A 12-year-old boy named Jackson, a ward of Dan Howe, of Sellwood, was run over by the electric car Olive at Sellwood yesterday afternoon at about 4:20.

The boy was riding a bicycle and attempted to cross in front of the car when he was thrown and fell directly in front of the guard. He was drawn under, and before the car could be stopped the wheels passed diagonally across his chest.

He lived but a short time after the accident. This is the first death on the road by being run over by the cars.

Capt. L. E. Pratt, a pioneer resident of the Willamette valley, died at the Salem hospital Sunday morning, after a lingering illness covering a period of one year; aged 75 years. Death was caused by creeping paralysis, although other complications hastened the end.

Pratt located in Salem in 1837, and has resided there almost continuously. He built the first woolen mill on the Pacific coast and also planned and built one of the Oregon City mills. He leaves three children, two daughters and a son, Mrs. Mary E. Haas and Mrs. Ida M. Babcock of Salem, and Wm. E. Pratt, of this city.

ALL GO TO THE PENITENTIARY. The criminal docket at this term of court has not been a large one, only three cases being on it, but in every case a verdict was found and the offenders all get penitentiary terms.

First on the list came Harry Clark, whose crime consisted in stealing a check for $125.00 from Hugh Miller during a drunken carousal. The jury lost no time in finding him guilty and on Saturday Judge McBride sentenced him to a six year term in the penitentiary.

James Floyd was under indictment for stealing a ram lamb, valued at $2.00, from Morley Meek at Cenby. His case was tried last week, and the jury were unable to agree upon a verdict. The case was set for retrial on Monday and this time the jury only about fifteen minutes to find a verdict of guilty. He was taken before Judge McBride Thursday morning and received a sentence of six months in the penitentiary.

John Johnson was the third and last called to answer for his crimes. He was charged with committing an assault with intent to commit rape upon Phis Farnsworth, a 12 year old girl, at Milwaukie. His case was tried Friday and the jury wrestled all night and a part of the next day only to disagree. On Tuesday the case called again and this time the state introduced several surprises in the way of new evidence with the result that the jury required but a very few minutes to find him guilty. His sentence was passed Thursday, and under it he is to pass the next ten years in the state penitentiary. In pronouncing the sentence Judge McBride took occasion to state that the evidence was very strong against the prisoner and in view of the serious nature of the offense he went as far as the law would allow.

Chamberlain's Pain Balm Cures Others, Why Not you? My wife has been using Chamberlain's Pain Balm, with good results, for a lame shoulder that has pained her continually for nine years. We have tried all kinds of medicines and doctors without receiving any benefit from any of them. One day we saw an advertisement of this medicine and thought of trying it, which we did with the best satisfaction. She has used only one bottle and her shoulder is almost well. ADOLPH L. HIS INJURIES PROVE FATAL.

John Ivan Strickler Gets Caught in the Gearing at the Flour Mills.

Shortly after 1 o'clock Monday afternoon the citizens of Oregon City were horrified as the word was passed from mouth to mouth that John Ivan Strickler had been horribly mangled by being caught and torn in the gearing at the brick mill of the Portland Flouring Mills Co. Strickler was an oiler and was at work among the machinery on the upper floor alone, and so far as can be learned dropped his oil can and in reaching for it was caught by the right arm in a large cog wheel and in attempting to wrench himself away must have been caught by his leg in another set of clogs, of which there were four close together. His cries attracted help and when the machinery had been stopped it was found that his right arm had been torn from his body, his left arm broken, nearly all the muscles of the calf of his left leg torn off, his back badly bruised and internally injured. He was removed to the home of his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Pillsbury, where he was attended by Drs. Powell, Seamann and Norris, but despite their every effort his sufferings were ended by death at 10 o'clock Tuesday morning.

The funeral was Wednesday afternoon and was largely attended as the young man bore an excellent character and was beloved by all who knew him. The floral offerings bore evidence of the general esteem in which he was held, about forty pieces being sent in. The employees of the flour mills attended in a body and the West Side school was closed, deceased being a former pupil. The funeral sermon was preached by Rev. Bollinger.

Deceased was the oldest son of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Strickler and was 19 years, 11 months and 23 days old. He had been employed at the mill only about three weeks.
