Mr. Harding's son, Lee, of the U. of O., was a contestant in the field sports. Louis P. Carter compiler of the "statistician" a publication of San Francisco, containing brief data concerning world history, is in the city in the interest of his last edition. He states he has been making annual trips through Oregon for a number of years, but present date exceeds the past years from a business standpoint throughout the entire state. Ed Hughes, a prosperous farmer of Ulin county, returning from Eastern Oregon, spent Monday in this city with friends. He reports the crops in that section of the state in better condition than they have been for years, and that thousands of acres of grain will yield from 40 to 55 bushels per acre. He also states that there is a great demand for farm land in that locality and many people are locating there with a view of purchasing agricultural property.

Local Events.

Children's Day will be observed next Sunday morning at the Presbyterian church. Tuesday evening, June 12, the Presbyterian Sunday school will hold their annual entertainment. Mrs. B. Edward, mental and magnetic healer, has opened rooms on the second floor of the Jagger building, over Young's second-hand store.

Plans and specifications have been submitted, and sealed bids will be received for the construction of a one-room frame school building at Bolton district. Mrs. Joanna Bid was committed to the asylum yesterday from Monitor Mill. In the absence of County Judge Ryan, she was examined as to her sanity by Justice Schobel. The Chemawa Indian team, the Multnomahs of Portland, the Willamettes of Salem, and the Oregon City club will enter the base ball tournament during Chautauqua at Gladstone. Married, on the evening of the 26th of May, at the Congregational parsonage this city, Charles D. Smith and Viola Graham, Rev. E. S. Bollinger, officiating. Both parties are residents of Oregon City. County Assessor Eli Williams states that the valuation on taxable property throughout Clackamas county will experience considerable of a cut. He claims the county is compelled to pay too much state taxes with the present valuation. The census enumerators are busy taking notes, and are averaging about 130 a day. They receive 3 cents a head for those living and 5 cents for enumerating the dead. At this rate in the city they average about $4 per day. One of the most successful terms of school ever taught in this county closed last Friday in district No. 21, near Linn's mill, with Miss Marie Cornett as teacher. General satisfaction prevails among the patrons of the school. Children's Day will be observed at the Baptist church next Sunday, at the hour for regular morning services. There will be no meeting in the evening, the pastor, Rev. J. H. Beaven, having accepted a call to deliver the Baccalaureate sermon at McMinnville college. Stone school district, No. 30, will participate in a lawn social Saturday, June 9th, to be given at the home of G. J. Mompower. In the matter of the estate of John Ludwig Feldhammer, deceased, the final report of the executor has been heard and passed upon. The claims have all been paid, and all of the estate remaining was left to the widow of the deceased. The real estate has not been sold, but is now in possession of the widow. County Judge Ryan discharged the executor, James M. Tracy. Charles Farrell, of Albany, aged about 23, a stone cutter, fell from the second section of the Sunday excursion train from Astoria to Salem, and was instantly killed. The accident occurred about one mile north of Turner. The coaches were more than doubly overtaxed, the platforms, and even the baggage cars representing a surging mass of humanity. There should be some means of prohibiting the oversale of tickets on common carriers, as the lives of hundreds of people are thereby endangered. City Council Meets. The City Council held its regular meeting Wednesday evening. An ordinance appropriating the sum of $750 for the Clackamas hatchery county road was passed. An ordinance, carrying an appropriation of $300 for the improvement of the Abernethy road was read for the first time. A petition from a number of business men, asking that an ordinance be passed to require certain lines of business to be closed on Sunday, was also presented. The lines of business which were asked to close were, in particular, general merchandise and grocery stores. The petition was referred to a special committee, with instructions to draft an ordinance. E. T. Rogers chief of the Volunteer Fire Department, presented his resignation, which was accepted. An ordinance requiring bicyclists to use their bells at every street crossing, and to use a lamp after dark was read. An ordinance authorizing the County Cycle Path commissioners to construct a path on Seventh street was read for the first time. T. L. Charman was re-elected water commissioner for a term of three years.

COMMISSION HOUSE. Clackamas County Produce Begging for a Market in this City. Commissioner-elect John Lawellen, of Springwater, addressed the following communication to H. E. Cross: SPRINGWATER, May 27, 1900. H. E. Cross, President Board of Trade, Oregon City, Or: DEAR SIR—I understand there is a movement on foot in Oregon City to establish a commission house in your town. This is an enterprise that I think is the most important step that your city has yet undertaken. Roads are one very important thing, but good roads with no market would amount to simply nothing as far as Oregon City is concerned. The trouble has always been that your markets are too limited. What the farmers in this vicinity want is some one to handle all the grain and produce they raise, even at a lower figure than the Portland prices. I am satisfied that a house of this kind would get the entire trade of this community. From Springwater to Portland it is a hard day's drive. It takes two days to make a trip—about two trips a week is all that most people can make, while to Oregon City, I can, when the roads get the improvements now under consideration, make a trip in a day, or can make four or five loads a week, or more if necessary. Now look at the expenses of hotel and stable bills in Portland, besides the time, and you will see that Oregon City has the decided advantage. Summing up the whole situation it is simply this: If Oregon City will do business with us, we, the people of Springwater, Viola and Logan will do all our business with you. I have now on hand 1500 bushels of grain which I will haul to Oregon City if I can get a living show, if not, I will go to Portland. The people of this community want to come to your town, the question is, will you let them. Farmers want some money for their products. They need it in their business the same as other people. Heretofore it has been nearly impossible to get anything but trade in Oregon City and that at a figure, which in many cases is higher than at the country stores. Now it remains in my opinion for your people to write your own destiny. You have done well on the road question and showed a spirit of generosity that is worthy the citizens of your town, which I think will find a hearty response from this community. I only hope and wish for you the best of success in your good work. Most respectfully, JOHN LAWELLEN. How's This! HENDRICKSON FOUND. His Decomposed Body Discovered in the Willamette River. Wednesday afternoon about 2 o'clock, A. Magone discovered a body floating in the Willamette river, opposite Magone's park, which, upon investigation, proved to be the remains of Hendrickson, who so mysteriously wandered away from his home near Brown's school house about three months ago. Sheriff Cooke was notified, and surmising that it might be Hendrickson, procured his discription from the former's wife and immediately repaired to the place of discovery. The body was in a bad state of decomposition but his clothing tallied with the sheriff's notes. He wore a gold band ring upon his finger which was kept from dropping off by a heavy pair of gloves worn. His arms were in a position above his head such as would be taken by a person making a plunge. It was clearly a case of deliberate suicide, there being no marks of violence upon his person. Later he was identified by his wife. A reward of $100 had been offered for information leading to his whereabouts but it had been withdrawn before his discovery. A Life and Death Fight. Mr. W. A. Hines, Manchester, Ia., writing of his almost miraculous escape from death says: "Exposure after measles induced serious lung trouble, which ended in consumption. I had frequent hemorrhages and coughed night and day. All my doctors said I must soon die. Then I began to use Dr. King's New Discovery for consumption, which completely cured me. I would not be without it even if it cost $5.00 a bottle. Hundreds have used it on my recommendation and all say it never fails to cure Throat, Chest and Lung trouble." Regular size 50c and $1.00. Trial bottles free at Geo. A. Harding's Drug Store. Novelties in Skirts and Neckwear just received at Adams Bros' Golden Rule Bazaar.
