

Chant of the Cyclone.

Ever see a cyclone, say? Bite the world and munch away? Eat up houses, fences, trees, just as easy as you please? Get a hustle on its jaws? Swipe the earth with fendish claws? Hump its back and take a run through the orchard just for fun? From a hill to hollow fit, seeming to get strength from it? Never seen one? Well, I jing! It's a pesky sort of thing. Ever see a cyclone, say? Take its track and speed away? Switch its tail and snort and bound, just like lightning o'er the ground? Get a swift move with its feet, racing for the winning heat? Then cartwring up and down, heeding no laws of the town? Pushing everything aside? Out upon a garty ride? As though owning all the track, ever onward, never back? Never seen one? Well, I swow! It's a buster, anyhow!—Kingsley (A.) Times.

Yachting on Salt.

Save during the rainy season Lake Lefroy, in western Australia, is quite dry. But as the water evaporates as the hot weather approaches a smooth, glassy floor of crystalline salt is deposited. Those living on the shores have found a means of utilizing this. All boats which sail on the lake when possible are, during the rainy season, fitted with four wheels, and thus are enabled to continue their travels. As Lake Lefroy has an area of 100 miles, and the surrounding country is extremely rough, this means a great saving in expense, labor and time. The speed attained by these wheeled yachts is very considerable, though not quite equal to the pace of the ice yachts so popular in Canada.—Cincinnati Enquirer.

A Senatorial Slender.

Two ladies visiting in Washington during one of the sessions of congress went to the capitol to hear the proceedings in the United States senate. Most of the galleries being filled, they approached the doorkeeper of the senators' gallery, where admission is by card. As they did not possess this passport, the doorkeeper suggested that they procure one from any senator they might be acquainted with.

"But we do not know any senator," they replied.

"Well, it is very much to your credit," said the doorkeeper. "Pass right in, ladies."—San Francisco Argonaut.

High Art.

"Oh, yes, he is a follower of one of the higher arts."

"Well, he doesn't look it. What does he do?"

"He's a professional flagpole painter."

IT SEEMED LIKE MAGIC.

How the High Class Expert Picked Out the Old Masters.

"Speaking of old pictures," said a New Orleans dealer, "it is very interesting to see a really high class European expert making an examination. The extent and diversity of the information of such men are something astonishing. Some years ago I spent a couple of days with a gentleman who is recognized as one of the foremost rommeuseurs of Paris. We visited several country places which contained pictures said to be of great value, and in all he inspected upward of two dozen canvases.

"In every instance he settled the questions of date, period and painter beyond all reasonable doubt. The warp and woof of the canvas, the wood composing the backing, the nature of the borings made by worms, the workmanship of the tacks, the character of the pigment and certain minute peculiarities in the mounting were all like so many pages of print to him. He was intimately acquainted with the style of hundreds of different artists, the models they used, the colors they most affected, their tricks of composition and their peculiar methods of expressing the effects of light and shade.

"To an outsider it seemed like magic. 'A copy,' he would say, for instance, after a swift glance at a painting. 'It was made by So-and-so, a pupil, who had very much the style of his master. The date is about' (here he would name it with infallible accuracy), 'and if you clean that left hand corner I dare say you will find the signature in vermilion.' In several cases he was fully borne out by documents in possession of the owner, and in all he was sustained by circumstantial evidence. He told me very modestly that he had devoted 40 years to the close study of his profession and was just beginning to apprehend dimly how little he knew."—New Orleans Times-Democrat.

Remarkable Rescue.

Mrs. Michael Curtin, Plainfield, Ill., makes the statement, that she caught cold which settled on her lungs; she was treated for a month by her family physician, but grew worse. He told her she was a hopeless victim of consumption and that no medicine could cure her. Her druggist suggested Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption; she bought a bottle and to her delight found herself benefited from first dose. She continued its use and after taking six bottles, found herself sound and well; now does her own housework, and is as well as she ever was—Free trial bottles of this Great Discovery at Geo. A. Harding's Drug Store. Large bottles 50 cents and $1.00.

Notice for Publication.

United States land office, Oregon City, Oregon, October 19, 1899.

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that in compliance with the provisions of an act of congress of June 3, 1878, entitled "An act for the sale of timber lands in the States of California, Oregon, Nevada and Washington Territory," as extended to all the public land states by act of August 4, 1882, Missouri A. T. Van Baskirk, of Malheur county of Clackamas, state of Oregon, has this day filed in this office her sworn statement No. 3104, for the purchase of 64 1/2 ac. or 1/2 sec. 32, s. 1/4, T. 1 S., R. 2 E., and 7 ac. or 1/2 sec. 30, s. 1/4, T. 1 S., R. 2 E., and offer proof to show that the land sought is more valuable for its timber or stone than for agricultural purposes, and to establish her claim to said land before the register and receiver of this office at Oregon City, Oregon, on Monday, the 5th day of January, 1900. She names as witnesses:

David C. Hatch, of Malheur, Oregon; Mitchell Davis, of Portland, Oregon; Cynthia A. Fox, of Malheur, Oregon; Jess N. Ofield, of Malheur, Oregon.

Any and all persons claiming adverse to the above-described lands are requested to file their claims in this office on or before said 5th day of January 1900.

CHAS. R. MOORES, Register.

What are Necessities?

It is a Matter of Opinion! "The learned is happy nature to explore. The fool is happy that he knows no more."

"I've got everything I need. I've just had my breakfast." "My idea of 'necessity' is to have plenty to eat and a change of clothes." "What I went to school I learned reading, ritten and rithmetic, and that's all I need." "The say that ignorant people won't stand any show at all in society in a few years from now. I wonder if that will be the case."
