fairly revels in quaint witticisms, droll sayings and mingled pathos and wit and his audience was kept between laughter and tears for over an hour. The vast auditorium was literally packed with eager listeners from Portland, Ashland, Oregon City and nearly every hamlet in the state was represented.

Wednesday afternoon Mr. Jones spoke on "Manhood and Money" and his caustic remarks and pointed comparisons met the approval of a much greater gathering than greeted him Tuesday evening. Following the lecture the Woodmen of the World held possession of the auditorium with their round table exercises. Head Manager Hawley delivered an address defining the objects and benefits of the order. The Misses Edna Cawfield and Alice Leathwaite rendered a brilliant piano duet and R. Warner gave an exhibition of Indian club swinging. The Multnomah drill team captured the audience with the precision and uniformity of their evolutions. Mrs. J. H. Strickler sang a solo and Rev. Bollinger closed the session with a few apt remarks.

On the athletic field the Oregon City Y. M. C. A. team defeated the Portland team in a closely contested game of basket ball. The evening was devoted to a grand concert which was enjoyed by an audience that thoroughly enjoyed the splendid program offered. The principal attractions yesterday were the lectures by Prof. J. B. Horner and J. DeWitt Miller in the intellectual field and the baseball game between Portland and Chemawa.

LIGHTENS LABOR

Cobwebs about a house are usually the sign that the housewife has more than she can do, the way she goes about it; that all her time and strength are utilized in doing heavy work; that she uses soap in her cleaning. If she would only use heavy work would be so lightened that the little things needn't be neglected. Gold Dust gives a woman time to rest, time to visit, time to read, and time to sew. It is much better and cheaper than soap for all cleaning. For greatest economy buy our large package.

GOLD DUST Washing Powder
