

THE CHAUTAUQU.

The Opening Success Continues Large Crowds and Excellent Programs.

The week at Chautauqua has been one of uninterrupted pleasure and a satisfactory attendance has marked every day.

The attendance at the various classes is good and much interest is being manifested and the progress made is very encouraging to all.

Monday the principal address was delivered by Prof. Glen and he handled his subject in a skillful manner.

Tuesday witnessed a big crowd in attendance and the principal interest centered in Frank Beard, the chalk artist.

Wednesday's program was full of interesting features, and on it appeared visiting men of note and interest.

Thursday's program was full of interesting features, and on it appeared visiting men of note and interest.

Friday's program was full of interesting features, and on it appeared visiting men of note and interest.

County Superintendent N. O. Bowland has received instructions from the superintendent of public instruction in regard to the manner of conducting examinations for county and state papers, and as the matter is of interest to all teachers we print below extracts from the circular:

In order that the papers from your county may be distinguished from those of another county, it will be necessary for them to have some distinguishing mark.

To this end, you will instruct the applicants in your respective county to place the letter "C" as an exponent to their respective numbers, as follows: 1c, 2c, 3c, 4c, 5c etc. Papers should be headed as follows:

Number..... 1c..... Date..... Topic.....

Place the preliminary papers for state papers in one envelope, seal it, and place on it the name of the county only, and send with manuscripts. Send manuscripts to this office, unmarked, by express, C. O. D.

The state board of education, by the advice of the attorney-general, has adopted the following, relative to primary certificates: (1) That they are county papers and good in any county in the state.

Applicants for state papers need not necessarily write upon all of the branches. That is to say, if any applicant fails to write upon one or more branches, this department will consider that said applicant has failed in such branches.

cant will not be required to pay another fee for the same certificate, no matter how many examinations he may take to secure said paper.

The probabilities are that applicants for state papers can write on all the branches that they will take in three days; however, the program has been made out for four days, and you may use your judgment as to limiting them to three days.

According to law, the following program has been prepared by the state board of education:

For State Papers.

WEDNESDAY. Penmanship, history, spelling, algebra, reading.

THURSDAY. Written arithmetic, theory of teaching, grammar, bookkeeping, physics.

FRIDAY. Physiology, geography, mental arithmetic, composition, physical geography.

SATURDAY. Botany, plane geometry, general history, English literature, psychology.

For County Papers.

WEDNESDAY. Penmanship, history, spelling, physiology, additional primary, "The art of Questioning" and methods.

THURSDAY. Written arithmetic, theory of teaching, grammar.

FRIDAY. Geography, mental arithmetic, reading.

At this examination the law does not require the applicant to be examined in Oregon school law, either for state or county papers, unless they are graduates of chartered institutions.

Applicants for state papers will write upon a different set of questions on the common school branches than those for county papers, as you will doubtless observe when you receive the questions.

TRIALS OF A WOMAN.

Her Task, While Nerve Racking, Invites a Study of Some of the Curious Phases of Human Nature That at Times Are on Dress Parade.

As a rule the young woman who takes tickets at the picture exhibition is an art student herself. The other girls trying to earn money envy her and think she has a "soft thing."

"You would be surprised to see how much work it is," said a girl who takes tickets at one of the big exhibitions. "You have to keep your eyes open all the time, for there are a large number of people who try to run past without tickets."

"I'm afraid you will have to get one," said I. I was beginning to be afraid I should have to get a "bouncer" to put her out, for I was determined she should not go in without paying.

"What an imposition!" "That is one sort of the people I have to deal with. Then the other is the kind who wish to borrow a catalogue for a minute and keep it the whole afternoon."

"Do you know the price of pictures?" he asks. "Yes; would you like to know the price of any?" I reply. "There is one in the other room," he says.

"What is the number?" I ask. "I can't tell you the number, but it's in the other room." "Then I have to send him for the number."

"No. 221." "That is $500." "Why?" asks my old gentleman. "If it's early in the afternoon, I explain to him that I suppose the artist thinks it worth that; but he is well known, or what not; later I say, 'I don't know.'"

"If it's early in the afternoon, I explain to him that I suppose the artist thinks it worth that; but he is well known, or what not; later I say, 'I don't know.'"

"A great many people hold me personally responsible for the pictures. Lots of people come and talk very disagreeably to me about them. 'What makes them have such bad shows?' they ask me. Young men come up and say, 'Isn't this awful trash?' in an accusing sort of way, as though I had done it all myself."

"At private exhibitions it's different. There people come up to me and say, 'What a privilege to sit among the works of the masters all day!'

"The other day a friend of mine took my place. A man came up to her and asked: 'Miss, is your picture among these works of art?'

Sharks were almost unknown in the Adriatic until the Suez canal was opened. Now the harbors of Plume and Pola are so infested with them that residents dare no longer bathe in the open sea.

FOOLED THE CATAMOUNT. And the Ugly Beast Plainly Showed That His Feelings Were Hurt.

"People who imagine that animals haven't got feelings don't know what they are talking about," said the Yellowstone Park guide as he sat cleaning his rifle. "I was cutting a trail around one of the sprouty springs one day, and getting warmed up, I threw my coat over the end of a log. By and by I went off to hunt for a drink of water, and it was perhaps half an hour before I returned to my work."

"When I came up, it was to see a whalin big mountain lion creepin along to spring on the coat. It was over the log in a way to make it look like a man stoopin down, and the lion was nicely deceived. He skulked up to within 18 feet of the log, crouched flat for a moment and laid back his ears, and then he made two jumps of it. Gressed lightning wasn't in it with that critter. It was like a big ball of fur shot from a cannon, and as he flew he uttered a screech which brought my hair on end. If that coat had been a man he would not have had time to say gum. The lion lit down on it with claws and teeth ready for business, and in five seconds the garment was cut into carpet rags."

"Then he realized the cheat, and you never saw a human being look so foolish. His tail went down to the earth, the fire died out of his eyes and he'd have given $40 for some one to kick him up hill. His chagrin was so plain that I laughed right out, and that broke his heart. He looked at me and whimpered like a puppy, and when I asked if his mother knew he was out he fetched a sort of sob in his throat and sneaked off like a dog caught killing sheep. If I could have run fast enough to have caught him by the tail he wouldn't have even looked back. He knew he had made a fool of himself, and he wanted to go off and hide and have a long think."—Chicago Inter Ocean.

PIDGIN ENGLISH. The Queer Jargon Used by the Business People of China.

The nondescript tongue known as "pidgin English" is almost the only medium of communication between foreigners and the Chinese, and nine-tenths of the enormous business done in China between the English and the Chinese is done through this grotesque gibberish.

A young foreigner who called upon two young ladies, also foreigners, was informed by their Chinese servant "that two piecey girls no can see. Number one piecey top side makee washee, washee. Number two piecey go outside, makee walkee, walkee."

When King Kalakana of the Hawaiian Islands visited Shanghai, he occupied a suit of rooms up one flight of stairs at the Astor House. Two American gentlemen called to pay their respects one morning, and, meeting the proprietor, inquired if the king was in. "I will see," replied the landlord, and, shouting to a Chinese servant, asked: "Boy! That piecey hing top side, had got?" "Hab got," laconically answered the servant. "Gentlemen, his majesty is in. Pray walk up," said the landlord.

IS IT RIGHT For an Editor to Recommend Patent Medicines.

From Sylvan Valley News, Brevel, N. C. It may be a question whether the editor of a newspaper has the right to publicly recommend one of the various proprietary medicines which flood the market, yet as a preventive of suffering we feel it a duty to say a word for Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy.
