

CORRESPONDENCE

(Concluded from page 2)

They do not seem to be doing much business down at Liberal, whose correspondent says: "they hauled the lumber house down to save the lumber."

An Eastern man, who has lived in the town for only a few years had the courage to make the assertion, right in front of us, that he was the first and only man in all the town of Molalla to take the Bible for his only faith and practice. Now if he had particular reference to his former conversations and words that have proceeded out of his mouth whilst sitting around the "sport" store, perhaps it would not be out of place for him to have given chapter and verse for use of the same, said man as he has probably died at his place without proclaiming their error from the "house tops." How do we know? mere talk and even knowledge used recklessly without witness.

About four years ago the reform element of the democratic party with such scoundrelism, gave forth from its most important assembly what is known as the "Chicago Platform" as was given to the popular party as a very "sweet jewel," which chose the Texas and other "middle-of-the-roaders" would not allow.

However, the populists in convention assembled, endorsed the silver-backed democratic nominees for president and properly proceeded to nominate their vice president, supposing of course, that the much and ever howling called reformers, in the name of reason and justice, would withdraw Mr. Mull's name, but instead, the fight ended with a party of fusion, divided against itself; thus the opportunity of uniting to save the Americans from grand's confounding gold standard set. Then what followed two years afterwards, in this country in particular, of similar greediness—to reform the "middle-of-the-road" until they get the light of a better landing, merely an observer and not an adviser, do not think it advisable to say any reform party more prosperity, aside, than it can endure. For the way of negotiation does not concern much about reform and prosperity aside of office holding.

Conquered the Professor.
The mighty Jowett of Oxford invited me to walk with him. After I had been on the road for about half an hour, the pupil finally spunked me up and remarked, "Nice day, master."

"Do you really think so?" was the way answer of Jowett.

Another half hour passed, and the master stammered out:

"Our road, professor."

The teacher responded, "Do you really think so?"

The master began to boil in his mind and to get even more frightened, as he managed to again blurt out,

"It seems to be filling up with rain, master," to which the answer was:

"You really think so?"

The two returned to the college road, and the professor said, "Well, man, we have been walking for several hours, and everything you said was as stupid as it possibly could be."

His companion replied, "Do you really think so?"

The professor looked at the young man a moment. Then he smiled and clasped his hands warmly. From that conversation never flagged during their walk.—Saturday Evening Post.

Puzzled the Porter.
The pet fail of a certain actress is this, and she never travels without a set of shoe trees in her satchel. One time she was touring the west. When she went to bed in the Pullman, she lay eastward from Butte, she laid all her trim walking boots and, her customs, slipped the trees into and set them under the edge of her berth. It was broad daylight when she was awakened by the respectful voice of a porter. She drew the curtains aside and looked out into the aisle. The porter was standing there, holding a shoe in his hand.

"Here they is, lady," he said.

"Well, just put them down under the sheet, please," said the man hesitating a moment.

"Can you—can you put them on by yourself?" he asked.

"What, the shoes?" asked the lady.

"No, miss," answered the porter. "I am your feet. Ain't these your big feet?"

Since then she has carried the gaudy looking boot trees in her trunk.—Saturday Evening Post.

Power of Deep Sea Waves.

In a high gale, mile long waves, 200 feet from trough to top, and 10 feet high, roar along the sea at 50 miles an hour, with a weight of 400,000 pounds every foot of their length. Upon one of the waves, with me the New York, a 100 foot long sailing ship rests upon a fore-sail bows of 100,000 tons, defraught with remarkable strength, which it has not yet

Fruitgrowers' Convention.

A fruitgrowers' convention has been called to meet at the Chamber of Commerce, Portland, March 7th and 8th, for the purpose of effecting a permanent organization for the marketing of products. Those on the invitation committee from this city are: Wm. Galloway, F. E. Griffith, and Geo. A. Harding.

The fruitgrowers recognized that only by concerted action can they demand a good market, and are going to make this the largest meeting of the kind ever held in the state.

Taxpayers' Attention.

Owing to the expense of having deputies in the field for the purpose of assessing, I have decided this year not to send out any deputies except in Oregon City and its additions, Park Place and additions, Gladstone and additions. Taxpayers owning property outside the places just mentioned and desiring any change in their assessment from that of last year, can have the matter attended to by calling at the assessor's office between March 1st, and May 15th, 1900.

Assessor of Clackamas County.

Fireman's Ball.

On last Thursday evening occurred one of the most brilliant social functions of the season. It was the occasion of the grand ball given by Columbia Hotel & Ladd Co., and was well attended by prettily gowned ladies and gallant young men.

The armory was most tastefully decorated with evergreens and firemen's paraphernalia, and together with the electric lights presented a scene of dazzling brilliancy. Everest's orchestra, of Portland, furnished the music, and when the last medley was sounded the party dispersed, hoping to live again such Eden hours.

The fire boys cleared about $60 on the receipts of the evening.

Came West.

W. J. Banning and family left Feb. 22d, for Oregon City, Oregon, to make their future home in the west. Mr. Banning has been in poor health of late and it is hoped the change will prove beneficial. The Home Press wishes them well in their new home.—LaPlata, Missouri, Home Press.

Mr. Banning and family have been visiting during the week at the home of Bismarck's Iron Nerve.

BY ORDER OF

CAPTAIN F. A. METZNER,

Commanding Company.

It is very hard to stand idly by and see our dear ones suffer while awaiting the arrival of the doctor. An Albany (N. Y.) dairyman called at a drug store there for a doctor to come and see his child, then very sick with croup. Not finding the doctor in, he left word for him to come at once on his return. He also bought a bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, which he hoped would give some relief until the doctor should arrive. In a few hours he returned, saying the doctor need not come, as the child was much better. The druggist, Mr. Otto Scholz, says the family has since recommended Chamberlain's Cough Remedy to their neighbors and friends until he has a constant demand for it from that part of the country. For sale by G. A. Harding, Druggist.

Moki Tea positively cures Sick Headache, indigestion and constipation. A delightful herb drink. Removes all eruptions of the skin, producing a perfect complexion, or money refunded. 25 cts and 50 cts.

We have saved many doctor bills since we began using Chamberlain's Cough Remedy in our home. We keep a bottle open all the time and whenever any of my family or myself begin to catch cold we begin to use the Cough Remedy, and as a result we never have to send away for a doctor and incur a large doctor bill, for Chamberlain's Cough Remedy never fails to cure. It is certainly a medicine of great merit and worth.—D. S. MEARKE, General Merchant and Farmer Mattie, Bedford county, Pa. For sale by G. A. Harding, Druggist.

The woman who is lovely in face, form and temper will always have friends, but one who would be attractive must keep her health.
