The Board of County commissioners are working to bring about joint action between Clackamas county and the Bull Run water company with respect to the cost of constructing and sustaining an abutment to the bridge across the Sandy. It appears that the bridge supporting the Bull Run water mains running through Multnomah county crosses the Sandy a very short distance up stream from the Clackamas county bridge, so that the abutments protecting the water main bridge, if properly constructed, will also safely protect the Clackamas county bridge across the Sandy. The Clackamas county commissioners accordingly offer to pay one-fourth of the cost of sustaining the abutment and the Bull Run water company sustain the expense of the remaining three-fourths, which is a large saving of funds and the apportionment satisfactory to both county and company.

Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful.
