Oregon City Enterprise he was telling all kinds of fish stories and they were of such magnitude that he got the grand laugh and a committee was appointed to procure bim a leather medal. On Tuesday though Mr. Wilson astounded the gang by displaying the troph ys of his skill-or what he claimed as such-in one of the store windows. The eatch comprised several varieties of fish and the quantity and size caused many an angler's month to water.

STALLED IN THE WHONG PLACE.-LAST Sunday evening two horses belonging to a wood hauler strayed onto the S. P. track and got caught in the trestle near Canemah. They were discovered a short time before the overland train was due and a force of men put to work to get them out. The job proved a bard one and was not effected until a derrick had been improvised and they were hoisted out by a block and tackle. The animals were not injured, although had they not been discovered as they were the result would have been most serious to them as well as to a train load of passengers.

HATCHERY FIXTSHED -Seth Austin, who for the past several months has been engaged in superintending the construction of the new hatchery building on the upper Clacksmas, has finished his work and returned to the city Tuesday. The building is a substantial one 40x80 in size and is equipped with all the latest facilities for the successful proseention of the work it is intended for. In addition to the building there has been built a waterflume over one mile in length to conduct fresh water to the building. The catch this season has been 2,000,000 eggs and the run is now over. The state intends putting in a bridge across Oak Grove, two miles the tne hatchery, and Mr. Austin has been asked to superintend that work.

A FURIOUS RIDE. -One day last week as Chas. Rider started down the Seventh street hill near the Eastham school with a two-cord load of wood, the brake of his wagon broke. He had four horses attached to the wagon and when the brake broke saw his only safety lay in letting 'er go Gaflegher, which he did. He lashed his horses into a run and the pace was a terrific one, but Rider kept his head and guided them down to the level in splendid shape. At the bottom of the hill the center of the road was occupled by a horse and huggy driven by a woman and the spectators shouted to ids on Toesday filed with Recorder her to get out to one side, but she made rry his acceptance of the railway no effort to clear the way and it seemed as though a disastrous collision was inevitable. Rider was equal to the emergency though, and by rare good with the officials of the land office. driving piloted his flying load to one side and around the buggy. It was a hair-raising ride and took nerve to stay with the load.

He is entitled to the place of chairman and leader for several reasons. One is that he stood next to Mr. Dingley on the committee; another and still more important one is that he has the confidence of Speaker Reed. Congressman

Payne has been a member of congress continuously, excepting two years, since the Forty-eighth congress and has long been considered one of the Republican leaders. He is now in his fifty-sixth year. He is a native of New York state. a graduate of Rochester university and an able lawyer. As an orator he has not achieved emigence, but it is believed by his friends that he will be an effective party leader. He has frequently been the temporary presiding officer during the deliberations of the house, and his long service on the ways and means committee has rendered him familiar with much of the work which
