Saturday morning the wood scow Eugene arrived from down the Columbia, and began discharging a cargo of cottonwood at the Crown Paper Mills. The crew of the Eugene consisted of 10 Japanese. They worked at unloading the wood until noon, all the while being annoyed and tantalized by the white men in the vicinity. The Japanese were thoroughly frightened by the demonstrations made, and in the afternoon refused to go to work. They returned to Portland on the steamer Altona, not desiring to stay under any consideration. While the Japs were at work, no attempt was made to do them bodily injury. Had they continued, however, the demonstrations might have become more violent. Another crew will have to be secured by the managers of the Eugene, which belongs to Captain F. B. Jones, of Portland, before the remainder of the wood is unloaded. The scow had on about 180 cords of four-foot cottonwood, which had been brought from Lewis river.

New Political Party.

Social Democrats of the state have decided to become a factor in the next presidential campaign, and accordingly have issued a call for a state convention to be held in Portland, July 12. An organization of this brand of Democracy was completed at Maple Lane Wednesday evening with 18 members. They will aid in placing four presidential electors in the field.

A suspicion has become prevalent that Oregon's Social Democracy may join hands with the Democrats, Populists and Silver Republicans in the support of Bryan. If such proves to be the case, then there will be no occasion to nominate separate electors July 12. The fusion electors have already been nominated and if the Socialists work for Bryan's success they would be impairing his chances by putting four more electors in the field.

Whether or not the Socialists co-operate with the fusionists, hinges entirely upon what the Bryan platform contains. If Socialistic doctrines are given sufficient recognition in the platform, it would satisfy the Social Democrats and they will fly the track from Debs and vote for Bryan. Should Bryan overlook Socialism, however, the Debsites will support their own candidate and heartily knife the silver champion.
