Speaking of the wheat crop, Mr. Harless remarks, that the fall wheat is in bad condition, being eaten badly by birds, and together with cold rains, which has packed the ground so hard it cannot grow, makes the prospects altogether unpromising. Spring grain will yield a larger crop than it has for many years.

POLITICAL POINTS.

Called From City and County Current Conversations. John Lewellen, one of Clackamas county's next commissioners, was in the city yesterday after a ten day's campaign of the county. Mr. Lewellen believes the entire republican ticket will be elected and cites many instances where the fusionists are losing ground. The middle-of-the-road elements of Highland, Milwaukie and Springwater precincts are going to vote the republican ticket solid in June. They rightfully claim this is their only means of defending their principles against fusion. It has stirred up a hornet's nest in the fusion ranks and they are becoming totally discouraged. The republican campaigners have put the fusionists to utter flight, and they are now trekking from koppe to koppe all over the county. They have been bombarded with such an everlasting big dose of republican truth, that they are discouraged and demoralized and will sue for peace on the 4th of June.

It is a conceded fact that the democratic leaders of the fusion party are not trying to elect the entire county ticket. They are simply making a last dying struggle for the offices of sheriff and clerk and letting the rest of the ticket go to pieces. No use lying to defeat these fusionists. The truth need only be told. The Courier-Herald says that prosperity as yet is only a dream. If it wants to be honest, why doesn't it admit that it is a nightmare to that sheet? In their individual scramble a climb into office, regardless of the destiny of the balance of the ticket, the fusionists remind a person of several small boys fighting over who shall get the core of an apple—only in this case there "ain't goin to be no core."
