Everett Judd has been recommended for census enumerator for this precinct, and will likely receive the appointment, if there is anything in "standing in" with the powers that be, but of course there is to be no politics in these appointments. Mr. Judd has served as county assessor for this part of the county for a time or two and will be competent to schedule the statistics in good shape, and observe the difference between valuations given for assessment purposes and those tendered to show prosperity.

George Harrington, who has been spending a few weeks visiting his parents left this morning for Cape Nome to try his luck in the gold field.

Dogs have been making sad havoc with the lambs. Say, why can't we have dog license in the country. This should be looked after and pay dog license in the country as well as in the city. So many dogs running over the country is only a nuisance and quite an expense to farmers that have sheep.

Joe Schwartz and J. S. Yoder shipped fat hogs to Portland last Wednesday which netted them 5 1/2 and 6c per pound.

We notice in the Enterprise of April 6 that the good people of Molalla are also worried by the hoodlum element, that in many communities is trying to vex and annoy any who try to get up an entertainment, either secular or religious. The people of this vicinity were tormented by kindred spirits during the past winter, at the meetings of our literary society. The sons of prominent citizens leading in noisy demonstrations of applause? that would be a disgrace to a band of Commancha Indians and the parents of said sons notifying the members of the society that it they cant control the boys they must quit giving entertainments for them to gather at. The writer has taken part in and attended school exhibitions, literary societies etc, during the last half of the closing winter, but never in all the time that he took an active part in such meetings did he see rowdiness displayed as it was at our school house during the past winter. We are not a pessimist, not a deceiver of Bellamy, but it does seem as though there was something wrong with our boasted nineteenth century civilization.

L. L. Moore was doing business in Marion county Saturday.

Rude Henneman, of Mason, Ehrman & Co. spent Sunday at home. Rude says "no cooking like mothers."

There is much commenting in republican circles about Milwaukie over the county printing, the majority sentiment is to give the party paper who helps elect the ticket the printing, all things being equal. This is a matter the county commissioners must settle on before June election or there will be a sliced ticket.

Mr. Bonnett is still very low.

CIRCUIT COURT.

Regular Spring Term of Circuit Court—Few Probate Orders.

Judge McBride's court convened Monday morning, and the following decisions were handed down:

Eighty-four law cases are enrolled and 129 equity suits. Among the latter are 69 divorce cases. About 20 of these cases came from Multnomah county.

On the criminal docket there are two charges of illegal fishing, with confiscation proceedings, against Louie Himlar, of Parkplace, continued; also the case on appeal of the State vs. A. W. Hertzka, the Christian Scientist, of Portland.

In the case of the suit of S. Klinger, of Portland, against George Saum, a sawmill owner near Stafford, which was an action brought in an endeavor to compel the defendant to remove a dam which he had built and maintained on a water way in order to secure power with which to operate his plant, Judge McBride, after hearing the evidence, rendered a decision in favor of the defendant.

In the suit of Henry Thiessen against T. R. Worthington, which was an action regarding a narrow piece of land between the boundaries of two tracts in Milwaukie precinct, over which these parties have been wrangling for some time, a decree was rendered in favor of the plaintiff. Thiessen had come out a victor in a former suit over the same property, but a new trial was allowed the defendant on a technicality, and the second decision was rendered in favor of Worthington, so the case was brought in equity to decide finally.

Motion for a new trial was denied in the damage suit of Henry Nute, of Portland, against Nobletta, because of injuries received in an accident on the Willhoit stage about two years ago.

The suits of Akin, Selling & Co., vs. E. M. Hartman; the City of Portland vs. G. W. Ganong, and the Portland General Electric company vs. H. J. Shipley, were ordered stricken from the docket. The divorce suits of Walter vs. Elizabeth Noblitt and Fillipina vs. Frank Swietzer were dismissed, and default was entered in the case of Ida B. vs. Elmer C. Thomas.

Oregon City against the Oregon & California Railroad Company was heard on a demurrer to the amended complaint of plaintiff, but was overruled by the court. The action was brought in order to settle the title to a right of way and a bluff abutting on some property dedicated to the city by Dr. John McLaughlin, which the railroad people claim title to from heirs of Dr. McLaughlin. After hearing the case, the defendant was allowed 10 days in which to file an answer.

Default was entered in the case of Alfred G. Day against Sadie M. Day. The divorce was granted because of the non-appearance of defendant to answer summons. Adeline Carberry was allowed a divorce from Patrick Carberry on ground of desertion, and the court allowed plaintiff the custody of three minor children.

C. H. Dye has ordered placed in possession of certain lands in Clackamas county, being a portion of the Daniel Riggs Donation Land Claim, which Dye purchased at a recent sheriff's sale.

In the case of Mary Maddler against W. D. Piekens and K. E. Piekens, his wife, the court has ordered that they be served with proper summons.

Joseph Bickner was allowed judgment against T. J. Brown and wife in the sum of $57.40, and costs and disbursements of the suit, which amounted to $22. An attachment was allowed on lots 15 and 16, block 14, in the Oregon Iron & Steel Company's Addition to Oswego, this property to be sold in order to satisfy the judgment.

Judgment for the plaintiff in the sum of $65.40 was returned in the case of the Piano Manufacturing Company, against J. T. Slaughter.

Myrtle Gallagher was allowed a divorce from N. J. Gallagher, the defendant to pay costs of suit.

Marie J. Graham was granted a divorce from George K. Graham, because of abandonment, and allowed the custody of Raymond, a minor child, and she recover from defendant the cost of suit.

An injunction was granted in the case of John and Mary E. Sehrum against the German Saving & Loan Society and Sheriff J. J. Cooke.

In the matter of Noblett Bros vs W. E. Carl it was ordered that the motion be dissolved and defendant have until April 20 to further plead.

E. F. Riley was allowed judgment against H. H. Johnson and Max Schulz in the sum of $413.70 due on a promissory note, delivier to plaintiff April 23, 1898; also costs and disbursements of this action.

E. F. Riley was allowed to recover from James and Ada Dunsmire the $227.80, with interest thereon from April 17, 1900, the sum of $25 attorney's fees, also costs of the suit. An order of sale was issued to dispose of certain land to satisfy the claim.

PROBATE ORDERS.

In the matter of the estate of Seba Norton, deceased, it was ordered that all property, consisting of grain, live stock and implements belonging to said estate be given to Mary E. Norton-widow of the deceased.

Letters of administration of the estate of Randolph Stucklin, deceased, were granted Alkazin Stucklin to be issued to Livy Stipp, with bonds fixed at $3,500.

On the petition of Hiram Straight, executor of the estate of Hiram A. Straight, deceased, to settle a claim against H. M. Cake. Judge Ryan granted an order allowing the petition. Cake is the trustee and the claim amounts to $11,000, with accumulated interest to the amount of $19,000. A foreclosure is now pending before the Circuit court against Cake, which involves 140 acres of land north of the city, over which there has been much litigation, which will cease now that the above order has been granted, enabling the executor to settle up the estate.

The Real Secret of Tidiness.

The real secret of tidiness is to leave things where they can be found by the persons who require them, and not to hide them away in closets and presses and drawers; not to go into a man's study and to put all his papers indiscriminately into packages, or a receipted bill into an envelope which he is sure to destroy.

In a woman's eye every business paper is an unsightly object, which she considers it her duty to dispose of, and though she may hear the man who owns it cursing about the house, she never has the grace of the jack-daw of Rheims to come forward and say what she has done with it. Indeed, she will deny with indignant innocence and tears that she ever touched his papers, and when, if happily it is discovered, he looks reproachful or smiles, she simply says, "Oh! is that what you are looking for? my dear, you should not leave such things about." Just as if he had no right to the use of a table or the corner of a chimney piece in his own house.—From "Domestic Blunders of Women," by a Mere Man. Funk & Wagnalls Co., New York.
