The order of Pendo has paid in sick and accident benefits during the last six months to members of the order in Oregon City $190. No other order in the city pays the same benefits to members during life and at the same time provides old age and death benefits for members and their families.

Monday, July 2, the new board of commissioners assumes the control of the county's affairs for the next four years, with the exception of J. R. Morton, holdover, whose term expires in 1902. The board now consists of J. R. Morton, Damascus, chairman; John Lewellen, Springwater; and Thomas Killen, Elliott's Prairie.

F. R. Wilcox, of Portland, was in the city Monday investigating the situation in regard to opening a commission house. He was after facts and figures and conversed with the leading men of the county. He is well pleased with the outlook for success in this capacity, and expressed his willingness to embark into the commission business if investigation warranted the handling of $5,000 worth of produce each month.

The next meeting of the Board of Trade will be held Monday, July 2, at which meeting the proposition of advertising the resources of Clackamas county through the medium of a descriptive pamphlet will be thoroughly discussed. The advertising committee have been studying the situation as to the best and most efficient means of placing this county before the people of the Eastern states and have decided that a large, illustrated pamphlet is best adapted for the purpose sought.

The members of the Congregational church and Sunday school classes chose Wednesday as a day for picnicking and accordingly boarded the cars for Gladstone Park, where the day was spent in rollicking jolly out-of-door sports. A bountiful lunch was spread and the hungry ramblers ate most eagerly. Base ball, races, drop-the-handkerchief and kodaking were the chief amusements, and all returned in the evening well pleased with the day's outing.

Miscreants without the fear of man or the law entered the Last Chance and Hop Gold Saloons last Friday night and carried away a small amount of chink, cigars and whisky. They effected an entrance from the back of the Hop Gold saloon where they were awarded with a few dollars in money and three boxes of cigars. At the Last Chance they got none of the filthy lucre but fastened onto a few boxes of cigars and a bottle or two of whisky.

The enumerators have completed their work in this city but the result of their labors will not officially be made public until the latter part of July. In 1890 the census showed within the corporate limits of Oregon City a population of 3,169. The inhabitants within the same limits this year will not exceed that of 1890 more than 300. Since that year, however, Bolton, Clackamas Heights, Parkplace, Gladstone, West Side, Willamette Falls have sprung into existence, which would, approximately, give an additional aggregate population of at least 1,400. Canemah has about 250. This would give Oregon City, by taking in all surrounding suburbs, an estimated population of about 5,000.

Ed Bailey, of Clackamas, was quite severely hurt in a runaway at his home Tuesday. His team became frightened and ran down a hill. The wagon collided with a stump and the young man was thrown out, striking on his head. A deep gash nearly two inches long was cut in his lip and his face was otherwise bruised. He was brought to town Wednesday to have his wounds dressed. A 2-year-old baby, the boy's brother, narrowly escaped fatal injury by the accident. It was thrown out of the wagon by Edward after it was seen that the horses were unmanageable, and one of the wheels came near passing over the child's head.

School closed at Stone last Wednesday with a very fitting program. Superintendent-Elect, J. C. Zinser, was in attendance with a very instructive talk about our flag. He referred to the Stars and Stripes as the "Banner of the Free" and the first flag to receive a salute from foreign nations. Since Henry Mosher assumed charge of the school, three months ago, the pupils, through his efforts, have purchased a flag which was unfurled when school closed last Wednesday. General good will and harmony prevailed throughout the entire term, and the many lessons taught the children by Prof. Mosher will go with them their entire lifetime.

A. J. Sawtell, of Molalla, the teasel king of the Pacific west, was in the city last Friday for the purpose of advertising his retirement from teasel raising and the disposition of his farm implements and teasel equipments at auction sale. He was the first man to introduce the industry in Oregon, and has made considerable money in the business. The introduction of modern machinery has greatly abridged the demand for the teasel for general use. Mr. Sawtell has been engaged in the business for over 40 years. His farm has recently been rented to P. C. Miller.

Lost.
